PART II NARRATIVE SUMMARY

With the exception of an emergency communication system set up by Radio Relay and Construction Company, commitments remained essentially unchanged.

Communication Company continued to support 1st and 3rd Marine Division communication requirements with equipment and personnel deployed to Task Force Yankee and Hotel respectively.

Communication Support Company continued in support of the 2nd ROK Marine Brigade at Hoi An. Other communication commitments were in the Danang area: 1st Medical Battalion, 1st MP Battalion, 1st MAW Communication Center and the 1st Marine Regiment. The radio, telephone and communication center needs of this Battalion were also met by Communication Support Company as usual.

Radio Relay and Construction Company continued carrying out its role of providing radio relay and cable communication facilities within the Danang area and throughout the 1st Marine Division TAOR. As mentioned above, an emergency communications system to back up land lines was planned and implemented on short notice just before TET. Although it never became necessary to place this system in operation, its existence contributed greatly to the readiness posture of the 1st Marine Division.

Besides carrying out its many and varied commitments, February saw the Battalion concerned with perfecting its defense/reaction capability in anticipation of the TET (17, 18 & 19 February) offensive. Although the offensive never really materialized, the Battalion remained on the alert for enemy action thru the end of the month. Rockets fired in vicinity of Danang on 23, 25 and 26 February provided dramatic evidence of the enemy's presence and ability to inflict damage.

February also saw the Battalion making final preparation for the Command Material Management Inspection to be conducted by LtCol ANDRILIUNAS and his 12 inspectors from Division. Although special emphasis was placed on embarkation, all areas were undergoing preliminary inspections thru the latter part of the month.

Finally, mention of the Battalion's infantry role must be made, for in addition to maintaining and manning rather elaborate field fortifications, the Battalion participated in two sweeps for the Southern Sector Defense Command.

Narrative Summary

Radio Relay and Construction Company continued to provide radio relay support throughout the III MAF TAOR, and continued to install, maintain and repair the telephone cable system within the 1st MarDiv TAOR and adjacent areas. Work and maintenance throughout the company progressed at a satisfactory rate. The company completed 1st MarDiv Work Orders 2-69, 3-69, 6-69, 8-69, 9-69, and 10-69.

Personnel and equipment remained deployed in support of 2nd ROK Marine Brigade (Hoi An), Task Force Hotel (Vande grift Combat Base), Task Force Yankee (Hill 244 and An Hoa), and 5th Marines (An Hoa). Additional personnel and equipment were deployed to 1st MarDiv (Hill 244), 1st Tank Bn (Da Nang), 5th CommBn (Da Nang), and 1st MAW (Da Nang), and equipment was installed within the battalion CP (Hill 34), in support of the emergency communications plan described below. Radio relay operation continued to be hampered by a shortage of operational generators and AN/TCC-3 terminals. In addition, AN/TRC-97E multichannel radio sets experienced an unsatisfactorily large number of electronic failures during the month; appropriate UER's are being drafted on both this problem and design/operational deficiencies noted in the newly recieved RU-670 generators.

Cable construction and maintenance proceeded at a high level, considering personnel and equipment limitations.

The inauguration during the month of an emergency communications system for the TET period represented a significant accomplishment for the command. Upon verbal receipt of the concept from the 1st MarDiv CTO, this company formulated a plan for redio relay terminals and cable cross-connections to back up critical 1st MarDiv cables. Four AN/TRC-97E terminals and two AN/TRC-27 terminals were made wherever possible, and deployed, required cross-connects were made wherever possible, and traffic/hot line diagrams with explanatory remarks were printed and distributed to all commands affected. The plan was made, equipment and personnel deployed, and terminals tested on the same day (14 Feb 1969) that the requirement was received; cross-connects were completed and diagrams were distributed on the following day.

PART II NARRATIVE SUMMARY

During March 1969 a high percentage of personnel and equipment were deployed in operational communication commitments throughout I Corps. Six (6) times in March, the Battalion was alerted for rocket attacks. On one night the signal for ground attack was given. The increase in operational requirements along with the security needs of the Battalion presented the opportunity to continue using the Battalion's assets and personnel to the fullest extent. As all commitments increased, the amount of enlisted personnel on hand continued to decrease. Training in general military subjects, specialist training, use of infantry weapons, and upgrading of preventative maintanance were continued. Civic Action projects in Phong Bac and Yen Bac continued at a high rate.

Communication Company continued to support Task Force Hotel. Uncommitted personnel of the company served in the security system, supported the Hill 34 patrol force, conducted preventative maintenance, and continued training.

Communication Support Company continued with existing support and security requirements. An additional radio team was provided for the 7th Marines.

Radio Relay and Construction Company continued to provide radio relay support throughout I Corps. Progress was made in laying additional cable throughout the 1st MarDiv TAOR. Maintenance of existing cable systems continued. Security commitments for the company remained the same.
