E. ABOUT ZERO SOMETHING BY THREE (MAYBE ONLY)

1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to determine what consumers want and what problems they are facing. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept that addresses that need. This is often done through brainstorming and sketching ideas. The third step is to create a prototype, which is a physical model of the product. This allows the designer to test the product and make improvements before moving forward. Finally, the product is manufactured and distributed to the market. Throughout this process, it is important to keep the target audience in mind and to iterate on the design as needed.
