When the enemy broke contact, an LZ was secured and the bodies evacuated.

Following a detailed search of the objective area, both Companies E and G returned to the vicinity LZ HAWK and provided security for the Regimental CP. Both companies conducted local patrols throughout the night without incident.

At 300835H, the Company G defensive perimeter received 1 rifle grenade from the vicinity (AT987537) wounding one Marine. Artillery fire was directed on the suspected enemy position while the wounded Marine was evacuated. Results: 1 USMC WIA (Evac).

Both companies remained in a defensive posture throughout the remainder of the day, providing security for the Regimental CP.

At 301500H, the 2/5 CP moved from LZ HAWK to AN HOA and secured from Operation AUBURN, Company E and Company G were chopped to the OPCOM of 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines. (Enclosure (4)).

b. Friendly Personnel

- (2) 1 USMC WIA (Minor)

12. Administration and Logistics:

a. Supply. All resupply requests were submitted via Helicopter Support Teams. Requests were passed to the Helicopter Support Team accompanying the 3/5 CP, which in turn passed them to the LSA that had been established with the 3/5 rear. Resupply efforts were then effected by air.

b. Maintenance. Normal PM of equipment was accomplished throughout the conduct of the operation. No unusual problems were encountered.

c. Treatment of Casualties and Evacuation. The 2/5 PAS was not involved in the operation. Casualties from 2/5, after receiving treatment in the field, were evacuated to 1st Medical Battalion or NSA in DANANG.

d. Transportation. Transportation of personnel and supplies was accomplished exclusively by helicopter.

e. Communications. The AN/PRC-25 provided the battalion with excellent communication during the operation. Some difficulty in communications was encountered when the tape antenna was used in heavily vegetated areas. During these periods it was necessary to employ the whip antenna. As extra radios were carried by the Battalion Command Group, all nets were operable at all times. One AN/PRC-41 was employed by the battalion during the operation, enabling the Air Officer to speak directly to support aircraft.

7. Intelligence.

a. Enemy strength in the operating area included elements of the R-20 Battalion, V-25 Battalion, Q-13 Local Force Company, Q-15 Local Force Company, and an unknown number of guerrillas.

b. The exact location of these units was unknown. However, it was expected that they would be disposed in fortified hamlets and would fight at a time and location of their choosing.

c. Sources of intelligence included Division G-2, After Action Reports, Interrogation Reports, usually reliable, low level agent reports and observation from recon teams.

d. The terrain was characterized by paddies, Kuni grass and tree lines. Added features were grave mounds eveated about 5 feet and approximately 10 feet in diameter. These mounds occasionally contained sniper holes. Kuni grass was encountered in about half of the paddies traversed, indicating that the farmers had abandoned them. The tree lines contained the usual trench lines and fortifications. The graves and paddy dikes afforded some cover and the Kuni grass offered very good concealment.

8. Mission: At H-Hour D(+1) 5th Marines attacks fortified positions west of AO to kill or capture enemy personnel, and to destroy or capture enemy weapons, equipment, supplies and positions.

9. Concept of Operations.
