The Public Works Branch of New Life Development agency of CORDS(Civilian Office OffRevolutionary Developments) in Kontum City, Kontum Providence, 240 miles north of Saigon, is working with most of the 260 Montagnard villages in the province.

Various villages are getting rice and other staples from which to live. In Kontum City, the Public Works Branch of the New Life Development agency is constructing a new school complex, which when fully completed, will have five buildings. Presently, there are two buildings completed. These two buildings were constructed to provide dormitory and classroom facilities along with the first indoor bathroom facilities ever available to the Montagnards.

Currently, this free boarding school has 346 pupils attending the school. The children come from the 260 villages in the province. The school is solely for the Montagnard children; Vietnamese children do not attend the school. The age group of the children who attend the school ranges from age six to eleven. Presently, the girls stay in a room beside the newly constructed classrooms. In the small one room yellow building, all 36 girls, who attend the school, live. The boys attending the school sleep on the floors and benches of the school after class hours.

In the Montagnards school, aside from teaching the normal math and geography classes, the girls are given instruction in basic homemaking skills, such as knitting. The school fills a much needed vacuum in the education of the Montagnard children. IS. School children waiting for the RVN flag to be raised.
