CONTRIBUTIONS

The Feminist Press is not just another publishing house. We are a nonprofit, tax-exempt institution working in many different ways to create more meaningful learning experiences for girls and boys, for women and men.

We teach inservice courses and workshops; we provide speakers for students, parents, and teachers; we help people to find information on nonsexist education and women's studies at every level. If you'd like to learn more about our nonpublishing activities, you can write to us and we'll send you a brochure describing them.

And if you'd like to help us in our work of creating renewed respect for women, their learning, and their literature, send a gift along with your book order.

Your gift is tax-deductible—and it is very much needed.
