GI'S BEAT BACK REDS, KILL 351

This is the headline that appeared in the "TROPIC LIGHTNING NEWS" on Jan. 4, 1968. The following is a reprint of that article:

SAIGON (UPI) -Firing artillery pointblank into their attackers, U.S. soldiers Tuesday turned back elements of two veteran Viet Cong regiments who partially overran their jungle position in the waning hours of the bloodiest holiday truce of the Vietnam War.

U.S. spokesmen said the men who defended fire support base Burt, 60 miles northwest of Saigon and a mere eight miles from the Communists Cambodia sanctuary, killed 351 Viet Cong in 10 hours of fighting.

But they paid heavily - 23 Americans killed and 153 wounded - in by far the most serious of the 177 violations U.S. and government spokesmen claimed the Communists initiated during the 36 hour New Years truce which ended at 6 a.m. Tuesday.

Early reports, which proved erroneous, had said that 75 Americans were killed.

A total of 27 Americans were killed and 205 wounded during the so-called truce, while 44 South Vietnamese died and 132 were hurt. U.S. and Saigon government spokesmen claimed 549 Communists killed and 11 captured.

This compared with 111 incidents reported in the 48 hour New Year's truce a year ago in which 14 Americans, five South Vietnamese and 40 Viet Cong were killed.

The attack near the Cambodian border began shortly aftersunset, after elements of two 25th Inf. Div. battalions had settled in for the last night of the second of three holiday truces. The third, for the Lunar New Year, is scheduled for 72 hours later this month.

First came 350 mortar rounds, then the first of two ground assaults.

American planes were quickly overhead, sweeping the Communist positions with bombs and cannon fire within 100 yards of the U.S. perimeter.

The brunt of the attack was aimed against a platoon of four armored personnel carriers commanded by 2nd Lt. Gordon F. Kelley, 26 of Northwest Harbor, Maine. Communist rockets hit all four tracked vehicles, but the men inside kept pouring out machine-gun fire at the flicker of Viet Cong muzzles.

At one point, Communist soldiers swarmed through the perimeter and occupied one section of bunkers from which they fired their hand-carried bazooka-style B40 rockets.

Then the American artillery began to take effect. Firing "beehive rounds," shells filled with hundreds of tiny darts that spew over a wide area when fired, artillerymen leveled their 105mm guns and cut loose with 100 rounds.

At dawn the combined air strikes and artillery caused the Communists to break and flee, UPI correspondent Robert Kaylor reported.

LOCATORS COLUMN

By John Otto

The locators job is getting tougher with each passing day. Not only is it becoming more difficult to locate new people, but with each newsletter mailing, we seem to loose contact with two or three guys that we had previously located.

One way that you can all help in locating our fellow Bravo Company veterans is to contact me with any names that you remember from the company, and who do not appear on our mailing list. In addition to the names, if you have information, such as hometown or home state that go's with the name, this can be very helpful. Recently I found Dennis Earwood, who was a 4th platoon original. I located Dennis by determining that his home state was Nebraska. I called every Earwood in Nebraska with a listed phone number, luckily there was only one and it turned out to be our guys brother Kevin. Talked with Dennis's sister in law, and she gave me his phone number in Virginia. Called Dennis, spoke for about forty five minutes. Dennis asked about a number of guys, but was particularly interested in a Brian Betters who was the original medic for the 4th platoon. I had been asked on several occasions about Brian Betters, but Dennis was able to give me a home state for Betters, Virginia. I checked one of the internet national phone directories and found one Brian Betters in Florida, but several people named Betters in Virginia but no Brian. Since I had the info about Virginia, I started calling the Betters listed in Virginia. About the third call I made was to Brian's cousin. She said that he now lived somewhere in Florida. Called the phone number that I had found for a Brian Betters in Florida, and spent the next hour or so talking with a Bravo Company original. The smallest piece of information can set a chain reaction in motion that can lead to many Bravo vets being located.
