

Dear,

I just don't understand why I don't get your letters. This is the 3rd day. These are probably the same thoughts you had when you didn't hear from me for almost a week. And it's all probably for the same reason - APO mess. But why would Verna's letter get thru + not yours. Well I won't worry but do feel the absence of hearing from you. I'm anxious to hear how you're doing + how studies are going. At least I did get a consolation today. Finally got the first letter you wrote with that damned wrong APO. Now I know you have already accepted the position at the Salina HS. That's good to know + feel settled about that. Are you sure you are using the

right APO 96368 now. Oh, I'm sure you are. I'm just a punny, I want to hear from you so much.
It's the only highlight of the rather routine + dull
day. This letter is helping considerably.
Not that I'm overly
blue, just feel rather useless + dull without hearing from you. Surely I'll get them tomorrow.
Horror of horrors would be if they got so screwed up, I had to go without for 2 week. Like that guy I wrote about
yesterday. Especially
now it would be bad.
Am so concerned about
how your getting thru
the tension of comms. OK & I want to share the
ups + downs with you.
You did so much good
for me before my comms.

Remember, the very day before when I was wearing down physically + mentally you pulled me away to go to Garnett + it really helped. Of course, I was not able to pull you away or even settle your nerves first hand or rub your back, but I'm so much with you. I don't even know exactly what day or days it happens. Remember, you
told me, but don't remember what you told me.

Here it is Good Fri.
already; time is whizzing by so fast. Got up at 3:00 noon today. Walked
over to the Airborne
camp and bought a case of Schlitz for $3.00
so I can relax while movie watching after
work.

If Mark M. gets a
list of econ. books
suggested, let me see
it first before you buy
any. Still turned on
about the computer
course + think I'll look into it. It's been fairly busy tonight so I've been able to keep my mind off the fact I'm a little Gumpy about
no new word from you.
That's good + keeps from
getting too depressing.
Surely I'll hear tomorrow.
Break was last week on this one ending now, I think + maybe if you
did any traveling, it
thru off the mail. Oh
well, I shouldn't dwell on it - but it's really all I have to talk about since I've been busy

+ little happened today.
Ran across a sentence
in a book I like. It is:
Je t'aime surtout quand
je te l'exprime le moins.
I like that because it's what + how I feel +
hopefully communicate
between the lines + words that means so much more than what I can express. And it also harkens the best part of being together (which we'll be able to look forward to soon), that is, just looking + feeling love without saying it.

It's warming up
again but far from unbearable. The weather is nicer when it's warmer tho because
there's less haze + we can see for miles clearly.
That's why I want to get my camera early

because later on this summer it will begin
to be cloudy more
frequently as the
monsoon approaches.

I love you so much
tonite. And need you very much. Once I get mad, I'll be more
relaxed again, I know.
I need you & your
thoughts to get me
thru this year. Until tomorrow, here's your clinging husband
saying, I & mine.

Love,

Hyman
