Many hours of OJT were accomplished in both local security and artillery battery position design, development and improvement. Daily chart drill was held both in the battalion FDC and the firing battery FDCs as well as the firing batteries firing training missions for their FOs and defensive concentrations being fired from a battery FDC. Battery C conducted a one day FO school for the infantry NCOs and officers from 3/3. Commencing 22 November daily practice was held by the battalion and battery FDCs and the radio operators in the use of the new NATO fire request terminology.

ORDNANCE

During the period 1 November to 30 November 1966, this command turned in one 105mm howitzer for six months maintenance to the Dong Ha Ordnance Repair Section FLSU. Due to the lack of 3d echelon spare parts at Dong Ha, the weapon had to be evacuated to FLSG "A" Da Nang. By doing this it more than tripled the in shop repair time of the weapon.

Ammunition has become a serious problem during the monsoon season. Because of the adverse weather conditions and the resulting mud and standing water ammo left unpacked for any length of time becomes unserviceable. To correct this situation, the Battalion Ordnance section has directed units of this command to break out of packing a limited amount of 105mm ammunition. By doing this, the amount of Grade III ammunition has been greatly reduced.

LOGISTICS

During the period 1 November to 30 November 1966 the battalion supply completed its move from Da Nang to Dong Ha and established a base camp there.

Construction was started on the Battalion Messhall and Galley. One (1) six hole head was obtained during this period.

Bunkers were requested for Battery C to be used for FDC and ammunition storage. Engineer support was requested to repair the entrance to Headquarters Battery, 1st Battalion, 12th Marines. Twenty-five (25) loads of gravel were requested for Motor Transport Maintenance/Messhall areas.

MOTOR TRANSPORT

During the month of November a Battalion Motor Pool was established, with the vehicles of Battery E, Battery C, and Headquarters Battery located in one place with centralized maintenance and centralized dispatching.

The vehicles traveled approximately 9000 miles, with a daily average of 300 miles. The majority of vehicles runs were to Dong Ha for Class V resupply.

The average deadline percentage for the month was 30% due mainly to Battery E which has an average deadline of 67%. Headquarters Battery has a percentage of 15% and Battery C with 18%. Of the 30% deadlined in the battalion, 27% were for 3d echelon repair, and 3% for 1st and 2d echelon repair.

Critically needed items for motor transport include batteries (6TN and 2HN type); Torque rods for M-35's and tires and tubes for M-422 and M-37
