

Dear,
Well, another day zoomed past. Was cold this morning but warmed up. We are learning the formations for firing the 105th Howitzer. It's different and kind of enjoyable. It goes fast. We also ate well again today - so I'm happy after a good nite's sleep.

Got your letter today. Glad to hear you cooled down after I left - it was a quick exit.
How did you find the dog tags?

Hope all is well this week.
Was worried last nite about how you would get to going on your work, but feel more confident now that you'll pull thru if you can just play it cool.

Thought about vacation today. I agree that our marriage is special & getting more so - deeper in a sense, day by day. As long as it can stay strong & even be stronger with this separation, this time will be more

~~It's~~ tolerable + go quickly. I felt so close to you over Xmas + still feel it strongly.
Oh, there will be times it will build up to depression, but the long run looks better all the time.

We have a holiday tomorrow.
I was goofed up on the centennial date. It is the 8th (thus - Wed.) and is a post holiday. So I can get out + see the area. May run over to the library + the PX + write a nice long letter to celebrate.

Got to spit shins my boots tonight + that takes time. Also, have firewatch again, so better get to it so I can get a little sleep.
I'll sock it to you tomorrow with a longer letter. Love you + need you + want you.
Think you pretty special, you know.

Love,
Lynn
