NARRATIVE SUMMARY

1. During the month of April 1970, VMO-2 continued to provide invaluable support to ground units of the U.S. Marine Corps, U.S. Army, ARVN, and BOKMC. The squadron logged 683 combat sorties totalling 1426.8 flight hours. The "Broncos" contributed 379 visual reconnaissance and 123 FAC(A) missions and produced 77 significant sightings in support of the intelligence effort of the 1st MAF and 1st MARDIV.

The versatility of the OV-10A was further demonstrated in three new tactical concepts. VMO-2 aircraft were used to count boats and plot movements of the same within the DaNang TAOR; potential TPQ targets were plotted and this precision selection significantly increased the destructive power of this valuable form of strike; finally, plans were effected which would utilize the OV-10A to assist the ground FAC and A-6 pilots from MAG-11 on beacon air strikes in areas where the target is not visible to the ground FAC.

VMO-2 produced outstanding results on its assigned mission #75, which requires visual reconnaissance of areas west of the TAOR in support of 1st MAF. Several enemy base camps were located and a number of air strikes conducted. On 19 April, Hostage Whiskey (Capt Ruymann) was assigned to control two airstrikes on an enemy base camp sighted by Hostage Turtle (Maj Carroll) the previous day. This action resulted in seven large secondary explosions, while destroying two enemy gun positions.

On 21 April, while flying a 75A visual reconnaissance mission, Hostage Nan (Maj Wheeler) and Cowpoke 18 (Capt Hatch) were downed by enemy anti-aircraft fire. The subsequent SAR effort recovered Capt Hatch, while Maj Wheeler was reported missing in action.

VMO-2 continued to prove invaluable in support of 1st MARDIV and Force Reconnaissance teams. On 1 April, Hostage Bill (Capt Paulson) coordinated with team Misty Cloud in destroying a suspected enemy ammunition cache which resulted in seven secondary explosions and numerous small fires as small arms ammunition exploded. 2 April again found Hostage Bill on the scene in support of team Coffee Time, which has sustained two casualties from enemy fire and was requesting an emergency extraction. Determining that the unit was surrounded by an estimated NVA platoon, Bill fired on-board ordnance to suppress the enemy fire, and directed the team to the designated helicopter landing zone. He then controlled LoveBug 212 on the enemy positions seconds before extraction, resulting in three secondary explosions.

The squadron's night package again proved its worth in support of team Prime Cut on 10 April. The unit called for support when they discovered an estimated enemy battalion sweeping an area only 30 meters from their position. Hostage Duke (Capt Herbert) and Hostage Colt (Lt Colt) arrived on station and determined that close air strikes were impossible because of the mountainous terrain, deteriorating weather, and proximity of the friendly unit to the enemy. However, using their flares and on-board ordnance to suppress the enemy unit, Prime Cut was able to break contact and remain secure until sun rise, when the team was successfully extracted without sustaining a casualty.

Hostage Hoot (Lt Gibson), Hostage Colt (Lt Colt), and Hostage Echo (Lt Grasman) joined forces for a total of 5 hours in the emergency extraction of team Elf Skin on 23 April. A total of seven airstrikes were run on an enemy using small arms, automatic weapons, and .50 caliber machine guns in their efforts to overrun the unit. The enemy units were finally reduced to a level where the team could gain access to a secure pickup zone and be successfully extracted.

VMO-2 also continued to provide valuable support to conventional ground units. On 12 April, Hostage Gringo (Lt Williams) controlled six fixed wing airstrikes in support of a ROK troop movement. His wise choice of targets and coordination with the ground units enabled the units to sweep the area without fear of booby traps. The strikes resulted in numerous secondary explosions, 12 enemy bunkers destroyed, 50 booby traps destroyed, and uncovered an arms cache containing AK-47 and SKS rifles and grenades.

On 15 April, Hostage Duke (Capt Herbert) discovered ten NVA moving into a bunker. The airstrikes subsequently controlled by him resulted in 3 hootches and 2 bunkers destroyed, and 3 enemy KBA. The strikes also caused the disoriented enemy to retreat, allowing the friendly ground units to move in pursuit.

Successful coordination with UH1E's, artillery, and fixed wing air strikes on mission 74 resulted in a significant number of secondary explosions.
