ENCLOSURE (1)

~~SECRET~~PART IINARRATIVE SUMMARY1. General Overview of Activities

This command has been primarily concerned with improving its combat readiness equipment posture. Rebuild and rehabilitation of communications-electronics equipment and motor transport items has been a continuous process.

2. Command Relations

This command is designated as a separate battalion under opcon/adcon of Commanding General, 3rd Marine Division (-)(Rein), FMF.

3. Personnel and Administration

Personnel has been a continual problem since arrival on Okinawa. Manning level is set at 72.9% of T/O. However, the manning level has never been reached. At present, the on-hand strength is sixteen (16) officers, two hundred and seventy-nine (279) enlisted, forty-nine (49) percent of T/O.

4. Training

Training has been as extensive as possible consistent with the personnel situation. Items covered have been the essential subjects relative to the command's needs and ability to cover these subjects. Venereal disease, drug abuse, land navigation, NBC, crew-served weapons, the Uniform Code of Military Justice, Okinawa customs and traditions, physical conditioning and close order drill have occupied the vast majority of the GMS training time. Technical (MOS) training is a continuous process.

CG FMFPac inspected this command on 15 June 1970.

5. Operations/Deployments

Operations and deployments have been held to a minimum. Communications Company has a radio circuit in operation between Mt. Fuji, Japan and Camp Courtney. This command is responsible for the Mt. Fuji terminal with stand-by responsibility for the Okinawa terminal. Radio Relay & Construction Company receives radio-relay commitments in support of division units for field exercises.

Operation "Golden Dragon" was supported by this command with personnel and equipment. Ninety-four (94) officers and men were formed into a Provisional Communications Platoon from the battalion to operate the communication circuits of 11th MEB. Capt. D. B. MURPHY was the Officer-in-Charge. The platoon was formed on 20 Mar 1970. The dates of the operation were 15-25 April 1970. A copy of the post-exercise report is included as Part IV.

6. Equipment

New equipment received to date includes two AN/MRC-124, one AN/FRC-123, eight PU-719, six PU-720, and one PU-721. The R&E program resulted in the exchange of 14 M35A2C trucks, one lube & service unit, two AN/MRC-62, one AN/FRC-63, seven AN/MRC-83, five AN/FRC-47 and two SB-22. One AN/MRC-124 was replacement for one AN/MRC-87.

The command's AN/TTC-28 is on temporary loan to CG MCB Camp Butler as a replacement for the Camp Haugc telephone exchange.

Equipment readiness has averaged 79% for this period.

7. Logistics

Supply status on Combat Essential items has averaged 96% on-hand.

An FMFPac Maintenance and Material inspection was conducted on 15 June 1970.

1. Enclosure (1) is the current revision and is submitted to provide the specific requirements for communication-electronics(C-E) personnel to be task organized as the Provisional Communication Support Platoon, 11th Marine Expeditionary Brigade.
2. A requirement for two additional communication personnel will be included in a request presently being prepared by this Headquarters. The following amplifying information is provided:
  - a. One Master Sergeant(MOS 2591) has been requested. This individual will fill the billet of Communication Chief, 11th Marine Expeditionary Brigade.
  - b. One Staff Sergeant(MOS 2538) has been requested. This individual will fill the billet as Radio Chief for the Brigade FSCC. This is a key billet within the center and should be filled by someone preferably with artillery communications experience.
3. On 2 February 1970, a Table of Equipment for the Communication Support Platoon was forwarded to your Headquarters. This document is currently being revised and a copy will be provided in the near future. The aforementioned document is sufficient to commence initial planning.
4. It is requested that the key personnel indicated by asterisk in enclosure (1) and those in paragraph 2 above, be designated and made available to this Headquarters for planning purposes only by 9 March 1970.

ELEVENTH ME3 AMPHIB CPX (U)

1. (U) THE ELEVENTH ME3 HAS JUST COMPLETED A MOST SUCCESSFUL AMPHIBIOUS COMMAND POST EXERCISE. AS A RESULT, THE BRIGADE NOW STANDS MUCH BETTER PREPARED TO ACCOMPLISH ANY FUTURE MISSION. THE PROFESSIONAL AND COOPERATIVE CONTRIBUTION BY EACH PARTICIPATING UNIT MADE THIS ACHIEVEMENT POSSIBLE AND FURTHER ENHANCES THE READINESS OF THE NAVY-MARINE CORPS TEAM. PLEASE EXTEND A WELL DONE TO ALL MEMBERS OF THE MARINE EXPEDITIONARY BRIGADE.

3. GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF EXERCISE

Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON was a controlled, combined, amphibious exercise conducted during the period 15-25 April 1970 in the vicinity of Pohang, Republic of Korea. D-Day was 21 April 1970. COMNAVFORKOREA was the Officer Scheduling Exercise. COMSEVENTHFLT was the Officer Directing the Exercise. COMPHIBFORSEVENTHFLT was the Officer Conducting the Exercise and Commander Amphibious Task Force. The Commanding General, 11th Marine Expeditionary Brigade, TG 79.1, was Commander Landing Force. The exercise was conducted in coordination with the U.S. MAAG Korea, the Commandant ROKMC, Commander Naval Forces Korea and Commander ROK Navy. The participating forces consisted of U.S. Navy, U.S. Marine, ROK Navy and ROK Marine units. There was a tactical surface move U.S. forces from Okinawa to the Amphibious Objective Area (AOA), where the Navy and Marine forces for the MEB conducted the amphibious assault. A company size raid was conducted on D-1, and a tactical withdrawal was executed during the last day of the exercise.

4. TRAINING OBJECTIVES

The exercise was principally designed to train participating forces in planning and executing a combined PHIBLEX to include embarkation, movement to the AOA, raids, amphibious assault and tactical withdrawal from the AOA, and to train the amphibious group, the MEB staff and all participating staffs for the planning and executing of amphibious operations. In addition, the MEB established 14 training objectives to be achieved by the Landing Force during the course of the exercise. The attainment of these objectives was evaluated by the TEC as being successful. However, in compliance with its mission to review and evaluate the operations of the MEB, the TEC considers that increased emphasis is necessary to be placed on selected subjects relative to individual and small unit training. Principally, these subjects are those dictated by the nature of amphibious, or continuously mobile offensive type operations wherein the units must provide for security and establish defensive positions without the benefit of a fixed fire support base. Map reading continues to be one of the perennial problems, as does the individual training in the disciplines of field bivouac; i.e., field sanitation, security, camouflage. Many of the comments and recommendations arising out of this exercise are considered within the purview of the participating units for correction. They have been so treated in a presentation and report to them. Only those comments considered applicable to other members of FMFPac have been included in enclosures (1) and (2).

5. TACTICAL EXERCISE CONTROL

The TEC generally controlled the exercise, inserted events, influenced and evaluated portions of the 11th MEB Operations. The TEC control organization was composed of three major elements, the Tactical Exercise Control Group; the Umpire Group; and the Aggressor Group. There was no actor unit established for this exercise. The TEC Headquarters and Umpire table of organization was 40 officers and 136 enlisted personnel. The sources from which these personnel were drawn:

I MEF	6 officers	7 enlisted
3rd Marine Division	25 officers	101 enlisted
1st Marine Air Wing (Rear)	9 officers	28 enlisted

The TEC exercised overall control at the MEB level, while the Umpire Control Group controlled at subordinate levels, to include the infantry platoon. The command section was headed by Brigadier General KIM, ROK Marine Corps, with two tactical exercise headquarters; one U.S., and the other Korean with the normal staff functional sections to provide respective input to the problem.

a. TEC Headquarters Group

The TEC exercised control basically through a scenario, which was established in three overlapping segments, that covered three time frames:

D-30 to D-Day
 D-1 (Raid), and
 D-Day to D+4

The D-30 to D-Day segment contained approximately 90 situations/events/information, which were inserted into the exercise by the TEC on pre-determined dates. These events provided material for the changes to the intelligence situations and provided a basis upon which the 11th MEB expanded its OPLAN and modified its scheme of maneuver. Each event was specifically designed to provide intelligence which required evaluation by the MEB as to its effect on one of the following:

Raid Objective
Reinforcement Threat
Threat to Recon Units
Threat to the Landing Force
General Intelligence Play
Movement of Aircraft to Taegu
Movement of Aircraft to Pohang

The TEC inserted additional events that added to the intelligence picture as the exercise progressed.

On D-1, the 11th MEB conducted a company size raid. During the period of this raid, there was a separate sequence of 12 events inserted to provide for situations to be encountered by the raid element. In addition to these constructive events, the aggressor deployed an actual platoon size unit to oppose the raid and offer enough resistance to force the raid company to deploy maneuver elements.

The D-Day to D+4 segment contained a sequence of scheduled events, which were inserted either within a predetermined time frame, or when the 11th MEB units reached a certain location in their advance towards their objectives. Inputs of 2 or more events per day were issued to each unit by the umpire of that unit. On a scheduled basis there were over 300 scheduled events with additional non-scheduled or opportunity events inserted by the unit umpire whenever, in his judgement, an appropriate constructive or actual situation could be inserted. The opportunity events were originated to ensure that all staff sections received some traffic that required response by higher headquarters.

Another control feature was the use of the phase line. This control feature was modified to meet the ability of the MEB units to cope with the events inserted and actual terrain conditions, but, generally the advance of the units was held within these phase line limits.

The TEC was in Korea sufficiently early, 16 April, to permit testing communications from each of the MEB objectives and to orient members of the TEC with the actual terrain.

b. UMPIRE GROUP

Umpires commenced evaluating at the command "Land the Landing Force". They commenced insertion of scheduled events once the MEB units landed on the beach. No interference events were inserted during the ship-to-shore phase.

The umpires, assigned to the participating units, served as TEC representatives for control purposes, inserted events into the exercise and evaluated the unit in its accomplishment of its training objectives.

Check lists were made for the umpires to use as points of departure in their evaluation procedures, however, evaluation was not restricted to the questionnaire contents of the check list, of which there were 16 different staff section listings, but were made on any aspect of the exercise. The umpire handbook was issued to each umpire and to each of the units being umpired. Some of the umpire units were mobile so as to be able to cover all the units and functions that were initially planned to be evaluated, since not all line numbers of the T/O were filled.

Umpire school was conducted for a period of three days. This consisted of general orientation, terrain briefing, communications procedures, maneuver area restrictions, radio drill, and a communications exercise. In addition, a special class was conducted to qualify drivers.

c. AGGRESSOR GROUP

The 3rd Reconnaissance Battalion provided an aggressor force of approximately 220 men, to conduct the U.S. aggressor exercise play within the U.S. Zone of Action of the 11th MEB forces. The ROK Marines had two companies from their 5th Marines to act as aggressors in the Korean zone of action. An aggressor battalion strength has a T/O total of 631. Therefore, the difference between actual and aggressor T/O was constructive, most of which was the supporting arms element of the aggressor battalion. The initial defense of the aggressors was dictated by the proposed scheme of maneuver of the MEB. Subsequent to that, the aggressors deployed as directed by the TEC.

Approximately 100 of the aggressors of the Reconnaissance Battalion departed Okinawa for Korea, 10 April, and arrived in Korea by LST on 13 April. The remainder of the TEC and Aggressors departed Okinawa, 15 April by air. The Reconnaissance Battalion had 3 days of training; one day of water training with rubber boats; one day of mountain warfare training, using ROK facilities; and one day of live firing with small arms on the ROK ranges. There were two days of rehearsals for the exercise on D-3 and D-2.

6. Extreme weather conditions affected the Naval support of the MEB during the back loading of units over the beaches, and necessitated a delay of approximately 18 hours during the withdrawal phase.

7. A listing of comments, discussions and recommendations is contained in enclosures (1) and (2).

8. A review of reference (a) is being made the subject of separate correspondence.

LANDING FORCE OPERATIONS

1. The Landing Force Operations of Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON were conducted to attain the two objectives given in the Letter of Instruction issued by the Officer Scheduling the Exercise. These two main objectives were further sub-divided into fourteen training objectives for the Landing Force.

a. The TEC evaluated the accomplishment of the objectives as very satisfactory. The exercise did highlight several areas which need improvement, especially training. Comments upon these highlights have been submitted to the Landing Force for appropriate action and are not contained within this report as they pertain to specific areas which can be improved by the unit and are not considered to be of primary importance to the overall Western Pacific Forces.

b. The comments upon the topics contained in FMFPac Order P3340.2A are submitted as those which have bearing upon future exercise of this type regardless of the command conducting the exercise.

ORGANIZATION

a. Comment: There was insufficient attention given to the reduction of the aggressor air threat.

Discussion: After the constructive pre-D-Day redeployment of aggressor aircraft, and destruction of all but 36, the constructive aggressor air threat was essentially de-emphasized. Constructive air strikes were initiated by TEC to conduct strikes on landing force elements by notifying the unit umpire of a strike and the time it would take place. Some of these inserts were ignored by participating units; others were assessed unrealistic minimum damage, or no damage, and the units made no effort to report the threat. This constructive aggressor air situation should have been the cause for a request to higher headquarters for neutralization. Instead, the Landing Force requested that aggressor air strikes be decreased since they caused harassment of the ground troops, and the troops were not responding.

Recommendation: That the troops be better indoctrinated in their response to aggressor air in defensive measures, and that an air threat be considered cause for action to effect neutralization of it.

PLANS AND ORDERS

a. Comment: Planning continuity and closer coordination of participating forces on a continuing basis.

Discussion:

There is an apparent need for emphasis on continual planning for staffs of participating forces. The geographically dispersed nature of participating forces for any exercise creates difficulties in planning certain aspects of the exercise. Since Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON was a training exercise, it was possible for certain unilateral decisions to be made without detriment of the other parties; however, with continuous updating/planning, many problem areas would be alleviated. This would allow more time to be devoted to in-depth planning, training, and coordination of efforts between participating forces. With the withdrawal of forces from Vietnam, increased emphasis must be placed upon updating existing contingency operation plans. To enhance the efforts toward continuity of planning and updating of current contingency plans, a quarterly Planex of Marine, Navy and allied country representatives utilizing existing contingency plans would accomplish both continuity of staff planning and the updating of plans. The knowledge and experience gained from participation in a quarterly Planex would enable an organizational staff to formulate plans in a more expeditious manner for future amphibious exercises.

Recommendation:

1. That a quarterly Planex utilizing existing contingency operation plans be conducted between the staff of TF 76 and TF 79.
2. That after each Planex, the staffs review and update the SOP's.

CONDUCT OF GROUND OPERATIONS*a. Comment:

The Landing Force had selected CP locations, routes of march, etc., prior to D-Day through a comprehensive liaison visit to the area.

Discussion:

In an actual situation liaison to the Area of Operation is virtually impossible. To be as realistic as possible, training exercises should be limited in the same manner to enable commands to obtain training in reconnaissance, selection and occupation of positions. This would allow the Headquarters organizations to train in one of the basic but neglected areas of combat. Possible lengthening of the exercise would be necessary to allow adequate time to develop the area prior to passing control from ship to shore, but the training gained is well worth the efforts involved.

Recommendation: That consideration be given to denying the Landing Force the opportunity to conduct administrative ground reconnaissance prior to D-Day on future exercises.

SUPPORTING ARMS COORDINATION

a. Comment: Supporting Arms were not utilized to their best advantage.

Discussion: The use of supporting arms (artillery) was effectively planned throughout the operation. However, actual displacement of these units closer to the supported unit was restricted by the terrain and the limited availability of helicopter support. The artillery units from their D-Day positions were capable of supporting the maneuver element in the AOA, but not beyond. Support by helicopters would have enhanced the flexibility of the artillery by allowing displacement of units to forward positions so as to be able to support the attack and increase the area coverage by supporting arms to targets outside the AOA, thus being able to interdict the Aggressor Force. The response of the batteries to a call for fire was excellent, even though "W" Battery was only called upon to fire 50 rounds during the entire operation. Clearances for fire missions were slow. In one instance, clearance for a fire mission was not granted because it was too close to a boundary. This boundary was the internal MEB boundary between the US and ROK Marine Forces. Since no clearance was granted, the mission was not acted upon.

Recommendation:

1. That renewed emphasis be placed upon the utilization of artillery as the primary fire support source available to the Landing Force.
2. That artillery be supported by the use of helicopters for rapid displacement when the terrain and tactical situation warrant it.

INTELLIGENCE

a. Comment: POW processing and interrogation was not properly accomplished.

Discussion:

In five separate instances, Aggressor POW's were inserted with documentary or oral information and none were properly processed or interrogated. In most cases it was necessary for the POW to volunteer his information or present his document to the capturing unit (all documents were carried in the left breast pocket). One event was inserted twice. When it was first inserted on a particular objective on D-Day, the POW could find no one who would capture him. When he surrendered himself to a PFC he was told that the PFC was not capable of capturing a POW. The aggressor walked around on the objective until near dark and then returned to the aggressor CP (Aggressors wore jungle utilities for identification). On D+1 he was again inserted on the same objective and encountered the same difficulty. Eventually, a corporal captured him. From this point on, he was properly processed and interrogated. Even though this is just one example, the general attitude exhibited by the capturing units was that they were in too much of a hurry to get to the next objective to be concerned with POW's.

Recommendation:

That increased emphasis be placed on handling and processing of POW's with stress upon the intelligence value of captured documents and information secured by interrogators.

b. Comment:

The Visual Reconnaissance activity of the US/ Allied Aerial Observer Unit was minimal.

Discussion:

During the exercise there was no assignment of visual reconnaissance missions to Air Observers except for one mission dealing with the raid objective, and one on late D+2. This could be the result of the AO's being used for NGF and artillery spotting missions and forward air controlling (airborne) missions. There were no Korean AO's effectively utilized by the Allied country, nor were provisions made by U.S. forces to integrate allied AO's for visual reconnaissance.

Recommendation:

1. That air observer assets be managed for a greater visual reconnaissance capability.
2. That the AOA be visually reconnoitered by combined US/Allied AO's early during the operation.

LOGISTICS

a. Comment:

The medical facilities and supplies available would have been considered inadequate if a large number of casualties were incurred in an actual operation.

Discussion:

On D+2, a MEDCAP/DENTCAP was held at the children's elementary school at HWASAW, KOREA. This action was very successful and over 500 persons were treated with available medical supplies. Over 100 teeth were extracted and other persons treated for dental problems. However, the Battalion Aid Station, Clearing Platoon and Beach Evacuation Station, brought insufficient supplies ashore for a prolonged operation. The locations for the Clearing Platoon and the 3/9 BAS were well protected and camouflaged. The location on the open beach was not desireable. Delays of 1 to 4 hours occurred during some actual medical evacuations of simulated casualties. Litter bearers were not utilized. It is required that medical units coming ashore should have complete mount-out supply of medical gear. The Beach Evacuation Station should take full advantage of all natural cover and concealment and be moved off the beach to a more advantageous location. All units should have ready access to a predesignated, non-tactical medical evacuation helicopter for actual and constructive emergencies. An actual water supply problem arose when the water point was found to contain water that was unfit for human consumption because of the chlorine level. Some elements of 3/9 were unable to obtain some supplies, including water, due to lack of helicopter support and an established Beach Support Area.

Recommendations:

1. That units train litter bearers enabling hospital corpsman to be used primarily for treatment of casualties.
2. That medical units increase the amount of supplies for an Amphibious Operation and for MEDCAPS/DENTCAPS.
3. That water samples be taken immediately for analyzation upon initial installation of the water point.

4. That a Beach Support Area be established off the beach close to a helicopter landing zone with sufficient medical supplies and communications available to handle any routine or emergency medical resupply situation that might arise.

CONTROL ORGANIZATION OPERATIONS

1. The Control Organization Operations of Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON were basically developed from the procedures outlined in FMFPac Order P3340.2A. Liberties were taken with the FMFPac Order in an attempt to trim personnel requirements, reduce umpire training time and to find a less difficult method of assessing damage and casualties.

a. Some of these goals were achieved, but as the exercise progressed errors in internal procedures and personnel shortages tended to hamper TEC operations.

b. The comments listed herein are those which have bearing upon TEC operations in general and not considered necessarily limited to Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON. Minor, more detailed and specific comments have been prepared for the MEB and 3rd Marine Division. Those comments have been distributed for improvement of future exercises conducted by 3rd Marine Division organizations.

ORGANIZATION

a. Comment: Establishment of a designated T/O for a TEC Headquarters Organization.

Discussion: Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON generated the initial requirements for a TEC within I MEF. However, a problem area was encountered in attaining personnel to fill assigned billets. The 3rd Marine Division, 1st MAW (Rear) and I MEF were tasked with the responsibility of filling billets for the TEC. Every effort was made to furnish the personnel. However, some of the billets were either not filled, or were too late for effective planning because of operational commitments or personnel shortages. In order to maintain continuity within I MEF for TEC requirements designated billets by line number within I MEF, 3rd Marine Division, and 1st MAW (Rear) should be assigned in order to be able to activate the TEC Headquarters whenever a TEC requirement is established. However, the responsibility for records, reports, and files should possibly be maintained by one officer and one SNCO within the I MEF Headquarters. This could be done on an additional or collateral duty basis.

Recommendation: 1. That I MEF be tasked with the responsibility of providing permanent personnel (officers/NCO's) for maintaining TEC records.

2. That a permanent table of organization be established, and requirements to fill all billets be levied against units of the I MEF.

3. That the assignments be established as permanent additional or collateral duties to the currently established T/O for the I MEF units (3rd MarDiv, 1st MAW (Rear) and I MEF Hq.).

b. Comment: Establishing of an integrated TEC Headquarters Staff consisting of U.S./Allied members of the combined operation.

Discussion: The TEC portion of Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON was basically two parallel operations at the headquarters level. The command element was the common point. The organization below that level consisted of two parallel units, each controlling its portion of the exercise in its own zone of action. An integrated TEC, conducted in same manner as the MEB/RLT, would be more beneficial to the operation and educational to the TEC personnel concerned. Even though there was considerable liaison between the U.S./Allied G-2/G-3 staff sections, there could have been more liaison if an integrated TEC had been organized. This would have established closer working relationships between the counterparts of both countries and would have allowed a more detailed exchange of ideas.

Recommendation: That for future combined operations the staff of the TEC Headquarters also be a combined staff, consisting of members of each of the nations participating.

c. Comment: Promulgation of TEC SOP.

Discussion: During the planning stages of Exercise GOLDEN DRAGON, it became apparent that some additional detailed guidelines should have been established in order to insure smoother functioning of a TEC. The only basis used was FMFPac Order P334C.2A. An I MEF SOP would have greatly aided in the functioning of the TEC.

Recommendation: That the I MEF establish an SCP relating to the organization and operation of a TEC.

PLANS AND ORDERS

a. Comment: FMFPac Order P3340.2A (SOP for the control and umpiring of Amphibious Landing Exercises) needs revising and reorganization to be more meaningful and useful for control organizations.

Discussion: It became apparent during the planning phase and especially the execution phase of the exercise that the FMFPac SOP for controlling and umpiring an amphibious landing needs a revision with special attention being paid to reorganization. As an example, the same report is mentioned and discussed in sections I and XII, the control organization is mentioned in five different sections rather than one. Another point is the damage assessment and combat power evaluation section which implies that this is the only method to be used. The training necessary to learn the procedure would require considerable schooling and is such an involved procedure that a full time umpire organization would have to be staffed to provide umpires for one or two exercises each year. This would involve an excess number of personnel and is not practical for WestPac organizations.

Recommendation: That the MEB/TEC submit recommendations for revision/updating the FMFPac Order to FMFPac.

LOGISTICS

a. Comment: Establishment of a base camp for the operation of a TEC in a combined operation.

Discussion: Basically, the support for the TEC was provided by the 3rd Reconnaissance Battalion. When the base camp was established, there was an integration of camp equipment, both U. S. and Korean. When the time arrived to break camp, some confusion was generated in determining what equipment belonged to which Headquarters. In addition, adverse weather conditions compounded the problem of breaking camp, identifying equipment and getting the TEC members manifested and loaded aboard aircraft for deployment to particular ships.

Recommendation:

1. That when a base camp is established in an allied country, the host nation provide the base camp facilities.
2. That a TEC advance party be sent to assist in the organization of the base camp.
