Dear Mr. Detra

I enjoyed your letter. Enclosed is the lineage and honors for 18th Aviation Brigade. The Brigade is composed of a general support aviation battalion, 1-159th Aviation Regiment (UH-60), two medium lift companies, B/159th Aviation Regiment, Hunter Army Airfield (CH-47), and C/159th Aviation Regiment, Fort Bragg (CH-47), an air traffic services battalion, 1-58th ATS Battalion (ATC), and a fixed wing company C/2-228th Aviation Regiment (C-12 and UC-35). In addition, the brigade maintains war trace control over the 229th Attack Helicopter Regiment (AH-64). Overall, the Brigade has 76 aircraft and over 1000 soldiers that provide the XVIII Airborne Corps with the most robust aviation force in the Army.

Our brigade possesses several reserve component units. The reserve component piece includes the 449th Aviation Regiment, three general support aviation battalions (1-126 UH-1), (1-131 UH-60), (1-171 UH-60), a medium lift battalion (1-169 CH-47), two general support aviation companies (E/151, F/130 UH-60), and one target acquisition company (H/185 OH-58D), making this a total Army Aviation Brigade and the largest in the Army.

I hope this information is helpful. I appreciate any information you have regarding the unit history. If you need any further assistance please write or telephone CPT Mackey at (910) 396-8790.

WINGS OF THE DRAGON!

Sincerely,
