NARRATIVE

1 December 1965 - .)

HMM-161 - (U) Two flights were launched for reconnaissance missions in the Danang TAOR. Both flights received small arms fire. Suppression fire was returned at (AT 010646) and one Viet Cong was probably wounded. Immediately after breaking contact, one aircraft made a precautionary landing into LZ Railbird because of an engine sump warning light indication. Maintenance check was complete and flight continued on mission. The other flight called artillery fire into (AT 959603). Fire suppression was returned. Neither flight received any damage.

Four flights were flown in logistic support of the III MAF. These flights were in support of the Ninth Marines, Third Marines and Third Battalion Fourth Marines.

Six command liaison flights flew to Marble Mountain in administrative support of various III MAF units. Four Vietnamese doctors, two nurses and four technicians were taken to Quang Tri from Hue to conduct a day long clinic at an orphanage.

Increased enemy movement reports from the intelligence section had this squadron launching two night reconnaissance flights over the Phu Bai airfield and TAOR.

The orphanage of Kim Hong, located in the city of Hue, was presented with various comfort items donated by HMM-161. Among the items were two electric hair clippers, underwear, material, towels, thread and needles.

HMM-263 - (U) Normal commitments for this month remain the same as for November. These include daily III MAF support, 3rd and 9th Marine support, and occasional I Corps support. The night dispersal has been continued with the same frequency as during the month of November. In support of I Corps, 54 VN military and VN civilians were lifted from Hoi An to (BT 055355), 9 US military, 306 VN military and 12 VN civilians were lifted from (BT 115135) to (ZC 006092) (Cam Duc). Small arms fire was received and returned from (ZC 1209) with no hits.

HMM-363 - (U) Two escort missions of note were those for Senators MCGOVERN AND TOWERS. They were given tours of the installations in the Danang and Chu Lai complexes. Maj. H. W. STEADMAN and 1st Lt. W. ASKINS flew to Quang Ngai where they received the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with Silver and Bronze stars respectively, for their parts in the assault on Hiep Duc, 18 November. General LAM of the ARVN Second Division presented the decorations.

VMD-2 - (U) On the First day of December the Squadron provided escort for Tarbush aircraft during an unsuccessful attempt to recover an H-34 hulk from (BT 054718) where it had been dropped by an H-37.

The Med Evac aircraft performed four missions, evacuating three US sick and one US wounded.

HMS-16 - () VIP lift: Admiral U. S. GRANT SHARP, MGEN WALT and party from Danang to Chu Lai to Phu Bai to Danang.

2 December 1965

HMM-161 - (U) All morning flights were cancelled because of low clouds and reduced visibility in rainshowers. The afternoon schedule consisted of administrative and logistical support of the III MAF within the Phu Bai TAOR. An administrative flight in support of the 1st ARVN Division carried 10 civilian from Quang Tri (YD 340540) to Hue. Based on local intelligence reports, the night reconnaissance flight was launched for surveillance of the Phu Bai TAOR and airfield. No enemy activity was observed.

VMO-2 - (U) On the second of December a night reconnaissance was made of the beach area from Danang to Hoi An.

3 December 1965

HMM-161 - (U) A resupply to Ba Long from Ca Lu twice was attempted by a flight of eight aircraft. Each attempt was thwarted by low ceilings and reduced visibility. The minimum ceiling and visibility was reduced to 200 feet and one quarter mile. With no forecast weather improvement, the mission was cancelled.

One flight of two aircraft on a reconnaissance mission with an aerial observer aboard received fire from (AT 968655) in the Danang TAOR while investigating a group of personnel at 200 feet altitude. One round penetrated the aircraft tail pylon. The flight was continued without further incident.

The Third Marines were supported by two aircraft in various administrative and logistical flights to subordinate units for the entire day.

The night reconnaissance flight was launched for observation of the Phu Bai airfield and TAOR. No unusual occurrences were noted.

VMO-2 - (U) On three December the MedEvac escort aircraft crashed south of Danang airfield while engaged on a pre-dawn mission. There were no injuries to personnel, and the accident was attributed to disorientation in marginal weather conditions. Maintenance personnel were flown in to disassemble the aircraft, and it was lifted back to MMAF by Junkman with a Deadlock escort.

MedEvac aircraft performed six missions, evacuating six US WIA, one US KIA, one US injured, one civilian WIA, and three civilian KIA.

4 December 1965

HMM-161 - (C) An emergency resupply to the ARVN outpost of Ba Long (YD 152400) from the loading zone at Ia Vang (YD 342507) was accomplished despite extremely poor weather in and around the Ba Long area. Eight aircraft with 4 A4 and 2 F4 escort aircraft departed Ia Vang and repeatedly entered the valley under adverse weather conditions. Confirmed Viet Cong positions were located at (YD 195397) which is on the western side of the river at the mouth of the valley. Six flights were made into the valley. Each time a different entry was utilized as the weather was constantly changing. At times, the flights of four aircraft had to fly a column formation to enter or depart the valley through a small break in the weather. Each flight of four operated independently of each other but constantly advised the other of their relative position in the area. At times, one flight would hold outside of the valley until other flights were clear of the ridge lines. On the initial landing at Ba Long, the marine adviser passed the Viet Cong position to the flight of helicopters, who in turn relayed the information to the escort aircraft, Oxwood 14-1. The escort aircraft ran a strike mission on this position. At times, it was necessary to operate at 300 feet or less because of the existing weather conditions. Oxwood 14-1 demonstrated a highly professional ability and exceptional courage on this strike. Voluntarily, this flight entered and remained in the valley under extremely hazardous conditions, escorting the helicopters. In summary, the eight aircraft flew 95 sorties, carried 51,950 pounds of much needed cargo and 119 troops into the valley. All flight helicopter and fixed wing support crews demonstrated superb airmanship in the accomplishment of this mission.

Two aircraft, in support of the Third Battalion, Fourth Marines, lifted a mobile alert team into LZ (YD 875054) after the zone was prepped by artillery fire. No resistance was encountered. One Viet Cong KIA was carried from (YD 907094) to the Battalion Command Post.

In support of the Ninth Marines, two aircraft with two armed gunships, flew a strike of 75 troops to (BT 047718). The landing was unopposed. During a routine supply of other subordinate units, one aircraft received a small round through the tail pylon when compelled to operate at 200 feet because of adverse weather conditions.

Flight operations for the Third Marines were limited because of the poor weather conditions.

HMM-263 - (U) I Corps support consisted of resupply of (AT 813390) (Nong Son), (AT 875476) (Duc Duc), and (BT 043349) (Que Son). 4 tons of cargo, 4 US military, 82 VN military, 57 VN civilians, and 1 VN military WIA were lifted. Small arms fire was received enroute at (AT 976517). A recon mission received automatic weapons fire from (AT 872704), with one hit.

5 December 1965

While departing the LZ at (AT 968642), the lead aircraft was hit by small arms fire and had to make an emergency landing into LZ 3 (AT 972662). The aircraft was hit by two 30 cal. rounds. One round entered the lower left clamshell door, passed through the magneto ground lead, severed the number four cylinder high tension lead, severed the inner valve oil drain line and lodged in the cooling fins. The second round pierced a spar near the rotor head. Repairs were made by the crew and a quality control inspection was performed by the maintenance aircraft crew upon their arrival. After a short check flight, all aircraft returned to Phu Bai.

The Third Marines utilized two aircraft all day in various administrative and logistical flights for subordinate units. Two local flights were launched for squadron co-pilot training and familiarization. The night reconnaissance flight reported no enemy in or around the Phu Bai TAOR.

Protestant church services were held in the mess hall at 0900. Chaplain Leroy E. MUENZLOR of the Third Battalion Fourth Marines conducted the services. Catholic mass was held at 1400 at the Eight R.R.U. Army compound. Squadron transportation was furnished for those desiring to attend.

HMM-263 - (U) Drone recovery was flown at Chu Lai in support of 2nd LAAM Bn. Cargo lifted was 3 tons (3 drones) and 24 US military. 6 aircraft scrambled for a strike on (BT 655045). 76 US military were lifted into the zone. No fire was received.

After dropping off the reconnaissance party, the flight returned to general support missions for the Third Marines.

Two aircraft conducted general support missions for the Ninth Marines. The flight was diverted by Landshark to carry gas masks and demolitions to the landing zone (BT 005615) and twenty-one Viet Cong prisoners were returned to the battalion command post.

HMM-263 - (U) During a recon of the TAOR automatic weapons fire was received at (BT 024597) with no hits. 4 US military WIA were lifted from "C" Med to 8th Aerial Port.

HMM-361 - (U) Despite marginal weather during the day Maj. G. M. SHIFFLER led a six-aircraft ARVN retrograde from (AT 984584), ten miles south of Danang. The troops involved had previously been lifted in by LtCol. L. F. CHILDERS flight to establish blocking positions. In two trips, 24 sorties, and 6.9 flight hours; 82 ARVN troops and 2 US Advisors were lifted to (BT 019668). Small arms and automatic rifle fire were received from all quadrants and the escort of F4Bs was called in on the target.

VMO-2 - (U) On the 27th of the month the squadron launched two UH-1Es to rescue Marines cut off from a patrol, but they were safe before the aircraft arrived.

During a Med Evac mission the escort aircraft delivered suppressive fire on an enemy position adjacent to the LZ at (BT 064631). The pilot observed VC camouflaged in utilities and disguised as bushes, and he attacked the same. Redwood "B" gave the aircraft credit for 6 KBA, confirmed. This is a significant incident as it shows the versatility of the UH-1E in a role that a fixed wing aircraft would have had difficulty in performing.

SU #1, H&MS-16 - (U) Hauled 10,840 pounds of weed killer from Hoi An to Que Son.

28 December 1965

HMM-161 - (C) Two aircraft in reconnaissance support of the Twelfth Marines in the Danang TAOR received small arms fire at (AT 938979) Bautag. While conducting a positive identification low pass over personnel at (AT 972644), the aerial observer in the left seat of the lead aircraft, 1stLt. J. S. SCHMID, 084862, was hit by small arms fire and immediately evacuated to "C" Med. Fire suppression was returned. Upon landing at Marble Mountain and received a replacement aerial observer, the flight recommenced a reconnaissance of the Danang TAOR. Small arms fire was received at (AT 962630). One round penetrated the center fuel cell and through a rotor blade and necessitated the flight being aborted.

Two aircraft carried the First ARVN Division briefing team from Hue Citadel to Marble Mountain for a conference and returned them to Hue Citadel after completion.

A flight of two aircraft reconnoissanced the general area of PK 17 (YD 605270). An ARVN UH-34 was located on the ground at (YD 6939). The flight landed to render assistance but no aid was required.

Two aircraft conducted resupply missions to Hill 180 and Hill 225 in support of the Second Battalion First Marines.

One aircraft launched on a night Medical Evacuation to (YD 881175) to pick up one Popular Forces WIA and returned him to "A" Med at Phu Bai.

BGen ENGLISH, Assistant Division Commander, Third Marine Division paid an informal call to the squadron area.

The HMM-163 advance party arrived by C-130 from Futema Okinawa and HMM-161 advance party departed for Futema aboard the same aircraft.

HMM-263 - (U) While resupplying 3rd Marines, small arms fire was received at (BT 922658) and (BT923681) with no hits. In support of I Corps (BT 044347) (Que Son) was resupplied with 9 tons of ammunition. 3 US military WIA were lifted from (AT 155555) to "C" Med. On a recon of Highways 1, 14 and 5, small arms fire was received at (AT 945588).

VMO-2 - (U) Nothing unusual for the 28th. Klondike reported that they had found a cracked lift link on one of their aircraft, and a safety of flight message was sent out, and all UH-1Es were downed by the Wing until they could be x-rayed.

29 December 1965

HMM-161 - (U) All flights were cancelled because of the severe monsoon rains and low cloud coverage in the Phu Bai area.

HMM-263 - (U) Operation Big Cheer was lifted from Danang Air Freight to area of performance and returned. 99 civilians and 88 US military were lifted.

HMM-361 - (U) Seven aircraft from HMM-361 were used to transport troops to landing zone Quail to view the "Bob Hope Show". Maj. G. M. STIFFLER led the flight which made 137 sorties in 16.2 total flight hours. US military personnel totalling 499 were lifted.

30 December 1965

HMM-161 - (U) All flights were again cancelled because of the heavy rainfall and low cloud coverage in the Phu Bai area. The rainfall for the past two day period totaled 3.3 inches.

HMM-263 - (U) 297 US military and 245 civilians were lifted into (AT 870710) (Moi Vuc) for a search and clear mission, during very marginal weather. Intense automatic weapons fire was received approaching and departing the zone resulting in two hits. Cover aircraft were not utilized because of weather. In support of I Corps, 225 VN military, 33 VN civilians, and 2 US military, were lifted from Hoi An to reinforce (AT 915584) (Dai Lac). 2 VN WIA were extracted.

HMM-361 - (U) Capt. G. N. BAILEY took his seven aircraft to Hoi An (BT 142575) where they embarked a total of 82 ARVN troops. This force was taken to relieve Dai Loc (AT 915570), which was under attack at the time. The aircraft involved flew 28 sorties and a total of 6.7 hours. Fire was received upon entering the zone, and again low ceilings and poor visibility made the operation even more hazardous.

31 December 1965

HMM-161 - (U) Two aircraft conducted a recon of (YD 790090) outside the Phu Bai TAOR for evaluation as a landing zone. Eight aircraft with A4 providing escort resupplied the ARVN outposts in the Quang Tri province. Four aircraft resupplied the outposts of D-5 (YD 525095) and Con Thien (YD 705112) from Dong Ha (YD 602241). The other four aircraft resupplied the outpost of BaLong (YD 403175) from Le Vang (YD 505343). The resupply to BaLong was discontinued as the hours of darkness approached. BGen CARL flew escort in a UH-1E helicopter and also assisted in the resupply. Eight aircraft with F8 aircraft providing escort resupplied the ARVN outpost of Dai Lac (AT 910580) in the Quang Tri province from the city of Hoi An (BT 145575) and Danang airfield. One aircraft received a small arms round through the aft fuel cell in the approach to Dai Lac but was able to complete the mission. No suppression fire was returned.

HMM-263 - (U) 32 US military personnel were lifted from (AT 875762) on a retrograde, without incident. A lift to several special forces camps in the area carried 18 US military, 2 VN civilians, and 1 Australian military. A retrograde of 96 US military was accomplished from (AT 846722). Small arms fire was received from (872712) with no hits.

MORALE AND WELFARE PROGRAMS

Morale and Religious programs conducted by MAG-16 Chaplains are as follows:

Roman Catholic. Daily mass in Blessed Sacrament Chapel at 1700. Sunday mass at 0830. Sunday mass at 1/9 CP South of Marble Mountain Air Field. One Memorial Mass for MAG-16, three Memorial Masses for 1/9. Nine men confirmed at St. John Seminary on 27 December 1965. Transportation arranged to Cardinal Spellman's Christmas Day Mass.

Protestant. Sunday worship at 0930. Church party to LDS service at Air Force Chapel, Danang. Wednesday evening bible study. Christmas Eve candlelight service. Christmas Day service (RADM James W. KELLY, Chief of Naval Chaplains was the guest speaker for the day.

HMM-161

The morale continues, as in the past, to be excellent. The various clubs were decorated for Christmas and a large Christmas tree was erected and decorated by squadron personnel on the southern end of the waste field. The squadron choir sang for the Christmas Eve services, and later performed caroling services throughout the camp. Christmas dinner exceeded all expectations and was superbly prepared from the shrimp cocktail appetizer to the pumpkin pie dessert. Mail service, while hindered by the additional holiday volume, continued to be good, and hundreds of packages were received and distributed by the squadron mail room.

MABS-16

The largest single morale boosting event was the opening of the new mess hall on 9 December 1965. Having three hot meals per day instead of "C" rations at noon has had a tremendous effect on the men of MAG-16. The quality and quantity of the food in the new mess hall has been outstanding.

SU #1 H&MS-16

All hands duly noted Christmas and the passing of the old year. A noticeable increase in morale resulted from the easing of tensions inherent in the traditional observance of these events.

HMM-161

During the month of December support was given to Lim Long Orphanage, Daughters of Immaculate Mary Convent and the Phu Bai Kindergarden. In addition, a cash donation was made to the representative of the Arch Bishop of Vietnam in support of a newly founded refugee village. On 1 December, the Kim Long Orphanage received assorted clothing, blankets, material, needles, thread and two sets of electric clippers. Throughout the month scrap lumber left over from camp construction was delivered to the orphanage for use in the wood burning cooking stoves.

The request to CARE placed in October for school kits was filled this month and on the 14th 125 school kits were delivered to the Kim Long Orphanage and the Daughters of Immaculate Mary Convent.

The squadrons members request home for toys was extremely fruitfull and over 600 toys were sent in response to our request.

On 21 December a Christmas party was held at the Kim Long Orphanage in conjunction with the U. S. Army Advisors in Hue. At the party a movie was shown, gifts and candy were given to each of the children, and a meal was provided.

SU #1 H&MS-16

VMO-2

The squadron began a project with SU #1 to reconstruct the school building in My Thi hamlet near MMAF. Several visits have been made to My Thi and a meeting was held with the men of the hamlet to plan the reconstruction beginning in early January. Cost of material purchased has been shared by the two participating organizations, with funds received from Statesides donors. The people of My Thi are providing the labor.

Several sickcalls have also been held in My Thi, and the squadron Flight Surgeon has made plans for a VMO-2 medical action project there.

During the month, the squadron acquired a civic action fund in excess of 600 dollars, with contributions coming from the people of Nebraska City, Nebraska, the Crescent Street Methodist Church of Sioux City, Iowa, the people of Riverdale Illinois, and individual members of the squadron. Disposition of the fund has been planned, with the greater part to go to local orphanages, a leprasarium, and a home for the aged. The remainder will be used for local civic action projects, in accordance with the donors desires.

Squadron personnel have participated in civic action visits to Da Me Hamlet, and future plans call for a building reconstruction project in Son Tuy hamlet near Marble Mountain. The squadron also provides a French interpreter to the weekly clinic sponsored by MAG-16. Clothing donated by the people of Ann Arbor, Michigan, was presented to the clinic.

PUBLIC INFORMATION/ISOHMM-161

On 20 December the squadron held a traditional Marine Corps Mess Night. Guests included Major General CHAUN, Commanding General, First ARVN Division, Brigadier General CARL, USMC, Assistant Wing Commander, First Marine Aircraft Wing, Colonel BOSTON, USA, Senior Advisor, First ARVN Division, and Colonel O'CONNOR, USMC, Commanding Officer, Marine Aircraft Group 16. All honored guests delivered short speeches. The high degree of cooperation between the First ARVN Division and Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 161 while working together in Quang Tri Province in the Republic of Vietnam was also emphasized. Major General CHUAN presented a very attractive First Division plaque to the squadron.

Group Intelligence Section operated as part of MAC-16's forward element during Operation "Harvest Moon".

HMM-161

During the month of December primary areas of interest were the Provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien. Additional interest was taken in Quang Tin Province in the areas of Tam Ky and the Phouc Valley. The latter area was the sight of Operation "Harvest Moon", a combined ARVN, Marine Corps Operation against units of the 1st VC Regiment.

Squadron aircraft have received fire on 13 occasions during the month with 9 hits being inflicted upon the aircraft.

Listed below are the anti-aircraft fire incidents during the month:

HMM-263

In the month of December, the squadron had a total of 80 hostile fire incidents, including 30 aircraft sorties receiving 46 hits. This significant increase in the incidents of hostile groundfire is directly attributable to increased Viet Cong activity in the squadron area of operations. The increased number and percentage of aircraft hits appears to be a consequence of the influx of hard-core Viet Cong/PAVN troops in this area of operations, who are more experienced and proficient in techniques of anti-aircraft firing. This was evidenced in Operation "Harvest Moon" during 8-19 December in which Marine Units were in contact with estimated elements of the 1st VC Regiment and of an unidentified PAVN unit (later evaluated to be from the 319 Anti-aircraft Battalion. Squadron participation in this operation resulted in 33 hostile fire incidents including 15 aircraft sorties receiving 25 hits, one of these being the first incident of a squadron aircraft being hit by a round from a 12.7mm/.50 caliber automatic weapon.

The areas of heaviest hostile groundfire during December were grid squares (BT 06)17 incidents, (AT 95)10 incidents, (BT 13)8 incidents, (BT 03)7 incidents, and (AT 96)6 incidents.

One possible compromise of classified information occurred when a pilot's classified frequency card for Operation "Harvest Moon" blew out the cockpit window during flight. This incident was reported to higher headquarters and corrective measures were effected to prevent a recurrence.

HMM-361

The intelligence section of HMM-361 is now briefing all missions other than those remaining within the local TAOR. During "Harvest Moon", a complete situation map of troop dispositions, enemy gun emplacements, and anti-aircraft incidents was kept at the squadron level. Capt. D. M. LOWE made several trips to the scene in order to supply more information to pilots flying in the area of operation.

There were 42 fire reports and 19 spot reports submitted by the squadron in December. The majority of these reports were in connection with Harvest Moon.

Intelligence program well organized and functioning within the guidelines emanating from next senior command.

GROUND DEFENSEHMM-161

New guard orders put into effect last month have proven to give maximum coverage of the squadron area. Posts number three, four and five on the second and third reliefs have been doubled to provide increased security.

Aircraft continue to be dispersed nightly with a constant shift in parking location in a continuing effort to prevent a discernable pattern from being established.

On the morning of 10 December at 0200, the squadron was notified that the district headquarters two miles to the north had received a mortar attack. The squadron was placed on 100% alert and all defensive positions were manned throughout the night.

The evening of the 10th at approximately 1930 intelligence sources revealed the possibility of an attack that evening on the Phu Bai airfield. Based on this intelligence ten aircraft were dispersed to the Hue Citadel airstrip and the squadron was placed on 100% security. That evening a patrol from the Third Battalion Fourth Marines encountered a VC patrol, intentions unknown, approximately 750 meters east of the airstrip. 8 VC KIA, 1 VC captured. No further incidents were recorded and all aircraft returned to base by 0700 on 11 December.

MABS-16

The provisional rifle company continued to provide security for Marble Mountain Air Facility. This company is formed from personnel from all units aboard this facility and supported logistically by MARS-16.

AIRCRAFT MAINTENANCEHMM-161

The maintenance section facilities improved this month with the completion of Hardback tents for shop and storage areas. This greatly enhanced the working conditions and certainly was paramount in providing sheltered areas for equipment which may otherwise have been damaged due to the predominance of inclement weather during the last two weeks of December.

The aircraft availability during this month averaged 84%. The AOCF rate decreased 5% during this month. Ingenuity in the repair of fuel cells is note worthy. Rubber cement and battle dressing gauze applied to both sides of the puncture seals the fuel cell effectively. Were it not for this simple repair we would presently have 3 aircraft AOCF for fuel cells.

The squadron received its first 150 series UH-34D this month. Although additional replacement aircraft will of necessity be provided. Periodically it is not neccessarily true that 150 series aircraft will be the normal replacement series.

As always typical of a combat situation problems arise which require immediate action under other than ideal conditions. One such case in point was the fact maintenance repair in the field of the tail rotor replacement of a UH-34D at Ashua 25 miles to the west of Phu Bai. One hour and 45 minutes after the aircraft developed trouble it was flying again.

HMM-263

During the month of December, the squadron flew a total of 1422.7 hours, more than any month so far in Vietnam.

Average aircraft availability rose to 11 for the whole month, and 13 during the last week, showing a steady rising number of available aircraft.

The squadron began the month with 20 aircraft assigned, 16 in A-1 status and 4 in a G-3 (in repair at O&R) status. On 2 December one of the aircraft at O&R, EG-10(150574) was transferred to O&R; on the same day, the squadron picked up a newly overhauled aircraft, EG-21 (150255). On 3 December EG-5 (148797) had an engine failure on take-off from Danang and in subsequent hard landing the aircraft suffered B (overhaul) damage. A priority DIR was requested for the engine; results have not yet been received, but it is strongly suspected that the magnetos was the cause of the failure. It was the first (and only) engine failure in the squadron. The aircraft was eventually shipped to O&R. In December the squadron received another newly overhauled aircraft, EG-7 (150263), and another on 13 December, EG-19 (150228). On 23 December, a low time aircraft, EG-18 (148081), was received from HMM-163, bringing the total aircraft assigned to the squadron to 23, 19 in A-1 status. On 26 December, all squadron's aircraft at O&R were transferred to HMM-163, giving the squadron a total of 19 aircraft, all in an A-1 status. On 29 December, the latest aircraft was received, again from O&R, EG-17 (145792). The squadron ended the month with 20 aircraft, all in the A-1 status.

The squadron had 3 aircraft AOCF from 1 through 28 December, and finished the month with 2 AOCF, the lowest number AOCF since arrival in Vietnam.

VMO-2

VMO-2 expended during the month of December, 402 2.75 FFAR rockets, 22,300 rounds of 7.62 and used 41,000 gallons of JP-4.

There were seven engine changes required, ranging in reason from sand erosion on one, stator vane corrosion on one, NI nozzle burnt out on two, to strike damage in three accidents.

There were five aircraft damaged by small arms fire, three by .50 caliber, and three by .30 caliber. One of the five suffered damage by both .50 and .30.

The average aircraft availability for the month of December was 9.4.

HMM-361

The average number of aircraft assigned for the month was 18.2: Average utilization was 74.8 hours with a daily average availability of 12.5 aircraft. The actual availability was 69%. Total number of hits was 17 on 12 aircraft.

SU#1, H&MS-16

Aircraft parts availability has improved considerably. Presently have 14 AOGP parts outstanding.

CAMP MAINTENANCEHMM-161

Keeping up with the drainage, repairs due to water damage and the fresh water and trash details became major projects in the adverse weather conditions. The Officer's and SNCO's side of the mess hall was overhauled with parachute material under the supervision of the Mess Officer. The Mess Hall, pot shack, and Vietnamese head were rescreened. Also, the urinals around the camp were screened with canvas and the washing facilities next to the heads were improved. Usable lumber was segregated from scrap with the scrap lumber donated and delivered to needy Vietnamese families. Pallets, screen wire, lumber, etc. have all been stacked according to size and type.

MABS-16

A new tower for a 3000 gallon water tank was completed at the galley, and construction was begun on a tower to hold 2-3000 gallon water tanks at the well by MCB-9 personnel. MCB-9 completed the two permanent shower facilities except for the required plumbing.

The following constructions completed by the MABS-16 construction section; constructed 125 mess hall tables, built a new Group CO's office and conference room, converted 7 strong-backed GP frames to permanent tinne buildings, converted the S-1, S-2 and S-3 complex from strong-backed tents to permanent tinne buildings, constructed a water tower for a 3000 gallon tank at the EM shower, partitioned off the Staff NCO area in the new mess hall, installed partition and food service counter in the officers mess wing, poured 20' X 40' concrete slab for garbage house, pre-cut all lumber for garbage house, built hot locker and storage room for MABS-16 Material, began construction on five hot lockers for the mess hall, built and installed shutters and sorting bins at MABS-16 laundry, constructed several large boxes for shipment and storage of motor transport and material equipment, and made continuous repairs on all heads.

The following electrical construction was accomplished; pole line construction from pump house to motor transport section, rewired entirely the S-1, S-2 and S-3 offices, the motor transport office and the HMM-263 ready room, wired the new Group CO's office, the water point tent and pump house, the welding and paint shops at H&MS-16, installed runway lighting, wired all VMO-2 tents on flight line, wired eating areas in new mess hall, installed wiring and receptacles in several living tents and MABS-16 office, installed conversion boards for standby generators at sick bay and communications, and repaired 9 generators.

The plumbing section accomplished the following; installed all plumbing in new galley and mess hall, including piping from 3000 gallon water storage tank outside galley, installed leach bed behind mess hall to facilitate drainage, installed drains in all sinks in galley, installed drain and sink at sick bay, cleaned 3000 gallons water tanks at officers and SNCO showers, completed plumbing of SNCO Club, installed shower drains at EM shower, built trap for drain at the officers shower and made plumbing repairs to all showers,

[REDACTED]

The reefer section had the following major jobs: prepared one ME-10 reefer for its transfer to Phu Bai, moved ice flakes machine to new galley and built new ice chest for same and serviced and repaired reefers and ice machines as required.

The TAFDS section issued 289,038 gallons of Aviation Gas at Marble Mountain Air Facility. Members of the TAFDS section conducted a technical inspection on the TAFDS equipment at MAG-11 and established a MABS SOP for safety during TAFDS fuel handling operations. Embarkation data was brought up to date and equipment remarked. Support was given to MAG-36 which had established a TAFDS at landing zone OAK during the Operation "Harvest Moon". Transportation at outlying sites still remains a problem for TAFDS personnel. TAFDS personnel at Dong Ha live at Quang Tri and must rely on Army and Air Force vehicles to travel the 9 miles between the places. At Tam Ky the personnel live at the MACV compound, work at the Province Headquarters 3 miles away and are resupplied by drums which are delivered to an airstrip approximately 8 miles away. Here, again Army and Air Force vehicles must be used (when available) to transport personnel and drums.

COMMUNICATIONS

The communications for this period were in most instances at the highest standards, with a reliability factor of 90%+. Numerous improvements and additional equipment are largely accountable, namely:

HMM-161 has finally provided adequate power to operate a TRC-75 on the Wing TAC net. This has resulted in reliable 24 hour communications with HMM-161.

Several AN/TT-4s were found in Group Supply Warehouse. Of these, 2 were in excellent operating condition. One is presently installed in MAG-16 Msg center - which has resulted in good quality run-off. The other was sent to MAG-12 who also were in a similar predicament.

Utilities has relocated and rewired their 75 KW generator which supports the mess hall and comm center, thus resulting in constant steady power.

To further alleviate our power source, the AN/MRC-62 van and S-126 crypto shelter were connected to the USAF generator.

But with all these improvements there is one that excels above all. That is the spirit and devotion of the of MAG-16 who stand and work at their "unglorious" tasks. These men, for the most part, realize the mission communications-to Serve the Command and to serve in the highest standards.

During the 2nd and 3rd week of Dec, comm section supported the Advance Operations unit of MAG-16's S-3 section on operation Harvest Moon. Communications were provided for landing zone control and frag missions. Deployed equipment consisted of: 1 MRC-38, 1 PRC-47, 1 PRC-41 plus batteries and accessories, 1 PRC-10 and 1 RC-292.

Enclosure (1) shows the equipment being off loaded. For future operations the following package is recommended depending on the mission and requirements submitted by the S-3. 1 MRC-87, 1 MRC-83, 1 PRC-47, 1 PRC-41, 1 PRC-10, 1 RC-292 and 1 PIQ-5 accessories etc.

As a helpful note to future MAG-16 CommO's. During such operations we are usually called upon to assist other units with additional comm equipment primarily PRC-47's and PRC-41's. Special emphasis should be placed on care and maintenance of this equipment and its power supplies to maintain all in a constant useable status.

Communications section underwent an A&M inspection by CG, 1stMAW. The resulting grade was 90%, Discrepancies which were noted are being corrected.

Particulars: Message Center: Attempts were made to reinstall full duplex TT circuit but either Wing or MAG-16 was without the necessary back up equipment.

Modification and maintenance cards were initiated on all equipment and are being maintained by Tech shop.

MAG-16 message center processed 2,999 incoming and 572 outgoing messages.

There was a notable drop in outage time resulting from MAG-16. Wing however has been plagued with considerable equipment failures.

Radio: Communications over Wing Cmd #2 and Wing TAC Net continued successfully and have improved with the employment of an AN/TRC-75 with HMM-161.

Radio Section made a fine performance of the aforementioned "spirit" by the hard work of the personnel deployed on "Harvest Moon".

Radios for the perimeter guard have been taking unusual rough treatment due to the elements. Constant stress has been placed on care and cleaning.

The BA-279 situation has temporarily been solved by the support of 1st LAAM Battalion. The batteries are available in the system and supply has been notified.

Repair: Under the guidance and knowledge of GySgt SNYDER (maintenance Chief) and the professional skill of repair section close to 90% of "downed" equipment has been brought to an operational status.

A maintenance program has been initiated and kept in progress.

Total repair activity: 138 pieces of equipment processed, 27 pieces evacuated to higher echelon maintenance, 15 pieces returned from higher echelon maintenance, 118 pieces of equipment returned to sections and 121 new requisitions processed.

Wire: Trouble shooting of lines and phones has continued with maximum effort.

Various phones were relocated and 5 additional installed.

Three new speakers (LS-103) were received and installed immediately. Plastic bags are now used to cover the terminal post of these speakers to keep corrosion and rust at a minimum.

MAG-16 paraloft, upon request from comm section, provided blue canvas duck covers for all test stations. These covers are being installed and will prevent moisture and sand from corroding terminal posts and wires.

LOGISTICSHMM-161

The logistics work this past month has centered around the completion of camp construction, further work on internal projects and reparations for the move to Okinawa. Monsoon rains hampered the outdoor work seriously, however much time was spent profitably on indoor projects.

Food Services: This month, many of the items on order through Material arrived, and the receipt of stoves, brooms, swabs, glasses and serving dishes has improved the capability to serve attractive and well-prepared meals. A water trailer was mounted on a CONEX box at the rear of the Mess Hall providing running water inside the galley. The request for a galley extension was approved and a bid has been submitted to the Group Fiscal Officer. The Wing Contracting Officer will solicit and approve the final contract.

Material: Inventories are being conducted with the HMM-163 Responsible Officer of our organizational property. At this time, all equipment is in dry storage which was accomplished with our "hot box" and the aid of two sunny days this month. Our cold weather equipment has been turned in to Group Supply and has reduced the amount of storage space that is required for this squadron. A weather shelter was built to shield those items which do not necessarily require indoor storage.

Medical: The medical department has been able to process a considerable amount of backlogged paperwork. This is a direct result of our new "Sick Bay". Daily sanitation reports are now being made which aid both ourselves and Camp Maintenance in sanitation control.

MABS-16

This unit has received 63% of its 180 day spares. This unit still has Pri 02 requisitions out on Diesel parts for 90 days.

MOTOR TRANSPORTMABS-16

MAG-16 Motor Transport section received 21 new M38A1 jeeps and one new MB-5 crash truck on 24 December 1965. These vehicles will replace all M-422 Mighty Mites which will be turned in, and the MB-5 which was destroyed during the Viet Cong attack on 28 October 1965.

VMO-2

The Motor Transport office was able to establish better and more efficient working spaces during the month, and constructed a shop. They turned in one aircraft refueler to MABS-16 MT and received one in replacement. The former was burned during the attack on the morning of 28 October 1965.

The Motor T office received three new jeeps, M-38A1, and one truck, platform, airfield maintenance, from MABS-16.

Fuel consumption was 146 gallons and 313 gallons of diesel. Total mileage was 4,695 miles.

As of 31 December there are no prime moving vehicles on deadline.
