GREAT WORDS FOR A GREAT NATION

The United States is a house not made with hands. Into it have gone the sacrifices and prayers of many generations. While it is by no means complete, it is already the most comfortable habitation which a nation ever enjoyed. Its prevailing atmosphere is marked by progress, peace and tranquility. Sectional animosities have disappeared. Industrial conflicts have almost ceased. Her territorial integrity is secure. Her constitutional liberties are protected by the eternal vigilance of her people. Our country is still worthy of those who have made such great sacrifices in its behalf still determined to improve the opportunities which those sacrifices created, still loyal to the faith of the past, still inspired by the hope of the future.

-Calvin Coolidge-

**The kangaroo got its unusual name because of a misunderstanding. When a British sea captain put in at an Australian harbor, he asked a native for the name of the strange animal he saw bounding about.

The native answered, "Kangaroo."

The captain put out to sea, and the word kangaroo found its place in the dictionary.

Actually, all the native had said was, "I don't understand."

**The visitor from the Great Plains viewed a modest sized Middle West grain field and declared, "I start out in the morning with my car and it takes me five hours to drive around my wheat field."

Replied the local farmer, "I had the same trouble with my car so I traded it in."

**The late Will Rogers once heard a talk about author-lexicographer Noah Webster. "Webster," observed the lecturer, "had amazing command of the language. Audiences were spellbound by his mastery of words. His English was just perfect."

"Mine would be, too," interrupted Rogers, "if I wrote my own dictionary!"

**A skinny lad, weighing 150 lbs or less, turned out for the first football practice at one of the Big Ten colleges, but soon thought better of his impulse. "I didn't mind a thing," he reported, "till one bruiser grabbed my left leg, another my right leg, and the first one said to the other, 'Make a wish!'"

**The wife of a submarine commander gave birth to a beautiful baby girl in the Norfolk Hospital while her husband's craft was patrolling Far Eastern waters. This is the cable she sent him: "Ahoy, skipper. New craft successfully launched at seven bells. Tonnage: eight pounds. No periscope. All ship-shape. That is all we hope. Love, Mary."
