

Here is another evidence of the promotion of moral degeneracy by the churches

The news commentator, Paul Harvey, in his radio broadcast on Radio Station WSIC in Statesville, N.C. on August 17 reported that burlesque shows were being promoted in churches in the Chicago area. According to his report, class rooms in St. Jude the Apostle School are being transformed into miniature night clubs "where thousands pay $3.00 each for an evening's entertainment. In one of 35 different acts, in a New Orleans style room, a sultry woman slunk se^xily onto the stage, and began peeling off her clothing while increasing the seductive gyrations of a strip tease dancer, then tossed back her dark hair and belted out a verse and two choruses of, "Can't Help Loving That Man." A priest sitting at one of the tiny candle-lit tables identified the performer as a parishioner, the mother of five children. "The Rev. Thomas McMann calls it the greatest money raising event his church has ever devised. Two weekends may net over $20,000.00. He said it is a lot more fun than bingo! He reportedly stated that 20 other churches in the Archdiocese "intend to copy the idea."
