Although numerous guerrilla base camps and training areas were discovered and destroyed during DOUBLE EAGLE, actual contact with the VC was light and at no time was a large force of VC engaged. It appeared that the VC had foreseen our approach in enough time to withdraw, leaving small bands behind to harass our advance. Upon return to our sector of 9th Marines zone of action, Companies G and H were placed in reserve until 17 Feb when they relieved Companies E and F. At 190630H Feb, Companies E and F and the battalion command group departed Da Nang area on Operation ROUGH RIDER which concluded upon reaching Tam Ky area about 191145H. At this time Companies E and F and the battalion command group under the OPCON of Task Force Delta were heli-lifted to DOUBLE EAGLE Phase II objective area in Quang Tin province where a search and destroy operation was commenced. Phase failed to produce a major contact, although the signs of recent VC presence (trenchlines, food stores, tunnels, booby-traps and panji traps were extensive. VC contact consisted of contacts harassing fire from adjacent villages and woodlines.

Companies E and F and the command group were returned to the Da Nang area at 22000. Company E was given the mission of mobile company - to operate in the southern portion of the 2/9 sector. Company F was held in reserve and Companies G and H continued to operate from forward positions.

On 250700H, Company E conducted a search and destroy operation along the southern end of the 2/9 sector and made a sizeable contact with VC in trenchlines. Sparrow Hawk was utilized along with heli-borne elements of Company F and the result was 11 VC KIA (confirmed) and a possible 9 VC KIA.

Annex D (Lessons Learned and Recommendations) to After Action Report 3-66.}

1. Tactics.

a. The guerrilla makes excellent use of available cover and concealment. He uses maximum camouflage to conceal trails and campsites as well as himself. His police of trails and campsites is excellent and reflects good discipline and high morale. He is dependent upon trails for resupply and communications and establishes camps along streams and trails. He will engage regular units only when he has an advantage. Even then he fires from a distance usually utilizing a natural obstacle between himself and his target. A base of fire will keep him pinned down and he will withdraw upon the approach of riflemen. Pursuit of a sniper over jungle terrain is fruitless.

b. Lack of time and difficult terrain made the use of conventional formations difficult in most cases. The terrain forced the company into long, slow columns which allowed for little flank security. To overcome this problem when time permitted the column moved $\frac{1}{2}$ its length, stopped and fanned out to the flanks. This procedure was repeated as the column moved along a restricted path or trail.

c. Upon a helicopter landing, the 60mm mortars should be first in with a good load of ammunition. They should commence firing on the surrounding high terrain to keep snipers down. They should be the last to retract for the same reason.

d. Contact at night and during the day in the jungle was lost because troops would sit down at temporary halts. It is recommended that troops remain on their feet when the column stops.

e. Identification of and fixing a target was most difficult in the jungle because sound is not normal and judgement of distance is difficult.

f. Confusion in the landing zones was a problem since debarking helicopters were not oriented. This was solved when the lead elements threw green smoke as they proceeded toward the assigned objective. The correct direction for movement was thus established.

g. The terrain restricted movement and blocked communications. It offered cover and concealment but prevented the massing of forces most of the time. It was learned that one must stay on the high ground to travel if no path is available. The hill sides and river bottoms are too rough and the vegetation too thick for effective travel. Rivers were deep, fast and the rocks along the river very slippery making crossings hazardous.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~2. Communications.

- a. The AN/PRC-6 proved to be ineffective, since it was unable to penetrate the dense growth of the jungle.
- b. The RC-292 antennas are also of limited value, since "jungle antennas" are as efficient and can be constructed at the CP location.
- c. The only wire equipment needed during a battalion jungle operation is direct wire lines and phones. Switchboards are unnecessary.
- d. The battalion Artillery LnO had some difficulty communicating, because of distance and because communications are often difficult using an AN/PRC 25 on one end and an AN/PRC 9 on the other (the AN/PRC 9 must be in perfect alignment).
- e. The use of a radio repairman at the BSA proved very effective. It is recommended that this be done in all future operations.
- f. Voice communications and runners were used more than ever before. It is imperative that the troops be kept from unnecessary shouting because of the distances sounds in the jungle carry.
- g. A 36-hour supply of batteries should be maintained and batteries must be tested prior to delivery. On several occasions units received new but dead batteries. Large amounts of pyrotechnics were found to be a necessity for signalling.

3. Logistics. In the logistical area, the proposed plans for the operation were basically sound, however, in application, some of those plans did not function properly.

- a. When the supporting agency receives request for resupply, the supplies must not be delivered until delivery is requested by the using unit. In an operation such as this, the tactical situation must govern and this tactical situation must be understood by those in a supporting role. For instance, the companies may be 10,000 meters from the battalion and one or two of the companies may be on the move or having a fire fight with the enemy. The company moving is not in a position to receive resupply and the one under fire cannot break contact to receive resupply. If the resupply is dropped at another location, this will necessitate either man packing the supplies through terrain that may vary greatly in elevation and through jungle growth that almost defies passage. The solution to this is to deliver only when called and to where designated or to have direct support choppers on alert to move instantly from the supply point.

- b. The logistical net was to go straight from the Battalion Shore Party Detachment to Shore Party at the BSA utilizing a PRC-47 radio. Contact by this means was rare and very weak and garbled when made. As a result, logistical traffic was handled by either the TD Command Net or the Tactical

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Net. Both of these nets were crowded at best and their use resulted in delay of logistical messages. Normal message routing delayed receipt even longer.

c. The resupplies received were adequate except for 782 gear. This however improved as casualties were evacuated.

d. The chopper pilots were at times uncooperative and many delays were caused through their independence.

e. Pilots should be supplied with terrain maps of the area as are being utilized on the ground. This, in lieu of an air map, will facilitate the choppers location of the position he is to go to.

f. It must always be remembered that the tactical situation is very flexible; when empty choppers are requested to move gear, they must be empty. Sending loaded choppers only compounds an already difficult situation.

g. When supplies are requested by companies, it must be loaded separately even though it means the choppers don't have a full load. The choppers habitually drop all of their load at one location which means some of the gear could be as much as 20,000 meters from its destination.

h. Pilots must be informed of the complete unit designation of their load.

i. Pilots must be informed of the frequency on which to contact the unit whether it be LZ control, Tact Net or AO Net but they must be able to contact the unit.

j. If choppers are in direct support, they must be prepared to sit with the unit until the mission is complete. If the tactical situation gets dangerous, they will be informed immediately.

k. All requests should be on a fill or kill basis. No equipment should be sent that is not specifically requested. All should be marked with a complete unit designation.

l. When water is requested, it must be realized that the water cans will have to be picked up when empty.

Annex C (Narrative Account of Operation) to After Action Report 4-66

This was actually a two-phase operation. Phase I (Rough Rider) entailed the movement of 2d Battalion, 9th Marines (-) (rein) from Da Nang south along Highway 1 to an HLZ vicinity Tam Ky. This movement demonstrated U.S. ability to utilize the coastal highway as well as delivered 2/9 to an advantageous area from which to commence search and destroy operations. Phase II (Adam) consisted of a heli-lift from Tam Ky to two LZ's from which 2d Bn, 9th Mar commenced a four day search and destroy operation to the north covering a 6000 meter front.

Co E. Departed Da Nang area aboard trucks at 190630. Proceeded south toward Tam Ky along Highway 1 and in GS 1051 at about 190905H, the convoy was held up due to road blocks. At this time light small arms fire was received from 400 meters west of the highway. Fire was returned and sniping ceased. Engineers cleared the road blocks, some of which were supported by an AT mine and a booby-trapped 60mm grenade. Arrived at destination (LZ at GS 2330) at 191130H. At 191230H, Co E was heli-lifted into LZ Drake (ES 263125) and commenced to search and destroy northward. Received medium S/A fire from village at ES 263128. Returned fire and moved into village (Ngoc Nha (1)) where 9 VCS's were apprehended plus one confirmed VC who had a book with a list of other VC in that area - all were forwarded to the BSA POW collection point. Co E continued to move north toward the village of Long Son (8) (BT 253151) receiving sniper fire from (BT 259148) and (BT 257150) as they advanced. In all cases, fire was returned and the area from which the fire came was searched out revealing trench lines and fighting holes but no VC bodies. Defensive positions were established vic (BT 250148) and patrols and ambushes were conducted in all directions. At 200630H, Co E moved out to search and clear high ground vic (BT 245165). At 200730H, discovered a rice cache, 6000 lbs, at (BT 243152) and captured 6 VCS at these coordinates. Relieved by Co F of responsibility of guarding rice cache and VCS and continued movement north to objective area. Discovered a tunnel at BT 243163, 150'x3'x4' which had 5 entrances. At this time, (201145H) received heavy small arms fire from (BT 244165). Returned fire and assaulted killing 2 VC who were wearing blue shirts and black trousers, and capturing 2 more VCS. At 201320, several VC were seen in the open at BT 236163 and an artillery mission was called on them killing one (1). At 201355H, two (2) personnel were WIA from a booby trapped M-26 frag grenade at BT 245165. Four (4) more VCS were apprehended vic BT 260170. Defensive night positions were established 201330H at BT 247168 and ambushes and patrols dispatched in all directions. 210830H, Company E moved out to the north towards Hill 110 at BT 232188. At 210930H, they apprehended 5 VCS vic of some caves and tunnels at BT 259180. Caves and tunnels were destroyed and Co E moved on toward obj area. 8 VCS's were apprehended vic coords BT 257184 at 201400H. At 201418H, Co E discovered an extensive cave and tunnel network at BT 244187 which had the estimated capability of holding a VC battalion. Also captured a VCS in this area. Search of the cave-tunnel network yielded nothing.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

The VC had apparently had plenty of time to clean out all their belongings and withdraw. Established night defensive positions vic BT 232191 at 211900H and dispatched ambushes to the north, south and east. At 220730H, Co E moved out to search and clear towards the N.W. and received heavy small arms fire from BT 237195. Returned fire and assaulted. Sustained 1 WIA, inflicted 4 VC KIA (possible) and 1 VC WIA. Three more VCS were captured as Co E advanced through the area. At 221330H, two more VCS were apprehended at BT 231207. These VCS report that 10 VC had recently been buried in village at BT 236202. Co E continued to search and clear to the north-west, receiving occasional sniper fire and finding numerous evidence of VC occupation and control, i.e., panji pits, trench lines, and tunnels. At 211630H, Co E heli-lifted from BT 21209 to Tam Ky Air Strip and at 211745H departed Tam Ky by helicopter arriving at 2/9 CP at AT 992678 at 211830H.

Co F. Departed Da Nang area aboard trucks 190630H in same convoy as Co E. For the ROUGH RIDER portion of this operation, Co E and Co F narrative is the same. At 191330H, Co F landed in LZ Mallard and commenced search and destroy operations to the high ground north of the LZ (BT 239142). Co F had no enemy contact as they searched out the draws and low ground, although they found many evidences of prior VC occupation - panji pits, man traps, trenches, tunnels and fighting holes; the villages were deserted. The terrain became difficult to travel as Co F moved up on the high ground, the undergrowth was extremely thick and movement was restricted to trams. Night defensive positions were established on top of Hill 218 (BT 239142) and sent out patrols and ambushes. There, they received instructions to provide 1 platoon as security for a Task Force Delta Radio Relay team being set up on top of Hill 218. Co F (-) moved to search and clear northward at 200700H. Relieved Co E of evacuating the rice cache and 6 VCS at BT 243152. They spent most of the day evacuating the rice and searching the adjacent area. They shot and apprehended 1 VC at BT 242157 during this period. At 201600H, Co F was ordered to destroy the remaining rice and move out to search and clear area at BT 260152. At 201625H, a VC tunnel 8' x 20 meters constructed in a triangular shape with heavy planking, and a classroom were destroyed at BT 256147. At 201727H, the forward elements of Co F discovered a major tunnel network extending from BT 258150 to BT 260153. This network had 5 entrances. The main tunnel was 65 - 85 feet long and had branching tunnels 25 feet long. The entrances to the main tunnel went down 16 steps or about 12 feet. Average width and height of tunnels was 4 feet. The only thing found in the tunnel system was a pulley device used in removing soil. Nothing of military value was found as it was obvious that the VC had had sufficient advance warning to clean everything out. The night defensive position was set in around this tunnel system and ambushes were sent out in all directions. At 210730H, Co F moved out to search and clear north-west to Hill 110 at BT 232188. Conducted a deliberate search and clear through zone making physical contact with VC only once - while at BT 236179 moving north, received 10 rds carbine fire from BT 236177. Returned fire and one squad checked the area, found the firing position but no VC. The area searched yielded the usual VC signs such as trenchlines, fighting holes, etc. The villagers in this area were terrified of Marines and told the interpreters that the VC had told them we would burn their houses and kill them. They became noticeably more friendly as it became obvious that we wouldn't harm them. One villager led Co F safely around an area (BT 237175) that the VC had booby trapped. Consolidated defensive positions (BT 230193) at 211730H, prepared to conduct extensive ambushes to the N., S., and W. A squad ambush at BT 225194 killed 1 VC at 212130H. The VC was carrying 2 M-26 grenades, wore a grey uniform and had web gear. Company F commenced search and clear to the North-west at 220755H and made contact with an estimated 25 VC at BT 223200. Co F assaulted through VC position capturing 1 VC and 8 VCS and discovering blood indicating more VC WIA or KIA. Also discovered a 6000 lb rice cache at this location. H&S Co relieved Co F of responsibility of evacuating VC, VCS's and rice and released Co F to continue search and clear to the north-west. At this time, Co F picked up (1) rallier who had been a VC medic. Co F had no more VC contact until they reached their heli-zone at BT 216208 where, as they were lifted out, they received S/A fire from an estimated 6 VC at BT 219208. S/A fire was returned and a UH-1E strike was called on the woodline, silencing the VC. Co F arrived Tam Ky Air Strip at 221730H and departed for Da Nang at 221830H by fixed wing aircraft, arriving back at 2d Bn, 9th Marines defensive perimeter at 222000H.

H&S Company. H&S patrol at 200900H found 3 VC hiding in a cave at BT 251136. 4 bear traps and 6 shotgun shells were also found in the cave.

S-2 arranged a leaflet drop and broadcast in GS's 2616 and 2716 stressing safe conduct and surrender leaflets. Delivered same prior to 210700H.

H&S patrol sustained 3 WIA from a booby-trapped M-26 frag grenade on top of Hill at BT 227189 at about 221700H. The entire hill was honey combed with panji pits.

Annex D (Lessons Learned and Suggestions for Future Operations) to After Action Report 4-66

1. The evacuation of rice stores was an all day process which delayed the companies from movement toward assigned objectives.
2. Once again, it was demonstrated that the VC have conducted an effective anti-American campaign as evidenced by frightened villagers. Although we demonstrate our friendliness, not much can be accomplished, because, as we move on through an area, the VC fill right in behind us as they were before.
3. The VC do not utilize high ground - all the storage sites have been found either in villages or in low ground. On the other hand, the VC assume Americans will use high ground and booby-trap likely areas.
4. Highway 1 between Da Nang and Tam Ky can be utilized with strong security and with proper engineer support.
5. A rigid time-table for convoys using Highway 1 is impractical because of the ease with which the roadway can be interdicted by enemy, weather, civilian interference, other traffic, and weak bridges. A convoy pushed by time tends to compromise security and tactical integrity.

*Note: Landing was hindered by several factors (1) Landing was in rice paddy with water about 6 inches deep. (2) In attempt to move LZ proved fruitless, there was no cooperation from helos. (3) LZ was approximately 400 meters from new CP causing second lift to move supplies. (4) Excess supplies were generated by companies over requesting supplies.

*Note: Due to the fact that logistics are not as flexible as tactics it is recommended that in the future, prior to a tactical move all supplies are moved to a central location or helos required to lift supplies be ordered in addition to those required to move troops and not be called in until a firm CP is established.
