PART II

NARRATIVE SUMMARY

During July the Second Battalion, Twelfth Marines fired a total of 771 observed missions, 2,050 unobserved missions, and 1,501 H&I missions in support of the Ninth Marines. Ammunition expenditures were 32,482 rounds of 105mm, 1,060 rounds of 155mm, and 3,344 rounds of 107mm.

Enemy casualties inflicted during July were 130 KIA and 37 WIA. In addition there were 30 secondary explosions, 12 fires started, 55 bunkers destroyed, 7 bunkers damaged, 12 fighting holes destroyed, 2 guns destroyed, 22 AK-47's destroyed, 1 observation post destroyed, and 2 structures destroyed.

PART III

SEQUENTIAL LISTING OF SIGNIFICANT EVENTS

1. Combat Mission Assigned. Direct support of 9th Marines.
2. Significant Operations Conducted. Operations Kentucky, Highrise/Thor, Lancaster II and Scotland II. During the month of July, 9th Marines conducted a two phase search and destroy operation employing their three organic battalions. The first phase took place in the area west, north and east of Con Thien. After firing heavy D day preparation fires, the Battalion delivered on call preparation fires, mortar suppressive fires and a heavy volume of fire on targets of opportunity in support of the infantry scheme of maneuver. During this first phase which lasted 8 days, a large number of bunker complexes, rice and arms caches were destroyed by artillery and maneuver elements. By the third day in the face of superior numbers and overwhelming fire power the NVA began to withdraw to the north and northeast into the DMZ where he was pursued by fire by batteries of this command and by air strikes.

The second phase of the operation placed 9th Marines on line with 3rd Marines and two ARVN battalions along the southern boundary of the DMZ stretching west from the 08 N-S grid line to the 96 N-S grid line. After a heliborne assault by the 2d and 3d battalions, 9th Marines on D day (17 July), operations centered around the deliberate destruction by artillery and air strikes of a large well developed NVA base of operations in the hill 174 area (YD 052683). The search conducted, revealed large, well constructed observation posts, elaborate communications networks to subsidiary firing units, numerous bunkered living areas and many weapons and food cache sites, all showing signs of recent heavy enemy use. Each complex was destroyed in turn by a heavy volume of direct and general support artillery and air attacks.

During the latter part of the second phase of the operation, the 2d and 3d battalions of 9th Marines helilifted 3 kilometers to the south to areas known to house enemy base camps and transient resupply stations. Over a five day period, the infantry methodically searched these positions, destroying numerous bunkers, arms caches, rocket launchers and rocket position areas. Scheduled preparations were fired daily and frequent use was made of selected munitions and smoke. The operation terminated on 29 July.

During the operation the following changes in operational control and displacements took place;

- 2 July, K/4/13 chopped OPCON to 4th Bn, 12th Mar.
- 7 July, K/4/13 chopped OPCON to 2d Bn, 12th Mar.
- 9 July, K/4/13 chopped OPCON to 4th Bn, 12th Mar.
- 16 July, Mortar Battery, 2/12 chopped OPCON to 1st Bn, 11th Mar.
- 16 July, Mortar Battery (-), 1/12 chopped OPCON to 1st Bn, 11th Mar.
- 16 July, B/1/13 chopped OPCON to 1st Bn, 11th Mar.
- 23 July, E/2/12 displaced to CamLo District Headquarters
- 28 July, E/2/12 displaced to the C-1 position
- 29 July, F/2/12 displaced to Dong Ha
- 29 July, Command group displaced to Dong Ha
- 31 July, F/2/12 displaced to the D-5 area
- 31 July, Command group displaced to the D-5 area

3. Casualties Inflicted on the Enemy. 130 KIA and 37 WIA.

4. Casualties Sustained. 1 KIA and 7 WIA.

5. Logistics. Complete logistic support was furnished for four organic batteries for most of the month. Class V resupply and ordnance repair support were furnished to four OPCON batteries. A total of 38,086 rounds were moved by truck convoy and helicopter this month.

6. Civic Action. This battalion conducted 4 MEDCAPS during July, treating 162 people at Vinh Dai and Thie Trang hamlets. A cooking fire at one of these villages, Vinh Dai, destroyed 240 homes. To help rebuild the homes, we provided 600 ammunition boxes and 67 sheets of tin. Clothes were requisitioned from G-5 to replace those burned in the fire. Fourteen bags of cement were also provided to build a concrete floor for the pagoda at Vinh Dai.

7. Personnel. The battalion was at 86% T/O strength at the end of the reporting period. Shortages exist in the MOS's 0811, 0844, 0846, 0848, 0849, 2511, 2531, 3041, 3051, and 3371. Forty-five Marines participated in the R&R program during July.

8. Intelligence. Enemy activity continued at a low to moderate level throughout the 9th Marines AO during the month of July. Enemy initiated ground attacks, attacks by fire and interdiction of LOC's were unusually low in number.

Operations by 9th Marines uncovered large amounts of weapons and clothing, ammo caches and large bunker complexes. These losses coupled with the supply and organization problems the enemy previously had experienced may delay or end plans for the so called third offensive. Lack of major contact with enemy forces tends to support the idea that he has withdrawn in an attempt to resupply and reorganize.

A 26 July report that the 52d and 64th regiments of the 320th NVA Division had moved to the south indicates that this unit may be preparing for future operations or that he is moving to protect supply and base areas threatened by current operations.

Continued sighting of UFO's in the eastern part of the AO indicates that the enemy may possibly be using helicopters for resupply and to build morale among his forces.

The enemy still retains the ability to attack by fire and with ground troops at any time he chooses, although large scale attacks do not seem feasible at this time.

9. Communications. The communications section was split for most of the month of July. On 5 July, the entire radio section and over half the wire section moved with the Battalion FDC to C-2, while the rest remained at the rear in Dong Ha. The wire section at C-2 installed and maintained a five pair cable wire system for telephone and radio remote lines. The tech shop rearranged the repair facility in the rear and constructed a maintenance, repair and storage bunker at C-2. Two technicians formed a contact team and visited each firing battery to inspect equipment and records.

10. Training. During the month of July, training was primarily oriented toward section and MOS classes. The battalion headquarters was at the C-2 position supporting a 9th Marines major operation. One individual attended an out-of-country formal school for Basic Ammunition Technicians. In addition, five battalion personnel attended in-country formal schooling consisting of Staff Noncommissioned Officers School, Supply School and Cable Splicing School. Within the firing batteries, a direct fire exercise was held using beehive and conventional ammunition. Gas mask drills were also held by the gun sections and frequent use was made of high angle fire. Troop indoctrination classes were also held in each battery. Fan firing was held at C-2 and at the battalion rear.
