During the period 1 October to 19 October 1968, the Second Battalion (-) (reinforced) was under the operational control of the 7th Marine Regiment. During the period 6 October to 19 October, the Battalion in coordination and cooperation with ARVM and other Marine units participated in Operation MAUI PEAK. The primary mission of the Battalion was to conduct a diversionary attack by maneuvering west along Route #4 toward the Thuong Duc Special Forces Camp. On 6 October the Battalion made heavy contact as Company G was sweeping the high ground North of Route #4. The Battalion mission was then changed to search and clear. Operation MAUI PEAK terminated on 19 October and on 23 October 1968, the Battalion began participation in Operation HENDERSON HILL.

III. SEQUENTIAL LISTING OF SIGNIFICANT EVENTS.

A. Personnel and Administration.

1. The Sattalion joined four officers and 232 enlisted men during this month. The Battalion transferred six officers and 153 enlisted during the same period. Casualties for the month were:

:	3	ATTLE			NON-E	ATTLE	٠		TOTAL
KIA	WIV	DOW	WIANE	$\underline{\mathtt{MIA}}$	NBD	NBC		• •
30	108	, 0	42	1	0	12		•	193

- 2. Discipline, Law and Order. During the month, one Summary Court-Martial was convened within the Battalion. Non-judicial punishment was awarded twelve times to Marines, three times by the Battalien Commander and nine times by Company Commanders.
- 3. Postal. Due to the record breaking rainfall for the first half of this month, the general delivery of mail from Da-Nang to An Hoa was hampered to a great extent and caused some mail to be delivered wet. The latter half of the month saw clearer skies allowing mail to be delivered as often as twice a day. Additional personnel and space are being made available to allow for the up-coming heliday season and the increased amount of mail.
- Commendation models and three awards of the Vietnamese Cross of Galantry received from the Vietnamese government during October. Sixteen U. S. awards for heroism and meritorious service were processed by the Battalion during this period.

5. Chaplain's Activities. A Protestant service was held at An Hoa with one hundred sixty men in attendance. Three memorial services were held following Operation MAUI PEAK.

The Chaplain visited a total of 53 sick and wounded in the various hospitals located in DaMang. The Chaplain spent 18 days with the Battalion in the field.

B. Intelligence.

1. Sources. The vast majority of the intelligence information for the month came from the S-2, 5th Marines for operation MAUI PEAK. Intelligence was also collected from Duc Duc District Headquarters and local Security Chief for MAMELUKE THRUST II and HENDERSON EILL and Thuong Duc District Headquarters for MAUI PEAK. Aerial observers reports aided the Battalion's ability to respond to immediate changes in enemy troop disposition in all operations.

2. General Situation.

a. MAUI PEAK.

Elements of the 21st Regiment, Battalions of the 141st Regiment, one Battalion of the 368B Regiment (NVA Artillery), one Battalion 68B Regiment and 31st Regiment QuanDa were reported in position to interdict Route #4 (Dien Ban to Thuong Duc) and harass friendly units in the area. POW's and documents taken after ground contact indicated that the 1st Battalion 141st Regi-ment (Artillery) was reported to have 140mm rocket capability. This unit is believed to have fired two of the 140mm rockets on the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines Command Post on 6 October 1968. (For enemy personnel and equipment losses see MAUI PEAK after. action report.)

b. MAMELUKE THRUST YF.

Main force Viet Cong units continued attempts to interdict the Main Supply Route from Liberty Bridge to the An Hoa Combat Base. NVA units believed to be in the area are the 3rd Sapper Battalion, elements of the R-20 Battalion which avoided any contact with 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines.

e. Henderson HILL.

Units of the NVA reported in the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines TAOR are the 2nd Battalion 368B Regiment (Artillery), the 80th Battalion 21st Regiment and Main Force Viet Cong units. On 22 October 1968 a large number of both VC and MVA were seen in the TAOR (Total sighting 447 people); Marine artillery missions and fixed wing air accounted for 157 VC/NVA NIA.

C. Training.

- 1. Two hundred sixty three Marines were processed through indoctrination training prior to their deployment to the field.
- 2. Division and higher level formal school training was as follows:

	a .	Division Leadership schools	11
•	b.	Basic Organic Supply Accounting	1	•
	°.	Division Embarkation School	1
	đ.	Vietnamese Banguage School	l,	• ;
	9.	Fiscal Clerk School	ı	.•
	ŕ	Embarkation School (Okinawa)	i

- 3. Five hundred twenty Marines attended gas chamber exercises.
  - D. Close Combat.
  - 1. See Part IV. Combat After Action, MAUI PEAK.

E. Fire Support.

- 1. Three firing batteries provided direct support for the Battalion; Battery I. 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines from 1. October to 5 October 1968. Battery E. 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines (reinforced by "C" platoon, 1st Armored Amphibian Company) 5 October to 19 October 1968. Nortar Battery 3rd Battalion, 11th. Marines from 10 October to 16 October 1968.
- 2. General support was provided by Battery K, 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines and a plateon of 8 inch self-propelled guns from the 11th Marines.

F. Air Support,

- 1. Tactical Air Support. A total of 120 tactical air support missions were flown in support of the Battalion consisting of 290 sorties.
- a. Close Air Support. The Battalion requested and controlled 25 missions consisting of 50 sorties. Of these missions, 15 were controlled by AIO/FAC (Ground) and 10 missions by TACA/FAC (Airborne).

G. Logistics.

- 1. For the greater part of October the Battalion was under the operational control of the 7th Marine Regiment. During that period the Battalion was required to coordinate all resupply requests with the LSU located at the 7th Marines Command Post at Hill 55.
- 2. Personnel from Battalion Supply and S-4 were sent to Hill 55 with the necessary gear and vehicles to support the Battalion from that location. All personnel and gear being sent between An Hoa and the Battalion had to be routed through Hill
- 3. Helicopter resupply from Hill 55 was supplemented by motor vehicle convoy and use of two LVT's attached to the Battalion. Four trucks from the 11th Motor Transport Battalion were TAD to the Battalion for this period of time. The two LVT's were utilized to transport and store supplies.
- 4. All resupply in the field was coordinated by Helicopter Support Teams attached to each company and the Battalion Command Group. When the Battalion moved back to the An Hoa area, all resupply was coordinated through the LSU at the An Hoa Combat Base.
- 5. Engineering support consisted of a three man team attached to each company and four attached to the Battalion Command Group. In addition to their normal duties, they were tasked with sweeping various sections of the road between Hill 65 and the vicinity of Hill 52 when the Battalion was operating in that area.
- 6. A contact team from FLC made a limited technical inspection of all the Battalion's crew-served weapons and M-79 grenade launchers.
- 7. The emparkation part of the Command and Material Inspection was completed with the Battalion receiving a satisfactory with minor discrepancies.

a. Supply.

(1) Receipt of 600 M17 gas masks late in the month brought the Battalion up to authorized T/E level. Distribution is currently underway to insure that all personnel are equipped with subject item. The Contract of the Contract o

- (2) An inspection of all rifles M16Al revealed that this Battalion had a total of 26 which do not have the chrome chamber. These are being exchanged for the chrome chambered weapon.
- (3) During Operation MAUI PEAK, the Battalion armory supplied one armorer to the field who performed small arms repair on individual and crew-served weapons.
- (4) A quantity of 850 Camouflage Rain Hats were received and issued to the field personnel of this command.
- (5) All monsoon requirements with the exception of rainsuits, wool shirts and sleeping shirts have been received and issued.

b. Motor Transport.

ACCIFIED

- (1) Schools were held on the various vehicles organic to the Battalion. Fifteen personnel attended.
- (2) With the coming monsoons instruction was given to all drivers on proper fording.
- (3) In complying with DivO. 4000.16 additional requirements of spare pasts and POL have been requested.
- (h) On October 21, 1968 an accident occured involving two Mil and two Mil vehicles. Two Marines were drewned as a result. Damage to the vehicles was approximately $100.

c. Medical.

- (1) The Battalion Aid Station consisted of two Medical Officers, one Chief Potty Officer and eighteen Hospital Corpsmen. The letter Companies were maintained at seven or eight Corpsmen per company with temporary lows of four or five Corpsmen. One Medical Officer and three Hospital Corpsmen were with the Battalion Command Group in the field.
- (2) There were six cases of emilia deping to
- (3) There were fourteen cases of veneral disease this month. Contacts were mostly returness from R&R and transients from CONUS with two cases from DaNang.
- (4) 1st Dental Company is maintaining a Dental Unit in the An Hoa area.
- (5) The Battalion Aid Station has been assigned the responsibility for preventive medicine and disease vector control for the An Hoa area.

(6)				patients
	Average	numbe	rof	patients	$\mathtt{por}$	day	36

(7) Routine Medical Complaints:

Gastrointestin	al Complaints	9
	Complaints
	50,
Malaria		6

H. Communications.

During this reporting period the Battalion completed two operations and commenced a third. The only communication difficulties encountered were on Operation MAUI PEAK, and this was limited to communicating from Battalion to the headquarters having operational control over the Battalion.

Again the PRC-77/KY-38 was in continuous use with outstanding results. Operational and maintenance problems utilizing this voice ciphering device were non-existent. This new equipment for secure voice transmission is a very great asset to tactical Marine units.

RC-292 antennaes have been utilized extensively in the field with success, typical of that equipment.

The Log Periodic Antenna (AS-2236/GRC) has been utilized in the rear area with undetermined results.

A second and limited third echelon LTI was made of all Battalion radios as each company's radios were made available.

Corrective action has been taken on discrepancies noted from the Embarkation inspection.

I. Civic Action.

During this reporting period, the Civic Action Program continued efforts to improve the welfare of the local Victnamese people. The Regimental Aid Station is training two Victnamese women in nursing. This program is designed to help care for the local populace, and if successful, additional women will be trained.

Twelve homes destroyed by fire in Thu Da (1) were rebuilt with CAP materials, and the essential farm tools and clothing destroyed by fire were also replaced by the Program.

A children's day mid-autumn festival was held at the So-Gap public school in Phu Da. Toys and candy were distributed.

Indoctrination on psychological operations are given to the hamlet chiefs on a continuing basis. With the rewards program, maximum use of hand leaflets, posters and face to face communication are part of an effort to have the local populate report weapons and surprise firing devices.

6. Supporting Arms.

a. Fire Support.

- (1) Battery E 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines, Battery W 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines and a platcon of the 1st Armored Amphibian Company were in direct support of the Battalion and provided close and continuous fire support for the operation.
- (2) Battery K, 3rd Battalion, 11th Marines and one platoon from the 3rd 8-inch Howitzer Battery furnished general support for the operation.
- (3) Communications on the Fire Direction Nets was considered excellent throughout the operation.
- (4) Large caliber weapons utilizing delay type fuzes were especially effective against fortified positions and trench lines.

b. Air Support.

- (1) Air Support was considered outstanding throughout the operation, except when curtailed by weather.
- (2) Medical evacuation, resupply, passenger lifts and tactical air support missions were responsive to command requirements.
- (3) During the pre-dawn hours of 7-10 October, Spooky gunships proved very effective in warding off ground attacks. That the attacks were rapidly suppressed was largely due to quick end accurate response of the Spooky aircraft. From the night of 10 October to the completion of the operation, the Battalion was able to obtain the all-night support of either a Spooky (weather permitting), a Flareship, or an alternation of the two. It appeared very evident that the early on station activities of these aircraft were a major deterent from further ground attacks.

7. Intelligence.

a. G-2 of the First Marine Division and S-2 7th Marines carried elements of the 21st Regiment (NVA), three battalions of the 141st Regiment (NVA), one battalion of the 368 Regiment (NVA artillery), one battalion of the 68B Regiment (VC/NVA) and elements of the 31st Quanda Regiment in the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines' area of operations. The mission for these units was that of interdiging road travel to Thuong Duc and harassment of friendly units and installations.

The first contact was at 060930H October 1968 in the saddle in the vicinity of ZC197561. This contact was light and involved about a platoon which held the high ground west of the saddle. The platoon was in shallow fighting holes and was overrun. The second contact was at 071600H in the vicinity of ZC190561 and was heavy. The contact was with a company size unit and was carried into the next day. The enemy company was well dug into the base of the hill at ZC190561. The olements at the base defied air preparation and turned back the first attempt to take the hill. The next day more direct fire was aimed at the base of the hill as well as the poak, and the remaining elements of the MVA company were overrun. The enemy company received some supporting mortar fire as the Marines moved up the hill, but lit was light and ineffective. Marines remained on the high ground for the rest of the operation. The Marine units took light herassing fire from mortars and light line probes with only one counterattack which was stopped. The NVA units did maintain anti-aircraft positions in the area and used it on supply aircraft and close air support in the area. As the have weather changed, the enemy avoided any other significant contact in this area of the operation in the latter days of the operation.

c. Company E. 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines received the only sizeable counter attack which it turned back, but the Company did take one FOW and documents indicating the 1st Battalion, lillst Regiment was the unit in contact. At the start of the - properation, the unit received incoming 140mm rocket fire, indicating the 3rd Battalion, 366B Regiment was within its stated area of operation northeast of Second Battalion's position. No contact was made with any other unit reported to be in the Battalion's TAOR.

8. Mission.

Initially occupy Fire Support Base at Hill 52 and be prepared to attack on order to relieve friendly elements at Thuong Duc Special Forces Camp.

9. Concept of Operations.

Second Battalion (-) Rein attack to the Northwest along Routo #4 to seize the high ground vicinity Hill 100. Establish blocking positions along high ground from ZC194561 along line to ZC203564.

10. Execution.

At 060930H, the point man of a Company E patrol detonated a "tomato can" type explosive device rigged with trip wire at AT890491. Results: 2 USMC Evac.

At 061315H, while assaulting a hill at ZC198559, Company G received automatic weapons and B-40 rocket fire from an estimated platoon of NVA. Air strikes and 60mm HE were called in. Utilizing its units for a base of fire, Company G successfully took its objective on the third assault. Results: Two USMC KIA, 16 USMC WIA-Evac and 12 NBC Evac, nine NVA KIA and capture of two AK-47 rifles, one B-40 rocket launcher, ten ChiCom grenades and assorted military gear.

At 070405H Company G in defensive position at ZC195561, was attacked by an estimated two squads of NVA supported by B-40 rockets and 82mm mortars. As the enemy closed, the defensive position returned small arms and automatic weapons fire, grenades and 38 rounds of 81mm mortars, and called for and received a spooky gunship. At 070550H the enemy broke contact. Results: Five USMC MIA, Four USMC WIA Evac, Three NVA KIA and capture of two AK-47 rifles and one SKS.

At ealied for and received extensive preparation fire on a hill at ZC190560. After the fire was lifted, the 2nd platoon came under intense rifle and automatic weapons fire and B-40 rocket fire from an estimated two reinforced NVA platoons in numerous fighting holes and fortified bunkers. Company G, providing supporting fire, came under heavy semi-automatic and automatic weapons fire from vicinity ZC195561 and ZC189562. Due to the heavy volume of fire from enemy emplacements, Company A pulled back and called for additional supporting fires. Results: 12 USNC WIA, 27 NVA KIA by Marine Air and 15 NVA KIA by assculting infantry.

At 081610H, immediately after an artillery prep fire, Company E began to assault its objective at ZC190561. As the lead elements, supported by four 90mm tanks, maneuvered to the base of the hill, they came under moderate small arms fire from across the Song Vu Gia River, vicinity ZC193553. At 1700H, two platoens on line from ZC190558 to ZC192558 assaulted the hill. At 1715H, the load elements reached the crest, and by 1730H, the Company had secured the hill.

bad secured the hill.

During the advance, the assaulting units received three rounds of incoming 82mm mortar fire from 20192567 and 20194544.

A counter mortar mission of 130 rounds 81mm and one flight of fixed wing sincraft were called, and both mortar positions were silenced with a secondary explosion observed at 20192567. The small arms and automatic weapons fire received from across the river during the assault was suppressed by artillery fire.

Company G, supporting the assault troops by fire, received incoming small arms and 50 caliber machinegun fire from ZC192566. An 81mm and 60mm mortar mission silenced the enemy guns. Results: One USMC KIA, eight USMC WIA Evac, one USMC WIA Non-Evac, and 37 NVA KIA.

At 090100H, Company A, in defensive positions, came under a coordinated enemy probe consisting of mortars, B-40 rockets, grenades and small arms fire. Results: Two USMC KIA, three USMC WIA-Evac, one MVA KIA and capture of one AK-47 rifle.

At 091130H, Company A observed one automatic weapons site. Artillery was called and one body was seen blown into the air. Results: One NVA KIA.

12. Administration and Logistics.

a. Supply.

(1) Helicopter Support Teams attached to each company and the Battalion Command Group coordinated all resupply for Operation MAUI PEAK. Resupply was made by helicopter and motor vehicle from the LSU at Hill 55.

- (2) LVT's attached to the Battalion were utilized to transport supplies from Hill 52 to the Battalion Command Post. Two days rations and ammunition were stored in the LVT's. માં એ તો વિવસ્તાન પૂર્વ પ્રાપ્ય છે. મુખ્યાના જિલ્લામાં મુખ્ય કર્યો છે.
  - (3) Personnel from Battalion Supply and S-l were sent to Hill 55 to coordinate resupply with the LSU and 7th Marines! S-1.

b. Treatment of Casulaties and Hospitalization.

(1) There were no significant problems encountered during Operation MAUI PEAK.

c. Transportation.

- (1) Four trucks from the 11th Motor Transport Battalion were TAD to the Battalion and were utilized to make resupply runs from Hill 55 to Hill 52 until the road was closed by heavy flooding.
  - (2) Helicopter resupply was utilized for all units that could not be resupplied by road.
- (3) Heavy rains impeded both air and ground vehicles and affected the operation of the Battalion. Resupply and troop movement throughout the monsoon season will continue to be a sig-nificant problem.
- (4) Otters were utilized to make resupply runs from Hill 55 to Hill 52 long after LVT's ceased to operate. Heavy rains made movement of LVT's impossible.

d. Communications.

- (1) Inter-Battalion radio communications experienced no difficulties.
- (2) RC-292 antennae were employed to communicate with 7th Marines and 5th Marines rear.
- (3) Radio communications from the Battalion Command Post to the 7th Marines encountered many difficulties due to poor retransmission and distances involved. When available, RT-524 radios in the amphibious tractors were used in lieu of the PRC-25 to restore communications.
- (4) Radio communication from the Battalion Command Post to the 5th Marines Rear was quite reliable.
- (5) KY-38/PRC-77 was employed with satisfactory results when used to communicate with the An Hoa area. However, difficulties were encountered in communicating with the 7th Marines on the covered nets.

(1) Engineering assistance consisted of three engineers attached to each company and four engineers attached to the Bat-talion Command Post.

(2) In addition to their normal duties, the engineers were tasked with sweeping various sections of the road between Hill 65 and the Battalion Command Post.

13. Commander's Analysis.

The flexibility of Marine tactical units was reaffirmed in this operation. A composite Battalion of four rifle companies derived from three different infantry battalions and a command group was inserted into the operation on short notice. The quick assembly and organization of this force into an effective fighting unit, accomplished without loss of continuity, was due to the combat readiness and professionalism of the units which participated.

The attack by 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines was intended as a feint but developed into a major contact with the 1st Battalion, list Regiment. This unit had been positioned to interdict Route #4, the natural route of apporach for a relief column to Thuong Duc. The high ground in the vicinity of ZC189560 and ZC201562 affords observation from west of Thuong Duc to Hill 55 and will no doubt be outposted or defended by VC/NVA units whenever possible.

The early use of Spooky and flare ships probably precluded any further night attacks on the Battalian's positions after the assault on Company E during the early morning of 12 October 1968.

14. Recommendations.

Mail to mainly to the grain with

- (1) That some means be instituted to more accurately predict communications difficulties to be encountered within the geographical limits of the area of operations, and plans be made for alternate means of direct or relayed communication.
- (2) That more extensive use of Spooky and flareships be made as a method of preventing night attacks rather than as a recourse to attack.

7. Intelligence.

And the same of th

- a. Information received from S-2, 5th Marines indicated that the 2nd and 3rd Battalions of the NVA 36th Regiment were within the TAOR as well as small Local Main Force Viet Cong units. Usually reliable sources indicated the presence of the NVA units in Battalion size at Phu Mhuan (8) (vicinity AT888505) Phu Mhuan (3) (vicinity AT900505) and Chau Phong (1) (vicinity AT943502).
- b. Consistent with their mission local Main Force Viet Cong units made repeated attempts to interdict the LBR between Liberty Bridge and the An Hoa Combat Base. This was done by mines against vehicular traffic, surprise firing devices against road sweep teams and long distance sniping at motor convoys. A Viet Cong unit also fired on the security for the local populace herevesting rice.

8. Mission.

To locate and destroy enemy forces, base creas, and caches of materiel and supplies. Secondary missions included providing for the security of Liberty Bridge and protecting the MSR.

9. Concept of Operations.

During the first month the mission was accomplished by maintaining one company in a holding position at Phu Lac (6); one company at An Hoa, and the remainder of the Battalian conducting Search and Clear operations throughout its assigned AO.

The Battalion Command Group and the two companies which operated independently, engaged the NVA/VC in close combat on frequent occasions with the most significant contacts being at the Phu Nhuan and Cu Bon village co plexes South of the Song Thu Bon River. Heavy resistance was encountered in the vicinity of La Thap (1).

In conjunction with the primary mission of denying the enemy use of his base areas, considerable time and effort was devoted to destroying defensive positions of uncovered fortified villages.

From 17 August the Second Battalion, in conjunction with the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines and the 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines, participated in a regimental-size cordon and search operation in the vicinity of Chou Phong village. For this operation the company in garrison at An Hoa was released, and for the balance of the month, the Battalion continued to maneuver with three of its companies in the field. The Battalion continued to maneuver NorthWest to Go Noi Island and on 29 August commenced Operation SUSSEM BAY. On 11 September the Second Battalion resumed its participation in Operation MAMELUME THRUST with an additional mission to provide security for the local rice harvest.

12. Administration and Logistics.

a. Supply.

- (1) Helicopter support teams attached to each rifle Company and the Battalion Command Group coordinated all resupply for operation MANELUKE THRUST II. Classes I, and V resupply was made by helicopter from LSA at An Hoa with no significant problems.
- (2) LVT's loaded with classes I, II and V supplies were attached to the Companies thus increasing their capabilities to be self sustained for a longer period, in case of helicopter non-availability.
  - (3) When the tactical situation permitted the Battalion Command Group and Companies were resupplied by truck convoys along Liberty Road.
  - (4) Two armorers accompanied the Cattalion Command Group to save time by repairing weapons in the field rather than evacuating all weapons to the rear for repair.

b. Communications.

(1) The versatile PRC-77/KY-38 voice ciphering unit was continually employed with great success with no maintainance or operational problems.

(2) During September the Battalion received and employed the newly introduced Log Periodic Antenna (AS-2236/GRC). This new antenna increased the VHF operating ranges.

c. Treatment of Casualties and Hospitalization.

On 6 August 1968, three canisters of napalm were dropped on a platoon of Company F. This action resulted in 26 men being severely burned. There were a significant number, approximately the hold extensive 2nd and 3rd degree burns.

It, who had extensive 2nd and 3rd degree burns.

Both Battalion Surgeons were with the Command Group about 75 meters from the impact area. Although a large amount of medical equipment was available on an LVT there was not a sufficient supply of Vascline gauge to cope with a disaster of this magnitude. A large supply of this item is not carried as it is usually of use only in closing sucking chost wounds.

The major problem at the time of this disaster was the hysteria of the burned men. The calmoss and maturity of the Navy Corpsmen and the Marine command in controlling this excitement was most commendable.

Fortunately a CH-53 in the area responded rapidly to a Medevac call and within 15 minutes all but two of the burned mon were evacuated. Consequently the stress on the medical supplies on hand was not great, and a larger than usual amount of medical supplies was hand, the only item required on emergency resupply was Vaseline gauze.

13. Commander's Analysis.

Contacts with the enemy in the area of operation indicate he uses the area for rice collection and rest as well as a staging area. Normally he does not contest control of the area with Marine units larger than company size. The typical contact was with a plateon sized NVA or VC unit. Some of these probably were moving through the area and incovertently made contact. Others were cortainly outposts and screens for larger sized units in the area.

The major contacts during the period, occured on 6 August 1968 and again on 18 August 1968 in the vicinity of Chau Phong (2) (AT 9449). Enomy units involved were probably elements of the 36th MVA Regiment.

On 30 and 31 August 1968 elements from Company H ambushed two large groups of enemy along the Song Ky Lam near BT 0155. These forces were attempting to flee from the 7th Marines and ARVN operations to the north of the river.

Although the enemy continued to saturate approach routes to his base areas with mines and surprise firing devices, the effective ness of this tactic was greatly reduced whenever the situation allowed a slow, systematic, deliberate sweep. This was evident from 14 to 16 August when Companies G and H swept through Phu Nhuan (5) and (3) and succeeded in uncovering and destroying over 60 surprise firing devices while only four were inadvertently detenated by personnel or tracked vehicles.

It is believed the enemy will attempt to engage friendly units up to company size at selected points within the area. It is re-commended that operations conducted in the area consist of either baiting the enemy with plateen size units capable of rapid reinforcement or conducting corden and search operations of selected areas, insuring the blocking forces completely isolate the objective.

The great majority of enemy surprise firing devices are constructed from U. S. munitions, or from explosives taken from U. S. munitions. The VC/NVA recover not only dropped and lost munitions but also duds. If all filler were mixed with a small amount of radioactive material there would be a simple, nearly foolproof method of detecting surprise firing devices.
