

MAYA MILLER FOR U.S. SENATE

Dear Friend:

I am one of many Nevada Democrats working to send Maya Miller to the United States Senate. Our first and major hurdle is the Democratic primary on September 3. Maya can win -- she's a popular reformer and an extraordinary campaigner -- but she needs money to get her message across.

Small states like ours have traditionally been targets for rich national political interests -- big oil, the airlines, defense contractors -- seeking to protect their special favors in the nation's Capitol. They know their campaign contributions go a lot further in Nevada than in New York or California, Illinois, Texas, and other big states. We know those special interests won't be supporting Maya Miller. We also think that it's time that more Senators put the interests of people ahead of the interests of corporations. That's why we are working so hard here for Maya.

Maya Miller is a practical activist and a principled liberal, who's devoted thirty years to working effectively for the best causes. She's known and respected in Nevada. One independent newspaper, the Las Vegas Valley Times, said "she has the intelligence, the background, the experience to be an outstanding U.S. Senator".

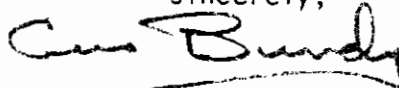

Her record on conservation, on civil rights for blacks and Native Americans, health, and on education are excellent. The enclosed brochure describes her positions and her achievements. Please read it carefully.

Maya's election will mean that Nevadans will have a first-rate Senator, and you'll have a Senator as well. Her voice will be heard on the important issues of tax reform and inflation, disarmament, education and peace.

And, she can win. She's started campaigning early in a small state where she can get to meet most of the voters. She's gone door-to-door in Reno, in Las Vegas, in Carson City, and in the small towns of Nevada. It takes some money of course for posters, for mailings, for transportation, for radio and TV time, and most importantly to sustain our growing volunteer organization. With help from you and others we call Nevadans at Large we can send Maya to the United States Senate.

Send us a check today. We need your dollars in Nevada. You need our Maya in the Senate.

Sincerely,

Gus Bundy
