U.S. AIR FORCE SERGEANT AND CALIFORNIA HOMETOWN AID THAI ORPHANS

(Official Department of Defense motion picture film by the U.S. Army under the direction of the MACV Office of Information. Photography by SP6 Foulke and SP5 Morgan. Sound by SP5 Nash.)

Whether in Thailand or Timbuktu, children have always found friends among American GI's. About a year ago, the children, many of them orphans, at the Takhli School in Thailand found a host of friends among the 355th Security Police Squadron stationed at the nearby Takhli Royal Thai Air Force Base. Number One Friend is technical Sergeant Charles McCusker, from Fairfield, California. McCusker worked tirelessly, with his Squadron buddies, to improve the physical facilities at the school. They fixed the roof, floors and foundations, and did some painting. In a letter to his wife McCusker mentioned the renovation project, and asked her to send a box of raisins. She sent the raisins, and a lot more. Mrs. McCusker's fellow employees in a department store became interested in the Thai children, and this sparked an effort which rapidly spread out into the Fairfield community. Toys, sporting goods and clothing, including two hundred pairs of shorts, a ton of gifts in all—were sent to the Takhli School. Sergeant McCusker distributed the gifts at the school and just before Christmas and topped off the happy occasion with ice cream and cake. The Sergeant also had his request for raisins filled to overflowing—1680 boxes of raisins were included in the shipment from home.
