

Hi, Pope

I have been thinking about writing for a few weeks now and finally got started yesterday. I got as far as filling out questionnaire & addressing envelope before I got interrupted.

So I try again.

First off I don't know you, nor you me but I wish you luck in this endeavor.

Were you at the first get together in Washington D.C. or the second in Chicago

It was very interesting but when its time to leave it makes you feel bad because you don't know if you will ever see your friends again!

I was fortunate in a way that I was able to attend a couple get togethers and will not ever forget them. I was able to catch some freight at the proper time & right direction to get me there. Also made it a bit more affordable.

Parked tractor & trailer downtown Washington D.C. on construction site for duration of ~~extended~~ visit.

Parked truck at Gary, Indiana truck stop & caught train into Chicago for that visit!

Now I am out of work again for awhile and had a company for putting me out of work.

but I will find another job.
I just am not sure doing what.

Sometime I really get sick
of all the hassles of drawing.
but there is very little job opportunity in my Area.

So enough rambling on. Hope your little stay in hospital is beautiful for you and yes if the opportunity presents itself again I will attend and then get together someday somewhere.
