4 January 1969g. Aircraft Dispersal - None.5. Aviation Safety

a. Accidents - none.

b. Ground Accidents

On 4 December 1968 SSgt FLETCHER was moving a work stand with a boarding ladder on top of it from the hangar area to a revetment during a heavy rain shower. As the stand neared the revetment the ladder struck the revetment and slid back cutting the tip of SSgt FLETCHER's little finger on the right hand. SSgt FLETCHER was admitted to the Naval Hospital and after four days it was determined that the finger would have to be amputated below the first joint due to infection and complications.

On 18 December 1968 Cpl Arnett was using a MK-39 Testor to cycle a MK-4 gun pod, Ser No 77, so that the remaining ammunition could be removed. One round of the 20mm fired and Cpl ARNETT received several shrapnel wounds.

c. Incidents, Limited Damage and No Injuries.

On 5 December 1968 F4J 155762 received limited damage when one triple ejector rack lug failed to release and a napalm cannister swung loose denting the external wing tank and damaging the wing tank pylon fairing.

On 7 December 1968 F4J 155770 jettisoned its port inboard pylon with napalm cannisters aboard. Aircraft was cruising in section over water and clear of surface traffic. No damage and no injuries.

On 17 December 1968 F4J 155754 received limited damage when a 500 pound napalm cannister struck the starboard external wing drop tank. The drop tank separated from the aircraft upon execution of a 3.0 g pull-out. Limited damage and no injuries.

On 18 December 1968 F4J 155735 received limited damage when an ejector piston retainer ring failed and an ejector piston struck the starboard fuel tank producing a one inch hole. Limited damage and no injuries.

On 30 December 1968 F4J 155770 received limited damage when a 500 pound napalm cannister separated from the number 3 station of the starboard TER damaging the starboard external wing drop tank.

On 31 December 1968 F4J 155762 received limited damage when 2.75" rocket fins separated in flight and cracked the front windscreen. Limited damage and no injuries.

d. Direct Enemy Action Hit Incidents, Limited Damage and No Injuries.

On 3 December 1968 F4J 155565 received an unidentified small caliber hit in the port wing fold. Limited damage and no injuries.

6. Logistics

a. Aircraft Status

(1) Of 13.0 F4J's on hand, 23.2% NORM rate was due to the following reasons:

BuNo. 155739 Down for Scheduled Maintenance

b. Critical Items:

(1) No significant deficiencies exist pertaining to combat essential/allowance list type items.

c. Significant Problem Areas:

(1) Previous enemy rocket damage to the revetments, causes tire damage in that the surface is extremely rough; additionally chips of concrete and stones are a potential FOD hazard. Two (2) revetments are in dire need of being sealed at the joints. Due to the leakage of sand from the revetments many extra hours are expended on the task of house cleaning. Loose sand blown by jet blasts has greatly increased the need for cleaning, painting and repair of aircraft and accessories.

(2) The lack of a high power turn up area has presented a problem in that the aircrews are utilized to high power check engines after installation in airframes during calendar inspection. If a malfunction occurs the aircraft must be taxied or towed back to the hangar area, repaired, then taken back to the runway by the aircrews. Many of the malfunctions are very minor but in the interest of safety, repairs cannot be accomplished on the taxi way or while the engines are in operation. It must also be noted that no high power hold back provisions are available.

(3) A shortage of brake assy's has caused excessive NOR time. At this time two aircraft are AOCF for four (4) brake assy's. Two have been on order since 19 December 1968, the remaining two since 22 December 1968. It is anticipated that ten (10) sets of brake assy's will be required within the next forty-five (45) days.
