Dear Ruth,

How happy I was today, to find you have an e-mail address on the internet! We have been hooked up to AOL for some time now. Our e-mail address is as follows:

This is a much easier way to communicate. Thank you for your continued correspondence. I apologize for what seems to be a lack of interest on my part, but that is far from being the truth. I have been treading water for some time now but somehow feel that I can swim once again!!! The losses have been great, but I have to believe that the best way to honor my loved ones, is to do my best with what they have given me. So onward and upward.

I am impressed with your fortitude. I so wish we could have met - but another time will come. I will start contacting those in my congressional neighborhood and other near by states, in regards to this matter.

Next Wednesday I am flying home to Seattle for 8 days. Once I return, I will get started.

This must be short today, so I will sign off waiting to hear from you on line. Which reminds me - why don't we meet in a private room that I will create? We could then chat on line. How about ruthsan? If this is something you would like to do let's confirm a date and time to meet. Please respond via e-mail.

Sincerely,

Sandi Hummell
