22 East 40th Street New York, N.Y. 10016 (212) 725-1222

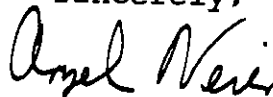

Dear Colleague:

It gives me great pleasure to invite you to become a charter subscriber to The Civil Liberties Review, a quarterly publication of analysis, opinion, record, and debate. The Review is being sponsored by the ACLU in association with John Wiley & Sons, publishers. It began publishing in December.

The Review was created to bring together in one place the best thinking and the most important information on the complex civil liberties issues of our times. The commitment of the editors to liveliness of format and style assures that you will also find The Review good reading. The enclosed brochure describes the contents of The Review. It also includes information on the distinguished scholars, writers, and lawyers who make up its editorial committee.

The Civil Liberties Review is being offered to the general public at a charter subscription price of $12.50. However, as an ACLU member you are entitled to subscribe at a special charter rate of $10.00 for the first year. I expect you will want to save each issue of The Review because of its permanent value as a reference work. Therefore, I urge you to fill in the enclosed reservation form to be sure your subscription begins with the first issue.

Sincerely,

Aryeh Neier
Executive Director
