Sun.

Dear,

Here I am at main post library, again. Really like it here. In the lounge - a big room with tables & chairs on a dance floor, stage, ping pong tables, & TV (they're watching the super-bowl). It's at the opposite end of the library wing. In the center is a room full of phones, a pool room with ping ball machines, too, & a snack bar (which I plan to use immediately if not sooner). It's a real nice place to spend a Sun. afternoon - everything is here for my type of entertainment & I've gotten a letter written & now yours.

Last night I went to the E-1-23 club. Had a few rum & cokes - not enough to get more than just relaxed (& they're only 35¢ apiece!). It was crowded & the band was fairly good (played "Going to N.C. I got homesick") & had a totally groovy go-go girl. Really dead, I love you very much but you'd make a bad go-go girl with a fringed brief & bra & she was built like you! a little thicker in the waist, tho). And her moments were more than suggesting (ha, ha).

Still had a good time & felt relaxed getting back last nite.

By the way, having a problem with my french. How do you form the "ing" of a verb & do you use a preposition with it like de or a? You'll probably catch many mistakes & please tell me the problems so I can remember forgotten rules, OK?

Sure liked our talk yesterday.
Sure glad to hear you're getting more chummy with Marcha.
Think she'll make a good companion & maybe even a good travel mate, if... Got a lot to do when we get back this afternoon. Our footlocks must be inspected & then we have to get our gear ready for the field tomorrow & guard duty Tues.
Also, must clean up the barrack & have security guard again tonite. No rest for the weary.

Wrote to the family, Dad & Julie, Mom M. & Ron. Hope to get a few letters this week from them. Forgot to ask you about this no personal property tax on the phone (Mom mentioned it in that letter she sent). Could you check on that, dear?

Had to throw away some of my "personal" stuff today in order to make room for all of it in a small area in my foot locker. Made me sad to toss out a half full bottle of hand-cream, some sticks of deodorant (I don't like it, tho, it was part of the Sal. Army stuff) & a bunch of pamphlets & junk I didn't really want to part with. But here we don't have wall lockers or our own storage room to hide things in for inspection & I just had too much stuff, so. Oh, there's plenty of room for basics & I didn't throw away much in the way of expense, it's just doing it that hurts.

You know penny pinching me.

They get into some interesting BS last nit about Nam, Russia,
religion, movies, etc.
Kind of fun to bull around like the old B-field days.

Most of them are pretty damned sharp. And war opinions run much like the rest of ours. A couple even admitted thinking of Canada as an out, then dropping that. At least we're in the boat together & have other guys who'll sympathize with exaggeration. Latest reports are that more troops are being sent to Sv. in Feb. & March. Means nothing for us really except that the possibilities of vacancy rates there to go up are higher. But that's pretty general & I don't even know if it means anything for F A at all.

My, you were wound up about that Tulsa trip. Still haven't checked. Good thing I thought of it. I go do that now & finish this later, OK?

I called & they have a bus leaving at 1:00 that gets there at 5:55. Terrible time, but the best they can do. One leaves at 1:15 & gets there at 7:55 - blat!

That 1:00 bus isn't too bad, tho.
I'd be sure + have time to make it & it would get in there about the time you all could make it if O + A came with you. It means I'd probably have to leave about noon Sun, tho.
Forgot to check return ~~schedule~~ schedule, but they have 10 a day in; so I'm sure I could find one with a decent return time. We'll see how it works out. Can't get a pass unless I'm a good boy so I'll be a good boy (ha, ha).

Not much else to say. Have a good week. Won't be able to write until Wed, probably. So, hang on & I'll be thinking of you.

Je t'aime,
Lynn
