2. INTELLIGENCE

a. General: During the month of January the S-2 Section continued to collect, evaluate and disseminate intelligence concerning VC/NVA units in and around the 5th Marine AO.

(1) Enemy activity decreased significantly during the month in the Que Son Mountains. Headquarters Forward Element One Front Four was inactive and subordinate units moved into the lowlands and rear base areas.

(2) Emphasis on recon team employment, exploitation of Chieu Hoi's and agent reports, and infantry patrolling provided the bulk of intelligence in the AO.

(3) Armed VR both day and night has been extremely effective in locating and destroying the enemy. Positive communication with friendly ground units and coordination with ground units day and night acts has enabled successful employment of air support.

(4) The most effective means of locating the enemy and his base areas continues to be the individual Marine.

b. Cumulative enemy losses during the month of January:

(1) NVA KIA-34/VC KIA-55/KBA-41

(2) Detainees:

(a) Civil Defendants 18

c. Significant aspects of enemy, weather and terrain

(1) Enemy:

(a) Enemy initiated action increased during and following the Tet holiday period 26-29 January. The primary enemy targets were lines of communications, bridges, RF/PF outpost, refugee camps, strategic hamlets and district headquarters.

(b) The local guerrilla and District VC forces have strengthened their posture by absorbing elements of main force NVA units. Intelligence indicate that the enemy is concentrating his activity in the populated lowlands in preparation for the cease fire, at which time he will be in position to undermine the government and stake out his own VC controlled areas.

(c) Low morale of the enemy continues to be his biggest handicap. Hardships connected with food procurement and inability to gain a tactical victory have been the main contributing factors in the 5th Marines AO.

(2) Weather: With the monsoons ended the weather has favored friendly operations. Rapid completion of resupply and movements of troops by helicopter seriously restricted operations during the previous month.

(3) Terrain: Continued operations in the Que Son Mountains have allowed familiarity with the terrain, thus increasing the effectiveness of friendly operations to locate base camps, interdict lines of communication and avoid booby traps.

(4) Intelligence Support: Agent reports from 3rd CIT, timely processing of detainees and captured documents by 13 ITT, and exchange of information with MACV advisors of neighboring districts has added significantly to the collection of intelligence.
