PART II

NARRATIVE SUMMARY

1. General overview of all activities. As the month of August commenced, the Battalion was employed in the defense of VCB. Companies I, L, and M, 3/9, were OPCON to the Battalion. A platoon from Co C was providing security for the Dong Ha to VCB convoy on a daily basis, and was billeted in the 3rd Marines' area at Dong Ha. The defense of VCB included Signal Hill, and a platoon from Co D was performing that function.

During the month the remainder of the Battalion rear echelon was moved to VCB from Quang Tri. A transient facility was established by the 3rd Marine Division at Dong Ha to billet and process all replacements arriving there. They are trucked from this facility to the various units throughout the Division.

On 26 August, the Battalion exchanged AO's with 3/4, and the "A" Command Group moved to FSB Cates. The following day, a vertical assault was conducted by the Battalion, with three companies landing unopposed in grid square XD 8548. One company has been held in reserve at VCB, while Co M, 3/4 defended FSB Cates and Hill 950. This company has been chopped OPCON to the Battalion when the AO's were exchanged. As the month ended, Co D, which had replaced Co M, was defending FSB Cates and Hill 950; Co's A and B were continuing their sweep through the "rocket belt"; and Co C was OPCON to 3/4 as the Sparrow Hawk/Bald Eagle unit.

2. Command Relations. The Battalion remained under the operational control of the 4th Marine Regiment throughout the month. There were several different companies OPCON to the Battalion during the month, while the organic companies were periodically chopped OPCON to other organizations. Specific units, dates, and times are delineated in the Sequential Listing of Significant Events portion of this chronology.

3. Mission Assigned. For most of the month, the mission of the Battalion was to defend VCB, Signal Hill, and Ca Lu. However, there were several other missions assigned periodically. They included providing a Sparrow Hawk/Bald Eagle unit; providing security for the Dong Ha to VCB road convoy; maintaining a readiness posture to be employed as the reserve Battalion for the "Project Delta" operation which was conducted west of the 4th Marines' AO, or to be used as the reserve Battalion for the 3rd Marines' Operation south of the DMZ; and to provide security for the MCB workers who were improving the road between VCB and Elliot Combat Base (ECB). During the last five days of the month, the Battalion was responsible for defending FSB Cates, Hill 950, and conducting operations north of these positions. The vertical assault into the area northwest of FSB Cates was in response to the mission assigned by the 4th Marines to "conduct a reconnaissance in force operation through the rocket belt."

UNCLASSIFIED4. Intelligence

a. For most of the month the Battalion was assigned responsibility for the defense of VCB and security for the daily road sweeps. There were several sightings on the VCB perimeter. A platoon from Co D made contact with two NVA on the ridgeline southeast of VCB with negative results. To the south at Ca Lu, a ground surveillance unit observed 25-30 suspected enemy through a night observation device (NOD). The company fired mortars and checked the area the following morning with negative results.

VCB received four to six rounds of 122mm rockets and 14 rounds of 107mm rockets during the month.

On 15 August the convoy from Dong Ha was ambushed as it approached VCB. The NVA used small arms fire, RPG's, and claymores. The claymores were of a new configuration; two mines tied together with a sandbagged buffer between them. The first mine is command detonated and the top mine has a pull release fuse with a three to four foot string tied to a stake in the ground. The bottom mine blows to top one into the air where it detonates and sprays the area. Investigation of the area showed the device failed to work properly in that both mines detonated simultaneously.

The Battalion was relieved of responsibility for defending VCB on 26 August, and the following day moved into the field to conduct sweep operations. Ground Surveillance Teams, organized from personnel within the Battalion, were attached to the companies. They employed NOD's, radar, meta-scopes, starlight scopes, and other equipment to detect enemy movement beyond human vision and hearing distance. On several occasions the observation equipment detected movement enabling the units to take special precautionary measures.

b. Weather. The weather consisted primarily of hot, humid days with only three or four days of moderate rainfall. There was generally a gentle breeze blowing in the higher elevations, at times reaching to gusts of 15 to 20 knots.

c. Terrain. The terrain in which VCB is located consists of a large valley broken by small and rugged mountains with crests to 552 meters. The Ca Lu area is in a valley floor with sharply rising mountains on both sides. The area in which the Battalion commenced operations during the latter part of the month is characterized by rolling hills, four to five foot high "elephant" grass, and small deep ravines with intermittent streams.

5. Operations. All of the activities of the Battalion during the month were part of the 4th Marines' operation "Georgia Tar." On 18 August, Co D was chopped OPCON to the 3rd Marines and participated in operation "Virginia Ridge" until 24 August when they returned to the Battalion.

7. Supporting Arms

a. Air Support. During the first 27 days of the month, tactical air support for the Battalion consisted primarily of TQ-10 bombing attacks of suspected enemy positions. Of the 102 missions requested, 20 were conducted. A total of 69 tons of bombs were expended. Bomb damage assessment (BDA) was impossible due to the nature and location of these strikes. An additional 22 divert targets were submitted. These targets were submitted to higher headquarters for possible attack by aircraft unable to expend their ordnance on preplanned targets. None of the 22 were hit.

When the Battalion moved into the field late in the month, the opportunity for use of close air support increased perceptibly. Prior to the vertical assault conducted by the Battalion, nine flights of fixed wing strikes were flown in and around the landing zone. The BDA for these strikes was 10 bunkers destroyed, three secondary explosions, one secondary fire, and 100 meters of trails and trench lines destroyed.

Five helicopter lifts were accomplished during the month, lifting a total of 500 pounds of cargo and 901 troops. Helicopters MEDEVAC missions carried a total of 12 emergency, eight priority, and 19 routine.

The overall effectiveness of the TACP was enhanced considerably with the assignment of an F-4B pilot who replaced the Battalion FAC. The Battalion now has two Naval Aviators with a wide range experience in helicopters, the OV-10A, and high performance aircraft.

b. Artillery Support. The preponderance of artillery fire was provided by G Battery, 3/12 located at Ca Lu, and 155mm Guns and 8" Guns located at VCB. During the last week of the month, the Battalion was supported by artillery and air when it launched a vertical assault on an objective in the new AO. Prep fires for the operation were conducted in three phases; artillery, air, followed by more artillery. Phase one commenced at 0430 and lasted until 0630 when air strikes commenced. The air strikes ended at 0730 and the final artillery prep fires were delivered on the objective. There were three linear and eight periphery targets hit during the prep fires, a total of 1800 rounds of 105mm, 155mm, and 8" were expended.

9. Communication-Electronics

a. Message Center. All message center traffic was transmitted, received, and reproduced by the 4th Marine Regiment during the month. Administrative message pick-ups were made each morning for the first two weeks of the month, and increased to three times each day when it became apparent that one pick-up was not sufficiently responsive to the operational needs of the Battalion. Authentication tables were distributed and utilized as required.

b. Radio. Voice radio communications provided the primary means of control for the various elements of the Battalion. All frequencies and call signs were listed in a Communications Operating Instructions (COI) which was prepared by the communication center, and distributed to each unit commander. The KAC QAL 512 and KAC PZ-4 were utilized for encrypting and decrypting tactical traffic on all radio nets. The AN/PRC-88 continued to be effectively utilized on the platoon/squad level in tactical operations.

PART III

SEQUENTIAL LISTING OF SIGNIFICANT EVENTS1. Combat Operations

01 Aug As the month of August commenced, the Battalion was engaged in the defense of VCB. There were three companies from 3/9 OPCON to the Battalion (I, L, and M). Co A was the Sparrow Hawk/Bald Eagle company; Co B was defending Ca Lu; 2nd Plat, Co C was providing security for the daily convoy from Dong Ha to VCB; 3d Plat, Co D was defending Signal Hill; and Companies D(-) and C (-) were conducting an operation astride the ridgeline north of the Ba Long Valley.

02 Aug At 1400, Co K, 3/9 relieved Co L, 3/9 in the lines at VCB. At that time the Battalion assumed OPCON of Co F and OPCON of Co L was chopped back to 3/9.

07 Aug At 0945, a Vietnamese Provisional Reconnaissance Unit (PRU), operating in Co B's area southeast of Ca Lu, encountered an estimated 10 NVA/VC. A fire fight resulted in the vicinity of YDQ43434, with unknown results. Co B was unable to get involved in the action as it was in a no fire zone, and the Co itself was not under fire.
At 1015, a patrol from Co D encountered two NVA who threw an explosive device wounding one Marine. The patrol fired small arms at the fleeing NVA with negative results. An AO was called and arrived on station but because of the heavy smoke in the area of contact (YD031483) the AO was unable to help.
At 2250, a ground surveillance unit observed movement north of the VCB perimeter through a Night Observation Device. Mortars (60's and 81's) were fired into the area. A check the following morning turned up negative results.

08 Aug At 1200, the Vietnamese PRU operating in the Ca Lu area detained nine VC suspects. Two were released due to poor state of health and seven were trucked to the PRU Headquarters at Cam Lo.

11 Aug Effective 1100, Co K was relieved in the lines at VCB by Co C(-). At the same time the Battalion relinquished OPCON of Co K to 3/9.

12 Aug At 1610, Co's I and M were chopped OPCON back to 3/9 to prepare for embarkation. They were relieved in the lines at VCB by CoD(-).

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

15 Aug At 0930, Co G relieved Co A as the Sparrow Hawk/Bald Eagle unit and Co A joined Co's C and D in the lines at VCB. At 1420, the convoy from Dong Ha to VCB received RPG's and small arms fire at XD981514. Four Marines were WIA, two of which were members of the Battalion. A heavy section of tanks and two squads from Co A were dispatched to the area. They uncovered four Russian type Claymore Mines wired for command detonation along the west side of the road (Route #9), and parts of an exploded RPG-7.

16 Aug At 1700, Co K relieved Co G as the Sparrow Hawk/Bald Eagle unit.

18 Aug At 0900, Co L relieved Co D in the lines at VCB. At 1000, the 3rd Plat, Co L relieved the 2d Plat, Co D on Signal Hill. At 1320, a patrol from Co C heard a rifle bolt being moved and delivered small arms into the suspected enemy position. An artillery and mortar barrage was also fired into the area, flushing one NVA who escaped. Other noises led the members of the patrol to believe that there were more, though only one NVA was spotted. When the supporting arms fire was lifted, the area was searched with negative results.

20 Aug At 1030, a patrol from Co B found a bivouac site for approximately 10 NVA. It had been used in the past few days. There was one M-26 grenade, five M-16 magazines, and an electrical wire leading from the site to Route #9. The site was located at XD980516. At 1115 the same patrol found a sniper position in the vicinity of XD974520. Fresh trails were leading in and out of the position. An AK-47 magazine, 1 NVA canteen, 2 pop-up flare containers, 2 AK-50 rounds, a small roll of Communication wire, and some empty food packages were found.

21 Aug At 2115, Co A observed movement outside the wire barriers along the northern sector of the VCB perimeter. By use of a NOD, a Marine from the company was able to observe several NVA soldiers. Small Arms, artillery and mortar fire were delivered, and an AO was requested. When the AO arrived he further requested a "spooky" (mackine gun firing C-47 aircraft) which attacked targets in this area. A patrol set out the following morning to assess results and found nothing.

22 Aug At 1340, a patrol from Co C observed two suspected NVA in the vicinity of XD028467. Visual contact was lost almost immediately.

25 Aug At 1600, the Sparrow Hawk was helilifted to an area (vicinity of XD1151) where a recon team had been extracted due to heavy enemy contact. They experienced negative contact.

27 Aug At 0815, the leading elements of Co A landed in grid square AD89448. The landing was preceded by artillery prep fires and air strikes, and was unopposed. Three companies landed and swept through the "rocket belt." Co's I and C followed Co A into the LZ without incident.

29 Aug At 0400, Co M had movement along the wire at FSB Gates. Fresh footprints were discovered by the wire check at 0630. At 1500, Co B was helilifted into the Battalion's AO to replace Co D on the operation. Co D was helilifted back to VCB and chopped OPCON to 3/4. At 1600, a patrol from Co B uncovered a bunker and mortar pit in the vicinity of XD888498. The bunker contained forty 60mm Mortar rounds and three hundred .50 Cal rounds. All this ammunition was destroyed.

30 Aug At 1200, a Plat from Co B while on patrol found 10 bunkers containing eleven 82mm Mortar rounds. Footprints around the bunkers appeared to be one week old. The ammo was destroyed. At 1045, the same patrol uncovered an eight bunker complex also containing eleven 82mm Mortar rounds which were destroyed. The bunkers were located at XD894485 while the 10 bunkers found later were located at XD893508. At 1130, a patrol from Co C found an old bunker complex containing eight 82mm Mortar rounds and two cans of fuses for them. The bunker complex had been previously destroyed, and was located in the vicinity of XD903492. The ammo and fuses were destroyed.

31 Aug At 1640, a patrol from Co B spotted one NVA at XD913516. An M-79 was fired at the fleeing NVA with negative results.

2. Significant events not related to combat operations

01 Aug At 1100, the Battalion Commander and the S-3 visited Company D(-) and C(-) in the field.

03 Aug At 1700, Co C(-) returned to VCB from their operation in the Ba Long Valley. At 2049, a VCB reaction force drill was held. It was 2124 before all units finally arrived at the assembly area. A critique was planned for the following day at the regimental morning briefing.

05 Aug At 1300, a change of command ceremony was held in the Battalion area at VCB. LtCol WILLCOX was relieved by LtCol MAC INNIS. Guests included MajGen JONES (CG, 3dMarDiv) and Col GOGGIN (CO, 4th Marines). Music was provided by the 3rdMarDiv Band which was flown in by helicopter from Quang Tri.

07 Aug Capt James C. STOKES reported to the Battalion to replace 1stLt MARKARWICZ, as the Battalion's FAC.

09 Aug At 1500, Col HERSHEY relieved Col GOGGIN as CO, 4th Marines. The Battalion Commander attended the change of command ceremony.

10 Aug At 1925, VCB received 4 to 6 incoming rounds of 122mm rockets resulting in six Marines being wounded (one from the Battalion and five from Co I).

12 Aug Effective at 1515, Co G, 2/4 was chopped OPCON to the Battalion.

13 Aug At 0850, a burn barrel exploded in Co C's sector of the lines at VCB. Apparently an explosive device had been thrown into the barrel through carelessness. One Marine was killed and another seriously wounded.

14 Aug At 1200, the Battalion's AO was increased by approximately two to three 1,000 meter grid squares along the southern boundary. The increase was caused by the departure of the 2d ARVN Regiment from the area.

16 Aug At 1600, Co K (3/4) was chopped OPCON to the Battalion.

17 Aug At 1030, Co G was chopped OPCON back to their parent 2/4. At 1300, the Battalion assumed OPCON of Co L, 3/4.

20 Aug At 1845, four 122mm rockets impacted at VCB wounding two Marines from Co A.

21 Aug At 0715, seven 107mm rockets impacted at VCB. There were no personnel wounded.

22 Aug During the day the Battalion Commander, S-3, ALO, and Arty 10 made a reconnaissance in the UH 1E of an area that the Battalion was to conduct a vertical assault in on 25 August.

24 Aug At 0730, the Battalion Commander and S-3 met with the CO and S-3, 4th Marines to discuss a new concept of operations for the Battalion sweep into the "rocket belt" west of VCB. The original plan of a vertical assault had been disapproved by the 3rdMarDiv. The new concept was a two-company reconnaissance in force operation. Following the meeting, the CO, S-3, ALO, Arty 10, two company commanders (Co's A and C) and a platoon commander from each of the Co's made a VR of the area in UH 1E's. Late in the afternoon Co D was helilifted from the 3rd Marines AO back to VCB. The Co was chopped OPCON back to the Battalion at 1600.
