PART IINARRATIVE SUMMARY

During the afternoon of 24 January, First Marine Aircraft Wing Headquarters at Iwakuni, Japan, and the 1st MAF Units deployed at Bien Hoa AB, RVN; Nam Phong RTAFB, Thailand; NAS Cubi Point, R.P.; and aboard 7th Fleet ships in the Gulf of Tonkin, received the following flash message from the Joint Chiefs of Staff/National Military Command Center:

"EFFECTIVE 272359Z JANUARY 1973, AN INTERNATIONALLY SUPERVISED CEASE-FIRE IN SOUTH VIETNAM AND THE DEMILITARIZED ZONE WILL BE INSTITUTED...DISCONTINUE ALL ACTS OF FORCE INITIATED BY U.S. FORCES IN NORTH VIETNAM, SOUTH VIETNAM AND THE DMZ. ALL AIRSTRIKES ...WILL BE TERMINATED..."

For all the Marines who served with the First MAF during more than a decade of combat, the message signified a long awaited close to the many volumes of Marine Aviation history from the War in Vietnam. However, before this most recent chapter on the exploits of Marine Aviation in the War in Indochina can be finished, units of the 1st MAF have been called upon to write an important epilogue in Cambodia, Laos, and the ports and waterways of NVN.

BIEN HOA AB, RVN

In accordance with the terms of the cease fire, MAG-12(FWD) discontinued combat operations on 27 January and commenced preparations for redeployment to MCAS Iwakuni, Japan. On 29 January the first A-4 aircraft departed the combat zone arriving at Iwakuni on the 30th. By 31 January, 28 MAG-12 A-4's were in place in Japan with the final two enroute. Over 50% of the Group's personnel and equipment had also been relocated at Iwakuni by the close of the month.

During the 1312 combat sorties conducted in Military Regions 2, 3 and 4 of RVN, and in Cambodia during January, the MAG-12(FWD) pilots were credited with 807 confirmed enemy killed, 53 secondary explosions, and 67 sustained fires. Logging 1548 flight hours, the A-4 aviators further accounted for 198 structures and 770 bunkers destroyed.

Bien Hoa AB was struck by two 122MM rocket attacks prior to the institution of the cease fire agreement. An attack on 21 January caused neither personnel casualties nor significant damage to the MAG-12(FWD) facilities. On 25 January one enlisted Marine was killed and another wounded in a brief early morning barrage, numbering them with the final few U.S. casualties. Only light damage was sustained by the Group's buildings and support equipment.

Several plaudits were received on the subject of MAG-12(FWD) combat operations from Bien Hoa AB, RVN as the Group began its redeployment to Iwakuni. Admiral B. A. CLAREY, Commander in Chief, U.S. Pacific Fleet: "...Since commencement of combat operations in SEAsia on 19 May 1972, MAG-12 has compiled an enviable record while providing critical air support in RVN and Cambodia...The impressive combat statistics as well as a sustained 1.57 daily sortie rate could only have been achieved by a group of dedicated professionals..."

LtGen L. H. WILSON, Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force Pacific: "...The Marines of MAG-12 have reflected great credit upon themselves and upon the U.S. Marine Corps and have won another niche in our proud history.

Admiral N. A. GAYLER, Commander in Chief, Pacific: "The top flight performance of MAG-12 in SEAsia testifies to the best traditions of the Marine Corps, well done and hats off to all upon return to home station."

NAM PHONG RTAFB, THAILAND

January for the Marines of Task Force Delta and MAG-15 at Nam Phong RTAFB, Thailand, was another month of heavy commitment to combat operations. The F-4 squadrons of VMFA-232 were utilized primarily in an air-to-ground role in Military Region 1 in support of RVNAF forces until 27 January. During the first weeks of the month the A-6 aircraft of VMA(AW)-533 continued to fly night systems interdiction missions in Route Package One of NVN and the Steel Tiger Area of Laos. Strikes against Communist concentrations in Laos by the MAG-15 aircraft were conducted throughout the month as the cease fire agreement specifically effected combat operation in NVN and RVN only.

The January statistics for MAG-15 show 975 combat sorties flown for 1566 flight hours. Bomb damage assessments credit the Group's pilots with 74 confirmed enemy KBA, 223 secondary explosions and 78 sustained fires.

NAS CUBI POINT, R.P.

During the first fifteen days of January the Marine EA-6A aircraft of the VMCJ Detachment based at NAS Cubi Point, R.P., continued their electronic counter measure support of 7th Fleet air operations against NVN. On 23 January the VMCJ-2 element of the combined VMCJ-1/VMCJ-2 EA-6 detachment at Cubi Point commenced a Transpac movement back to MCAS Cherry Point, N.C. The VMCJ-2 unit, which had arrived on 14 April 1972 to augment the VMCJ-1 electronic warfare assets, was returned OPCODE to the 2nd MAF on 27 January. The VMCJ-1 EA6's will temporarily remain at Cubi Point for contingency purposes; OPCODE to TF77, the 7th Fleet's carrier strike force.

GULF OF TONKIN

On 1 January, HMM-164, the composite helicopter squadron embarked aboard USS INCHON, was on station off the coast of Hue, RVN serving as the aviation component for MAU contingencies in SEAsia. HMM-165, embarked aboard USS NEW ORLEANS, assumed that role on 7 January as the 31st MAU relieved the 33rd MAU in the Gulf of Tonkin. Both squadrons began transfer during the last week of January from their respective Amphibious Ready Groups (ARG's) to CTF 78, the Navy Mine Countermeasures Warfare Force. HMM-164 and HMM-165 have been designated to support the mine clearing operation in the NVN ports and inland waterways, "Operation End Sweep".

While on the line on 4 January, six CH-46 aircraft from HMM-164 participated in SAR efforts to recover the crew of an Air Force B-52 after they ejected from their crippled aircraft 30 miles northwest of Danang AB, RVN. Two of the crewmembers were rescued by the Marine helicopters; the remaining four crewmen were recovered by Air Force SAR aircraft.

HMA-369, embarked aboard USS DUBUQUE, conducted a sixth and final Marine Hunter Killer (MARHUK) line period from 8 to 16 January. The unit's AH1J Cobra helicopters had been employed in the surveillance and interdiction role near Hon La Island NVN monthly since June 1972. At the completion of this latest line period, USS DUBUQUE sailed for Okinawa where HMA-369 was transferred to MCAS Futema. The squadron was returned OPCON from the 9th MAB to the 1st MAW on 26 January.
