During February, the Silver Eagles destroyed 56 bunkers and damaged 10. VMFA-115 also destroyed 75 structures and damaged 42. The bomb damage assessment included 33 secondary fires, 207 secondary explosions, 32 killed by marine air, 105 meters of trench line, 5 trucks, 7 automatic weapons, 16 fighting holes, 3 road slides, and 1 arms cache.

To acquire this Bomb Damage Assessment, VMFA-115 expended 845.4 tons of ordnance. Ordnance dropped by type was:

397 Mk 81 S/E	250 lb bombs
2001 Mk 82 S/E	500 lb bombs
148 Mk 77	500 lb Napalm
91 Mk 117	750 lb Conventional bombs
165 CBU 24/49
122 Mk 83	1000 lb Conventional bombs
6 Mk 77	CS/Sand
513 5.00	Zuni FFAR
3 LAU 60/A	2.75 Pod
2 LAU 69/A	2.75 Pod

One outstanding mission for the Silver Eagles took place on 17 February 1969. Captain HENDERSON and Captain TRUE with Captain HUNTER and Captain CARROLL in the wing position, destroyed an active enemy 37mm gun site. The flight, Manual Zero Eight, was launched on a Commando Hunt mission to work with Nail-29. After a successful rendezvous with the airborne Forward Air Controller at night and in very difficult weather, the flight proceeded to destroy the gun site and cause a secondary fire, despite heavy ground fire.

A Bomb Damage Assessment of two hundred secondary explosions was given to Manual Eight Zero on the night of 20 February 1969. The flight, led by Captain CANNAVA and Captain MARSHALL, with Major PAIGE and 1stLt CRIPE flying wing, worked with Nail-87, in the Steel Tiger region. Despite heavy ground fire and adverse weather, the flight was able to accurately put its ordnance on target and come up with this remarkable Bomb Damage Assessment.

Another outstanding mission for the Silver Eagles was on 26 February 1969. Lovebug 263 was scrambled off the hot pad, led by Captain EVANS and 1stLt SINGLETON with Captain HENDERSON and 1stLt CRIPE flying wing. The flight rendezvoused with the Forward Air Controller over the target area where troops were reported in contact. With the weather rapidly deteriorating and the friendly position already obscured by clouds, the Forward Air Controller spotted enemy troops on a ridge line and called the flight in on them. Using the Mk 4 gun pod, napalm and snake-eye bombs, the flight covered the target area, and a final count revealed thirty enemy killed in the strike.
