NARRATIVE SUMMARY

During the period 1-29 February 1966, the Battalion continued to support operations of the 1st Marine Division (Rein), in the Danang T.O.M.

ORGANIZATION

4th Battalion, 11th Marines

Battery "A"

Battery "B"

Battery "M-K"

MISSION

G/S 1st Marine Division (Rein)

Modified mission G/S Rein 3rd Bn, 11th Marines

Modified mission G/S Rein 3rd Bn, 11th Marines

Modified mission G/S Rein 3rd Bn, 11th Marines

The Tet offensive, which began on 29 January continued into the second week of February. The principal threat to the Danang vital area materialized from the south and southwest. The heaviest activity occurred in the T.O.M.'s of the 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines and the 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines close to the south of the Battalion Command Post. Elements of the 51st ARVN Regiment also occupy this same area.

The Battalion controls the fires of two sections of the 1st Armored Amphibian Company located at Hill 47 and at the 1st ALVT Command Post. At 0520 on 6 February an estimated battalion of VC attempted to overrun an element of the 51st ARVN Regiment. The US Army advisor called for fire and the two weapons at Hill 47 were put in action. Because of the close proximity of friendly elements the observer adjusted one gun onto the enemy on the west side and one gun on the enemy on the east side of the beleaguered ARVN unit. Continuous fire with both guns was maintained until approximately 0735. During this time the advisor, who had been wounded, continued to observe the fire and made the shifts necessary to keep the enemy under effective fire. A total of 290 HE were expended on the target. A surveillance later in the same day reported 80 VC KIA. (C).

On 7 February the 196th Light Infantry Brigade (-) began operations in the T.O.M.'s of the 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines and the 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines. 4th Battalion, 11th Marines, again employing elements of 1st Armored Amphibian Company, provided direct support for the Brigade until relieved by the Brigade's own direct support artillery.

On 9 February the platoon of Battery "M" designated Battery "M-X" was repositioned to a position AT 95987583 within the Regimental Command Post. One significant mission was shot as a part of a 167 massed fire mission at grid BT 032688. 32 HE and 3 WP were expended and a total of 35 VC KIA (C) was reported. M-X returned to the Battery "M" position at 1347 on 12 February.

On 17 February Battery "M-X" was again organized and with 2 howitzers moved to a position at AT 98827148 within the 4th Battalion Command Post, and laid on azimuth 2500. The purpose was to better counter the threat of an attack by fire from the South.

On 19 February in view of an increased likelihood of attack "M-X" was brought up to a 4 howitzer battery with two additional weapons from Battery "M".

At 1043 on 19 February, a fire of undetermined origin destroyed OP TIGER at Grid AT 98967084. No 4/11 personnel were injured however some equipment including a Battery Commanders telescope and an AN/PRC 25 radio were destroyed. OP CAMEL, at grid 98677197 was occupied as a substitute to maintain capability for observation of the Southern DaNang TAOR Rocket Belt.

On 24 February at 2255 a rocket attack was launched on the Marble Mountain Air Facility from vicinity of AT 04746429. The launch site was located by intersection from the Battalion and Regimental OP's and reported to 11th Marines. Counter rocket fire was begun with "M-X" at 2310.

At 0430 on 25 February another rocket attack was launched on Marble Mountain from vicinity of grid AT 06056255. Again the launch site was located by intersection and counter rocket fire begun by "M-X" at 0436. Fire was continued, shifting at the command of Regimental FDC to cover routes of egress.

During the month, 3,486 missions were fired and a total of 10,658 rounds expended.
