Dear Friend,

One of the primary purposes of our antsubversive seminars is to reach and inform student leaders on college and high school campuses. The following extract from a letter just received from a college campus in Michigan indicates that this purpose is being fulfilled.

"Indiana Bicentennial Antisubversive Seminar:

"Enclosed find 9 registration forms for your upcoming seminar. All of us are members of the student senate and currently serving a term of office. We all wish to apply for Full Scholarships of $55 and intend to be present for the entire seminar. As we are students, we lack financial resources and are hoping you have the ability to enable us to take advantage of this opportunity."

Can you imagine a finer investment?

Recently I have been telling a story which always produces an enthusiastic response:

The politburo of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union was celebrating the victory of Communism throughout the whole world. Amidst the revelry, it was noticed that one member seemed pensive and somewhat unenthusiastic. Another member asked him:

What's the trouble, Comrade? Are you not overjoyed that we have now conquered the world?

Yes, of course;

You don't show much enthusiasm;

I am somewhat perplexed. Where will we get our food now?

After enjoying the laughter and cheering this story elicits, I suddenly realized that it is bleak humor indeed. It should cause weeping rather than laughter. It draws attention to the fact that communist world conquest would result in massive food shortages and widespread starvation. Couple this realization with the overwhelming evidence that the communists are conquering the world, and we have an appalling situation indeed.

The communists could coordinate the food shortage with one of their important programs--the liquidation of the bourgeoisie. Need I say more?

All our energies should be devoted to preventing communist conquest. I have little patience with programs to deal with the situation once the communists have seized power. This is truly a situation where an ounce of prevention is preferable to a ton of cure.

The time for sacrifice is now. Study to attain knowledge and equip yourself to speak to groups at schools, churches, clubs, and in your homes; write letters and articles for publication; call radio and talk shows; give till it hurts; pray without ceasing.

We need your financial help. The income for February and March was considerably less than for the corresponding period in 1975. Do send your best gift.

With Christian love,

Fred Schwarz
