

!!!! McCABE SPECIAL!!!!

Joseph McCabe spent twelve years in a Roman Catholic monastery in 19th century England. In this unlikely environment he achieved the mental freedom of Atheism and left the monastery to become throughout the first 50 years of the 20th century an aggressive Champion of Atheism famous for both his lectures and his literary works. As one of the great historians, he turned his uncompromising scholarly eye frequently on religion, particularly Roman Catholicism, and revealed the harsh, often terrible truths the churches have always struggled to suppress. Now you can experience the pleasure and enlightenment of reading McCabe -- all you need do is take advantage of the American Atheist Center's McCABE SPECIAL!

INGERSOLL SPECIAL

Robert G. Ingersoll was a Civil War hero, a famous lawyer, an orator of now legendary talents, a power in the Republican Party, and one of the most admired men in the last half of the 19th century. He was also the first great spokesperson for Atheism in America. As such, he lived a life of public controversy in the face of near rabid hatred from the religionists of the day. He was a hero by any definition of the term. And a philosopher worthy of an honored place beside the great thinkers of civilization. The American Atheist Center is pleased and proud to offer to you an INGERSOLL SPECIAL so that you may enjoy the wit and wisdom and clear reasoning that delighted and educated Americans in the 19th century.

- [ ] What Can You Believe In The Bible? ..... $4.00
A brilliant examination of the theological babblings on the Bible of one of the Christian "thinkers" of the day.
- [ ] The Liberty Of Man, Woman And Child ..... $3.00
"Let us free ourselves from the tyranny of a book, from the slavery of dead ignorance, from the aristocracy of the air."
- [ ] The Foundations Of Faith ..... $3.00
A critical examination of the Old Testament, compared to which "nothing can be more absurd!"
- [ ] What Must We Do To Be Saved? ..... $3.00
The great Atheist tackles the New Testament and reveals the intellectual idiosy it contains.
- [ ] The Enemies Of Individuality And Mental Freedom ..... $3.00
A damning analysis of why religion hates thinkers.
- [ ] The Truth About The Holy Bible ..... $3.00
"In the nature of things there can be no evidence to establish the claim of inspiration."
- [ ] The Life-Story Of Robert G. Ingersoll by Charles T. Gorham ..... $3.00
In this book you can learn about the man who was Robert G. Ingersoll — one of the truly great humans of all time!

REITMEISTER SPECIAL

A lesser known, but no less distinguished, Atheist philosopher is the late Louis Aaron Reitmeister. He was born in New York in 1903 and began writing at an early age. His published works have met with constant critical acclaim. H.G. Wells called his novel If Tomorrow Comes. "A magnificent effort of the imagination."

The American Atheist Center is fortunate to have a supply of three of Reitmeister's titles. They are beautifully bound in durable hardback. Those of you who are Sahula-Dyke fans should find Reitmeister particularly pleasing, as the two philosophers have a similar style of expression. We have reduced the price on all three titles to induce those who have not added this Atheist philosopher to their library to do so.

Copies of If Tomorrow Comes ..... $4.00

A tale of strange worlds and strange men, a novel of breathless adventure written in a new, original style that will hold you from cover to cover. Here we have a panoramic, kaleidoscopic picture of the old decadence, the present chaos, and the super-world of the future!

Copies of The Gods & My Friends ..... $2.00

"It is the general recognition of religion as that department of a man's faith which deals with the acceptance of supernaturalism, personal immortality, and the ultimate realization of eternal security for one's soul, it is this accepted term of religion that we contend within this essay." — L.A.R.

Copies of A Philosophy Of Freedom ..... $15.00

"This work is an attempt to explain the natural basis of freedom. The roots, growth, and processes of freedom precede the subsequential, evolutionary acquisitions of culture, government, religion and society. How these acquisitions affected the freedom of man is carefully documented and eruditely analyzed to inspire thought for recapitulating and re-evaluating life itself, as well as the natural rights and symbioses of all livingthings." — L.A.R.
