ESCAPE AND EVASION

1000. Policy. CINCPACFLT INST 003800.1_ establishes PACFLT Evasion and Escape policy.

1001. Materials.

a. SEEK Kits. In addition to the currently held SEEK-1 survival kit, the improved SEEK-2 (Two package soft auxiliary survival kit) is being procured for operating squadrons through normal supply channels as a Section H allowance item. These kits are to be opened only in an actual SERE situation.

b. Blood Chits. Blood Chits are items designed to assist air crew members to evade or escape from enemy or unfriendly territory. They are a rectangular piece of material picturing the U. S. Flag, under which appears a text in several languages appropriate to a specific geographical area. The text identifies the bearer as an American and contains the statement that the U. S. Government will reward individuals assisting him. The following Blood Chit is used in this command.

(1) XM 61-1

c. Survival Cloth Charts. There are two series of charts available for the Southeast Asia area, the EVC 500 (S.E.A.) and the EVC 250 (S.E.A.). The above vinyl base items are at scales of 1:500,000 and 1:250,000 respectively.

d. Language Aids (Pointee Talkees). These are aids to assist downed crew members in obtaining help and information. They consist of questions and statements in English with translations of the same into various resident languages. The following language aids are used in this command:

(1) PT - 40 Thai

(2) PT - 42 Vietnamese

e. Procurement. Requests for Evasion and Escape material with the exception of the SEEK kits will be directed to this Headquarters (Attn: S-2).

GruO P3800.3B
15 June 1966

f. Accountability. Although the subject materials are not classified, Commanding Officers of units holding these materials shall insure that strict accountability is maintained.

(1) The above materials will be stored and handled on an accountable basis and receipts in the format of Appendix E shall be exchanged when custody is transferred.

(2) In addition, a quarterly inventory of the Evasion and Escape materials checked-out (Squadron to Group - Group to Wing) will be submitted in accordance with Section VII, (Reports), to this order, using the format contained in Appendix B. This quarterly inventory will also serve as a quarterly receipt of this material.

(3) Prior to unit rotation, all survival material checked out from Group S-2 will be returned and accounted for.

g. Loss. In any case that the subject material(s) may be found missing, an investigation of such missing materials will be conducted, consisting of the circumstances surrounding the loss, to include statements from those individuals concerned with such material(s). This report will be forwarded in quadruplicate to CG, 1st MAW (Attn: G-2) via this Headquarters (Attn: S-2)

(1) If loss is through operational use, i.e., crashed or lost aircraft, where materials are not likely to be recovered, such loss will be reported to this Headquarters as soon as circumstances permit.

h. Classification.

(1) There will be no publicity concerning Escape and Evasion activities conducted within this command.

(2) In general, the details of this program are UNCLASSIFIED, however, specific areas within the scope of this program are classified as follows:

(a) Inventories are classified CONFIDENTIAL.

(b) Investigation of missing material need not be classified unless other factors connected with the investigation requires a security classification.

GruO P3800.3B
15 June 1966

1002. Unit E & E Officer. Units will designate in writing to this Headquarters (Attn: S-2) an E & E Officer.

a. The overall effectiveness of an Escape and Evasion program depends to a great extent upon the appointment and complete support of an active interested E & E Officer. This officer assumes the responsibility of fulfilling the complete E& E functions, which consists primarily of preparing each pilot in his unit with the necessary "tools" to help him get back, if he goes down in enemy territory.

b. The E & E Officers' duties consist of:

- (1) Collection of E & E information
- (2) Research, analysis and delivery of periodic and pre-mission E & E briefings.
- (3) Maintenance of pilots E & E reading file.
- (4) Monitoring and Recommendations for E & E equipment.

1003. Personal Authenticators.

a. All Squadrons will insure that a current file of personal authenticators are on file at the Group Intelligence Section. It is emphasized that the success of any rescue effort is directly related to the minimum time which the downed pilot or crew member must await location, identification and actual pickup. Thus, the timely availability of personal authenticators becomes an important factor in the recovery.

b. The arbitrary personal authenticator four digit number should be unrepitive and unsymmetrical and yet easily remembered by the individual to whom it applies. Suggested mnemonic devices are home street numbers, high school or college class years, two ages of relatives, etc. Units should review the chosen individual authenticator numbers to preclude inadvertent duplication.

c. Additional identification information which should also be recorded with the authenticator number is: Nickname, wife's or girlfriend's first name, number of children, color of wife's or girlfriend's hair, and make of personal automobile. Additionally, the Blood Chit serial number can fill the need for authenticator. These items also serve as authenticators and will be used in the same manner as the personal number when requested by SAR forces.

d. Personal authenticator data will be assigned a classification of Confidential.
