BIEN HOA (145th Avn Bn IO)—Power failures are not uncommon occurrences at Bien Hoa Air- base, so no one suspected mon- key business was afoot when the power failed recently in the maintenance area of the 118th Assault Helicopter Company.

The generators have been known to go out of their own ac- cord at most inconvenient times in the past so only passing interest was caused by the power blackout.

An inspection of the generator area by ISG John R. Huffman, 537nd Transportation Detachment "topkick," revealed that monkey business had indeed been under- foot—or more correctly, over- head.

ISG Huffman discovered that a small spider monkey had climb- ed atop the area generator and was happily swinging on the wires when he inadvertently shorted out the system by grab- bing two of the wires simultane- ously.

The jolt was not enough to kill the animal but just enough to keep him from letting loose of his tingling handholds. With a little help from the men of the 118th, the monkey was released from his perch and the power restored.

269th LIFTS ENTIRE BDE OF 25th DIV

CU CHI (269th Bn I.O.)—A classic example of an air Mobile operation at brigade level and one of the largest such opera- tions to date was launched re- cently by the 269th Combat Avi- ation Battalion in conjunction with the 25th Infantry Division.

All three battalions of the 2d Brigade, 25th Infantry Division were airlifted into a heavily wooded area five miles west of Go Da Ha near the Cambodian border to begin a massive search and seal operation. The entire force was moved in less than one and one-half hours.

The highly synchronized operation included the many pickup zones (PZ's) being operated ex- pertly by the 269th "Black Barons" Pathfinder Detachment "Cavaliers" who readied both troops and cargo for their air- mobile delivery.

Due to the close proximity to the Cambodian border, the area was extensively "prepped" by heavy artillery strikes which preceded the numerous gun- ships' "prep" of the landing zones (LZ's) prior to the landing of the slicks.

Close, timely coordination be- tween the ground commander and the air mission commander was essential to the success of the operation due to the enormous size of the air mobile force and the weather conditions which prevailed throughout the entire operation. Despite a ceiling of less than 1,000 feet, the multi- lift missions continued on schedule.

The 1/5 Mechanized Infantry, the 1/27 Infantry, and the 2/27 Infantry Battalions of the 2nd Brigade, 25th Infantry Division were airlifted from three field locations near Trang Bang and Go Da Ha into six separate land- ing zones.

The operation, which called for precise, well planned and ex- ecuted flights by the five as- sault helicopter companies in- volved, was conducted in five two-company flights and one one- company flight. On one occa- sion as many as 40 slick troop- carrying helicopters made sim- ultaneous landing in two dif- ferent LZ's.

The air armada included the 116th "Homets", the 187th "Black Hawks", the 188th "Black Widows"; all from the 269th Combat Aviation Battalion "Black Barons."

The 173rd Assault Helicopter Company "Robin Hoods" and the 162d AHC "Vultures" from the 11th Combat Aviation Bat- talion also participated in the action under the operational

Specialist Gets High For A Cool Re-enlistment

PHU LOI (11th Avn Bn IO)—SP6 Daivd E. Kealey, of Torrance, Calif., "got high" for his recent re-enlistment.

SP6 Kealey was sworn in by Maj George W. Adamson (Colum- bus, Ga.), commanding officer of the 213th Assault Support Helicopter Company "Black Cats" at an altitude of 11,240 feet.

First Sergeants William H. Timmerman, of the 213th, and Morris W. Squier, of the 329th T.C. Detachment witnessed the ceremony.

At 11,240 feet, the temperature dropped to 43 degrees.

"This is the first time I've really been cool since my ar- rival in Vietnam," said Kealy.

LZ, one enemy round came through the chin bubble of his aircraft and lodged in his leg.

"I knew I was hit," he said, "but I didn't know how badly."

He continued his mission and was evacuated for medical treatment only after he had flown another load of troops in the LZ where he was hit.

General Seneff during military careers. The first was in 1955 when he replaced Col Seneff as Chief of the Air Mobility Division, Office of the Chief of Research and Development, Washington, D.C. The second time was in 1966, when he replaced Brigadier General Seneff as Director of Army Aviation upon General Seneff's assignment to Vietnam.

A 1940 graduate of West Point, General Williams has been in Army Aviation since its inception. He was the first Army aviator to receive the Master Aviator Badge, and one of the first instructors of Army pilots. He served from 1942-1944 in the Army Aviation Section of the Artillery School.

of an assembly line process is lost.

Admitting these problems, but explaining that they are problems faced by any maintenance unit in a combat zone where demands are always high, Sgt Didinger praised his men as "an outstanding PE Team. With all members capable of doing any portion of the inspection."

'Vultures' of Phuoc Go on 'Cold Turkey'

PHU LO1 (11th Avn Bn IO)—"Cold turkey" is slang for withdrawal from a habit or an addiction. A turkey shoot is something else. And when the "Vultures of Phuoc Vinh" go on a "Cold Turkey Shoot" in Vietnam that is something else again.

The 162d "Vultures of Phuoc Vinh" went on such a "Cold Turkey Shoot" recently as part of an operation with elements of the 1st Infantry Division.

In 10 lifts, 70 passengers flown from Song Be airstrip, several Special Forces came to the area.

In a "Cold Turkey Shoot" operation a lift of civic aid personnel, along with Chinook artillery, is taken to each camp. The civic aid personnel hold a MEDCAP in camp for the benefit of villagers while the artillery fires on positions in the area.

There was limited action during the operation when a "Copperhead" gunship received control of the "Black Barons."

Twenty gunships from the respective companies involved, besides prepping the many LZ's, helped seal the eastern and western boundaries of the large area with machine gun and rocket fire. The gun teams involved included the 116th AHC "Stingers", the 187th AHC "Rat Pack", the 188th AHC "Spiders", the 173rd AHC "Cross Bows" and the 162d AHC "Copperheads."

The 269th Combat Aviation Battalion smoke ship "Smoky Baron" covered for the approaching slicks by laying dense smoke screens in six of the landing zones. The heavier infantry equipment was later carried in by Chinook helicopters from the 205th Assault Support Helicopter Company "Geronimos" under the operational control of the "Black Barons."

The air mobile task force commander for the operation was COL Edwin W. Emerson, commanding officer of the 2d Brigade, 25th "Tropic Lightning" Division. The air mission commander was LTC James H. Merryman, commanding officer of the 269th Combat Aviation Battalion.
