Figure 1. Schematic diagram of the experimental setup. The subject is seated in a chair and views the target through a video camera. The target is a light source that is controlled by a computer. The subject's hand is positioned on a horizontal surface. The distance between the hand and the target is 10 cm. The target is a light source that is controlled by a computer. The subject's hand is positioned on a horizontal surface. The distance between the hand and the target is 10 cm.

Figure 1. Aerial view of the study area. The area is divided into three main sections: the northern section (top), the central section (middle), and the southern section (bottom). The northern section is characterized by a large, dark, irregularly shaped area, likely a forest or wetland. The central section is a lighter, more uniform area, possibly a field or a different type of vegetation. The southern section is a darker, more textured area, possibly a forest or a different type of vegetation. The area is surrounded by a road or a path, and there are some small, dark, irregularly shaped areas scattered throughout the central and southern sections.
