TEXT OF CABLE FROM GENERAL WESTMORELAND

This is report number fifty-four on the situation in the Khe Sanh/DMZ/A Shau Valley area for the 24-hour period of March 28, 1968.

Weather conditions at Khe Sanh remained good throughout the reporting period. Skies were generally clear with occasional scattered low, middle and high clouds. The forecast for the next 24-hour period is for continued good weather with scattered cloudiness. Isolated thundershowers are predicted in the vicinity of Khe Sanh this afternoon. Visibility is expected to be restricted by haze to seven miles.

Aerial resupply increased over the level of the past few days as a total of 217 short tons were delivered. Fifteen airdrops were conducted. Thirty-seven helicopters delivered passengers and cargo. There were 73 replacement personnel delivered.

Khe Sanh received 100 artillery, 50 rocket, and 35 mortar rounds, a total of 185 rounds incoming. These attacks killed two Marines and wounded 13 (five evacuated). Friendly actions at Khe Sanh killed 16 enemy, thirteen by tactical air strikes.

Along the DMZ, an additional 132 enemy incoming rounds were received. Most fell in the vicinity of C-2 base north of Cam Lo where two Marines were killed and 12 wounded.

The 1st Air Cavalry Division continued to patrol with one troop of 1st Squadron, 9th Cavalry in the vicinity of Ca Lu as preparations for forthcoming operations vicinity of Khe Sanh progress on schedule. The 101st Airborne Division carried out deception activities in the vicinity of Dong Ha.

Our artillery fired 99 missions in support of Khe Sanh, expending 2,008 rounds. Twenty-two of the missions were observed. No COFRAM ammunition was fired.

A total of 306 tactical air sorties were flown in the Niagara area. Of these, 198 were flown in the immediate vicinity of Khe Sanh. Damage observed included seven secondary explosions, eight secondary fires and the destruction of 365 meters of trenches, 31 bunkers and one truck. A total of 263 tactical air sorties are planned for the next reporting period.

Five ARC LIGHT strikes, of 30 sorties, were scheduled. Three sorties were diverted to secondary targets. One of the strikes reported observing seven secondary explosions. Six missions are planned for March 29.

One reconnaissance team was inserted into the A Shau Valley early this morning without drawing fire. Damage assessment from tactical air strikes yesterday in A Shau was four machine gun bunkers destroyed, two secondary explosions. There were no unusual returns on radar missions but 12 emissions at 10 locations were detected on a mission flown along Route 547.
