4. An inspection of Shop Stores was conducted by First Lieutenant L. A. BURRILL, Master Sergeant SIDDALL, and Staff Sergeant DENT on 1-3 October. A report was submitted to the Commanding General on 15 October 1970.
5. An RVNAF turnover was held on 19 October to transfer 2386 items valued in excess of $291,000.
6. An Audit Team from GAO reported aboard on 8 October to conduct a review of Phasedown Operations in connection with Marine Corps redeployments.
7. A survey was made for the purpose of determining whether or not to close the FLC Retail Clothing Outlet. The decision reached was to continue the present operation until around 1 May 1971.
8. Lost shipments of 87 each AN/PRC-77 radios were located and reported to CG, FMFPac.
9. An agreement was reached with the U.S. Army Mortuary, Danang, to have them effect all positive identification of Marine Corps human remains.
10. Frag Kits for 2½ and 5 ton vehicles were received and issued to units of III MAF.
11. Some 177 line items of MC100 excess were redistributed under III MAF cognizance which resulted in a retrograding of 39,000 cube.
12. The number of new TERO's received during the month of October decreased by 1,026 with a total input of 6,891 TERO's. The input of TERO's on combat essential equipment decreased by 30 TERO's, with a total input of 675 TERO's. The overall backlog continues a slow but steady decline.
13. In 1968, the Fire Support Coordination Centers of the First and Third Marine Divisions independently began to automate the collection, storage, and retrieval of target information. Both systems had merit, but they were sluggish, card-oriented, required manual manipulation, and were of very limited use. The systems eventually fell into disuse.
- a. In June 1970 the First Marine Division system, known as the Fire Support Information System, was reactivated and completely redesigned using the capabilities of the IBM 360/50 computer of the Force Logistic Command. This expanded system now provides concise, highly responsive tactical intelligence information to the entire Marine community.

b. Data is collected by 25 types of sources, such as air observer, prisoner of war, and infra-red sensor. This data is submitted to the Fire Support Coordination Center which in turn forwards coded sheets to Data Processing Platoon-16. The sheets are keypunched, edited, and placed on tape and disk files. Fresh targets normally reach the file within 48 hours.

c. The file currently contains extensive information on 70,000 targets, dating back to 1968. 30,000 have been added since June 1970.

d. Three types of data file inquiries are serviced: regular weekly reports, special requests, and on-call overlays and listings.

e. Extensive information is available on each target, as follows:

- (1) Target location - Its grid zone and grid coordinates.
- (2) Description - Which one of 61 types of targets (bridge, squad under cover, mortar position, etc) and whether confirmed or suspected.
- (3) Source - Which of 25 sources reported the location.
- (4) The date and time of reporting.
- (5) Ordnance - If an artillery or naval gunfire mission, the caliber, projectile, fuse, and number of rounds. If an air strike, the type and amount of primary and secondary ordnance and the number and type of aircraft.
- (6) The firing unit, if artillery or naval gunfire.
- (7) The supported unit.
- (8) Whether the fire mission/air strike was observed or unobserved.
- (9) Surveillance - The number of targets destroyed, number of enemy killed, and the secondary damage.
- (10) In addition, anti-aircraft incidents also contain the intensity of fire, type of weapon, number of hits, and aircraft altitude.

Enclosure (1)

UNCLASSIFIED

(11) Booby trap reports also contain the number and type of traps, number of friendly killed and wounded, and whether the trap was either detonated or neutralized.

f. Four recurring reports are produced as follows:

(1) A report to the 11th Marines listing all artillery fire missions, by battery and battalion.

(2) A report to the 11th Marines listing the number of rounds and projectile/fuze combinations fired against each type of target.

(3) A report to the G-2, 1st MAW listing all anti-aircraft incidents within a 5-mile radius of the Danang Air Base, by altitude and time of day.

(4) A report to the Combat Operations Center, 1st MarDiv listing all booby traps encountered during the week.

g. Three typical special requests are:

(1) An analysis for the Commanding Officer, 11th Marines of the cost of firing artillery on the 9th of September, including a plot of all target locations.

(2) A listing of those targets which were reported by SCAMP sensor during the week and not fired upon.

(3) A listing of troop locations reported by a particular source in a given area, for the Commanding Officer, 1st Bn., 5th Marines.

h. More than 350 on-call requests have been processed since 1 August 1970. The average time required to service these requests is 15 minutes. They are of four types:

(1) Target Density. This is a graphic plot showing the location and density of certain types of targets selected by the user. The plot shows target locations within an area 116km by 100km.

(2) A 1:50,000, 8km by 12km overlay showing the location of up to five types of targets selected by the user.

Enclosure (1)

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

(3) A series of detailed, 3km by 3km plots which describe all targets in a given area.

(4) A detailed listing of all targets within a given area.

i. The current data file is a holdover from the early First Marine Division system. It does not lend itself to change. A complete file reorganization is now taking place which will simplify programming and allow new types of data (for example, helicopter landing zones, patrol reports) to be added.

(1) The new file reorganization is also designed to make the initial coding of data an easier task for the Marine at the information source.

(2) Finally, the entire system is being fully documented to preserve its historical value and ensure its future use.

(3) For the first time, a general purpose digital computer supporting logistic and manpower systems has provided tactical support to troops in the field - and at no cost, neither in dollars nor manpower.

STORY OF INTEREST

1/5 TAKES OVER FLC'S PROVISIONAL RIFLE COMPANY

The area is relatively the same, but the sweat-streaked faces of the muddy Marines running patrols and ambushes in it are different.

The new faces belong to Leathernecks of the 1st Battalion, 5th Marines, 1st Marine Division, who took over external security of Force Logistic Command (FLC) and other allied units approximately eight miles northwest of here Oct. 1.

"We took over the security responsibility from FLC's Provisional Rifle Company, which did an outstanding job," said Marine First Lieutenant Barry L. DENES, operations officer for 1/5. "We just picked up where they left off and things have been running real smoothly."

A platoon of 1/5 Marines is detached to the FLC site from Hill 34 about every three weeks. They are quartered within the sprawling supply complex, but provide security for U. S. Army, Navy and Marine installations in this vicinity.

"We also provide external security for the Ammunition Supply Point #2, near the Danang Air Base," Lt. DENES said. "You can see it's a pretty wide range."

Provisional Rifle Company, affectionately called "Prov Rifles," was established in 1967. It consisted of volunteers from the different battalions located within the Camp Jay K. BOOKS compound.

"There were approximately 170 men in the company when we ceased operations," stated Marine Gunnery Sergeant Pablo R. NOVARRO, former first sergeant of Prov Rifles and current operations chief of Headquarters and Service Battalion. "They were a good bunch who did a good job."

Marines volunteering for Prov Rifles usually spent between four and six months with the unit. They were given 10 days of classes and basic refresher courses in subjects like scouting, patrolling and map reading.

"We then sent the men out on daylight patrols so they could familiarize themselves with the area of operation," Novarro explained. "After they had an understanding of the terrain and the way we worked, they began running night ambushes, listening posts and combat outposts."

Enclosure (1)

[REDACTED]

Although every Marine is trained to be basically a rifleman, most of the volunteers were individuals specially trained for work outside the "grunt" position. "A lot of the men we got were tired or bored with their specific job," NOVARRO added. "They snapped-in real fast and we had good platoons, made of truck drivers, typists, supplymen, mechanics and other assorted individuals."

Although no records have been kept over the years on enemy killed or wounded by the Rifles, MGySgt. NOVARRO feels that they have been instrumental in "keeping a lot of rockets out of the area." Although the area of responsibility has been cut down slightly, the new security force will still have their hands full. "Everything is running smoothly," Lt. DENES claimed, "much to the efforts of Prov Rifles. They did an outstanding job."

Brigadier General James R. JONES assumed command of Force Logistic Command (FLC) from Brigadier General Mauro J. PADALINO during formal change of command ceremonies on 24 October 1970.

General PADALINO, who assumed command of FLC in November 1969, is scheduled to report to Headquarters Marine Corps, Washington D. C., for duty. General JONES was Commanding General, Third Force Service Regiment on Okinawa, prior to assuming his current duties.

Reports Required: I. Control, Turn-in and Disposal of Captured Enemy Weapons Report (Rpt Sym FLC-3460-1) Par 7c
II. Monthly Weapons Control Report (Rpt Sym FLC-3460-1) Par 7d
III. Quarterly Museum and Display Inventory Report (Rpt Sym FLC-3460-1) Par 7b

1. Purpose. To prescribe procedures for the accounting, control and disposition of captured enemy materiel.

2. Cancellation. FLCO 3460.1

3. General. Reference (a) provides policies and establishes procedures for the accounting, control and disposition of captured enemy materiel within III Marine Amphibious Force. This order provides amplifying instructions to the Force Logistic Command.

4. Processing of Captured Enemy Materiel

a. Control

(1) All materiel and weapons captured from enemy forces become the property of the United States Government. Every effort should be made toward prompt reporting and turning in of all materiel and weapons. Commanders at all echelons will provide adequate security for captured materiel until such time as final disposition instructions are issued by this or higher Headquarters.

14 Oct 1970

(2) Until a captured article meets the criteria for a war trophy/war trophy firearm as set forth in reference (a), it remains Government property and will be safeguarded accordingly. After such determination is made, ownership will pass to the authorized individual; however, a war trophy firearm will remain in Government custody until such time as the owner leaves RVN on PCS Orders.

b. Tagging

(1) All captured materiel will have a captured equipment tag securely attached to the item. The tag must have, as a minimum, the date, time, place, circumstances of capture and identity of the capturing unit. If the article is a possible war trophy or war trophy firearm, the name of the capturing individual should also be indicated.

(2) Commanders at all echelons will ensure that all captured enemy materiel and weapons are properly tagged.

(3) The alteration, falsification or removal of equipment tags is subject to disciplinary action under the provisions of Article 103, Uniform Code of Military Justice.

c. Screening. The Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2 is designated as the Force Logistic Command Intelligence Screening Officer for the purpose of determining intelligence value of enemy materiel, authenticating items as authorized war trophies, for confiscation and disposal of those items not authorized as war trophies and for directing the disposal of materiel from organic FLC Units. The Force Logistic Command Intelligence Screening Officer will be guided by the provisions of reference (a).

d. Evacuation Flow

(1) Prior to turning in items to collection point, captured materiel will be tagged and expeditiously evacuated through channels to the Command's Intelligence Officer for initial intelligence screening.

(2) Supply Company, Supply Battalion, 1st FSR/FLC has been established as the Collection Point for all USMC units in MRI.

(a) Captured materiel received will be temporarily stored under adequate security conditions pending receipt of disposition instructions from III Marine Amphibious Force, with the exception of items selected by Combined Material Exploitation Center (CMEC) Field Coordination Teams as stated in section 4.e.(4) below.

(b) The Collection Point is responsible for security preservation, packaging and transportation of captured materiel.

(c) The Collection Point will submit a report of Control, Turn-in and Disposal of Captured Enemy Weapons to this Headquarters (Attn: ACoFS, G-2) as prescribed in sub-paragraph 7c below.

e. Disposition

(1) War trophies/war trophy firearms will be processed in accordance with the instructions contained in paragraph 5 below. Firearms so processed will be returned to the finder's unit for custodial purposes.

(2) Based on the results of the screening, all other materiel will be evacuated in accordance with the instructions contained in subparagraph 5e of reference (a).

(3) No materiel, serviceable or unserviceable, will be disposed of at any echelon without the express approval of III Marine Amphibious Force.

(4) The only exception to the above prohibition is in the case of materiel of intelligence value or items needed to fill other requirements of CMEC. These items may be selected at any echelon by CMEC Field Coordination Teams or "Go-Teams".

5. War Trophies

a. Definitions

(1) War Trophy. Any item of enemy public or private property utilized as war materiel captured from hostile forces in armed conflict, which has been determined to have no intelligence value; is not prohibited from importation into the United States; is not prohibited as a war trophy by pertinent laws or directives; has been authenticated and/or registered in accordance with the provisions of this order; and is not United States property or the property of any allied nation. For purposes of this Order, U. S. property will be determined by the following test. If there exists in the inventory of U. S. Government property a weapon of the same caliber and make as a firearm being presented for registration, the weapon does not qualify. If there is not, and all other prerequisites of this Order are met, it can qualify as a war trophy

(2) War Trophy Firearm. Firearm of small caliber up to and including caliber .45 (or metric equivalent 11.4mm) and all gauges of shotguns, meeting the criteria of a war trophy.

(3) Prohibited Items. An item which cannot be classified as a war trophy because of intelligence value, import prohibitions, or restrictions imposed by pertinent laws or directives. Prohibited items are listed in enclosure (1) of reference (a). As an exception to the list of prohibited items in enclosure (1) of reference (a), the following weapons may be retained as war trophy firearms when captured from the enemy by U. S. Forces personnel:

(a) U. S Rifle, caliber .30, M1903

14 Oct 1970

U. S. Rifle, caliber .30, M1917

British Enfield, caliber .30, M1917

b. Instructions for Processing War Trophies. An individual authorized to retain a war trophy will be issued DD Form 603-1, War Trophy Registration/Authorization, by the Intelligence Screening Officer. A war trophy (not a war trophy firearm) is authorized to be retained by the finder after the item has been registered. As an exception to the above, the following procedures will be followed after registration of knives, bayonets, machetes and other war trophies of this type. After processing, these items will, within FLC units, be turned in by the individual to his unit for custodial purposes until such time as the individual leaves Vietnam, or until such time as the items are shipped to CONUS. The Screening Officer will prepare enclosure (1) and forward it to the individual's Commanding Officer to ensure that proper control procedures are implemented.

c. Instructions for Processing War Trophy Firearms. A firearm designated by the Force Logistic Command Intelligence Screening Officer as a war trophy firearm will be processed as follows:

(1) DD Form 603-1 will be prepared in original and five signed copies. The individual will receive an original and three copies which he will present to the Provost Marshall's Office, 1st Marine Division for application for an RVN Export License. The FLC Intelligence Screening Officer will prepare enclosure (1) and forward it to the individual's Commanding Officer to ensure that proper control procedures are implemented. A war trophy firearm will remain in Government custody until such time as the owner leaves RVN on PCS orders. The Screening Officer will retain one copy of enclosure (1) on file.

d. Subsequent Registration. Compliance with the provisions of this order does not in any way preclude subsequent registration of war trophy firearms in accordance with various U. S. Federal, State or local laws, or with regulations of other military installations or commands.

e. Shipment of War Trophies

(1) War trophies, other than firearms, may be mailed, shipped, included in authorized baggage, or carried personally to CONUS. The authenticated DD Form 603-1 pertaining to each article will be packed or carried with the article.

(2) War trophy firearms may not be mailed or shipped to CONUS. See reference (a) for movement by air or water, and movement of war trophy firearms for an individual who is medically evacuated from Vietnam

f. Violations and Seizures. Items of captured equipment which are not processed in accordance with the provisions of this Order are subject to seizure by civil or military authorities. Individuals shipping or carrying such items into the U. S. are subject to disciplinary action and prosecution.

6. Captured Weapons/Materiel Museums, Displays and Exhibits

a. Force Logistic Command is authorized to maintain a Command museum, with the following limitations:

(1) Material/weapons categorized as "significant value items" will not be utilized unless released by the CMEC, Tan Son Nhut AFB, Saigon, RVN.

(2) All items held in the Force Logistic Command museum are subject to withdrawal to fill urgent intelligence/logistical requirements.

(3) All captured material retained by the Force Logistic Command for its Command museum will be carried on appropriate property books of Headquarters and Service Battalion for control purposes, and accounted for by type and serial number.

(4) All items, prior to their use in the museum, will be screened by the Force Logistic Command Intelligence Screening Officer to certify that they are appropriate and authorized museum pieces or display items.

7. Reports

a. Capturing units will immediately report all materiel to this Headquarters (Attn: ACofS, G-2).

b. An inventory report of all captured materiel maintained by the Force Logistic Command Museum will be provided this Headquarters (Attn: ACofS, G-2) on a quarterly basis as of 20 March, 20 June, 20 September and 20 December.

c. The Commanding Officer, Supply Battalion will submit a report of Control, Turn-in and Disposal of Captured Enemy Weapons from the Logistic Collection Point to this Headquarters (Attn: ACofS, G-2). This report will be submitted by the 3rd day of each month in the format shown in enclosure (2).

d. All Battalion Commanders will submit a report of Weapons Control to this Headquarters (Attn: ACofS, G-2). This report will be submitted by the 3rd day of each month in the format shown in enclosure (3). A negative report may be submitted by phone to G-2, Force Logistic Command (955-2173).

8. Responsibilities. Control, screening, evacuation, demilitarization when necessary, and disposal of captured materiel are command responsibilities. Commanders at all echelons are responsible for adherence to policies and procedures governing these areas in accordance with instructions contained herein and related regulations.

3. Background. Past experience has shown that gift day privileges have been abused. It has been noted that many of the gifts appear later in the blackmarket or in the hands of other unauthorized recipients. In addition gift day has caused a shortage of certain Exchange items, thereby making them unavailable to Marines.

4. Action

a. Gift day will be abolished with the exception of special events, such as, holidays, birthdays and when an individual marine departs for CONUS.

b. Recommended items include used civilian clothing, used civilian/Exchange items, baby clothing received from CONUS, and mementos such as photographs. Items will not include new items from the Exchange, government issue items, items listed as contraband or canned foods (except baby food).

c. When the occasion merits the giving of gifts to Local National Civilians, the format outlined in enclosure (1) will be used. All gift slips will be approved by the donor's Commanding Officer.

5. Self-Cancellation. 31 December 1970.

FORCE LOGISTIC COMMAND BULLETIN 3410

From: Commanding General To: Distribution List

Subj: Psychological Operations

Ref: (a) III MAF P190426Z Sept 1970
(b) XXIV Corps ltr AVII-GE of 14 October 1970
(c) FLCO 3410.1B

1. Purpose. To re-emphasize the importance of psychological operations during the redeployment period and the monsoon season, and to draw attention to the new PSYOPS report.

2. Background

a. Reference (a) stresses the importance of using psychological operations during this phase down period of U.S. military personnel. This is a time when moral support to the people of Vietnam is gravely needed. For as more and more Marines leave the villages of Vietnam, the inhabitants wonder what will happen to them. They must be reassured that they are not being left alone. The local populace must be informed that the GVN military forces, popular forces, and national police are there to help and protect them. One of the best means of communicating this message is through psychological operations.

b. Reference (b) emphasizes the importance of adjusting your psychological operations during the monsoon season. Few propaganda films can be utilized during this period since they depend on good weather for showing. In addition, since not many aero leaflet drops and broadcasts can be performed either, handout leaflets and posters must be stressed. Feedback from psychological operations indicate that all types of propaganda dissemination, including hand distribution, significantly influence the people and the point is getting across to them.

c. Reference (c) is the new PSYOPS report just recently published. Analysis of the reports coming in indicates that the reporting units are not submitting their reports in accordance with this reference. Careful consideration must be made by all battalions, especially the section responsible for compiling the report. Command Headquarters cannot perform their job if the subordinate units fail in their performance.

3. Action

a. All reporting unit commanders review their procedures and efforts in carrying out a meaningful PSYOPS program in order to achieve positive results. The Camp Books' battalions can request any leaflet desired from the Command Civil Affairs Office (955-2267/2346). First Military Police Battalion can make direct liaison with the 7th PSYOPS Battalion in DaNang (957-4812 for particular leaflets to be printed up; 957-4311 for leaflets already made up) to obtain their leaflets. An appropriate message could be made up indicating that the people will continue to have security provided by the ARVN, popular forces, and national police after all U.S. military forces have vacated Vietnam.

b. The First Military Police Battalion will ensure that individual Marines carry leaflets and posters for dissemination on patrols and in areas where tactical operations are being conducted.

c. Concerning all FLC battalions, when civic action self-help projects are going on in the respective assigned hamlets, have appropriate handout leaflets printed up with the information concerning the projects so the local populace will feel more confident and proud of themselves. The 10th Political Warfare (POLWAR) Battalion (Vietnamese) located at the end of Khai Dinh street (just past 7th PSYOPS) in DaNang is also available for PSYOPS work whether on an operational sweep, a routine patrol, or a periodic civic action visit to a hamlet. If the services of this battalion are desired, arrangements can be made by contacting the Command Civil Affairs Officer at 955-2267/2346.

d. All reporting units carefully read over the new PSYOPS report in order that all reports submitted from here on in will be done so in accordance with the basic Order.
