MOTHER'S GENERAL STORE

...tools for living the satisfying life!

CATALOGUE

Box 506, Flat Rock, N.C. 28731

INTRODUCTION

Dear Folks:

We established MOTHER'S General Store in late 1971 to accomplish the following goals:

(1) We hope to gather into one central supply house a line of the old-time tools that are becoming increasingly difficult to otherwise locate: froes, cruppers, straight razors, bottle cappers, windmills, enamelware, broadaxes, cream separators, butter churns, wood cookstoves, etc. It will obviously be easier to live a simple alternative to the consumer life if the necessary tools for such living are readily at hand. Perhaps we'll even provide a sharp enough focus on the expanding market for "outdated" equipment to persuade manufacturers to again produce some of the quality "obsolete" items they've now discontinued . . . which, of course, will increase the options and make the living of a simpler life again that much more possible.

(2) We also intend to make readily available by mail all the do-more-with-less, latest technology products that the modern homesteader needs and wants: geodesic domes, survival blankets, backpacks, non-polluting solar stoves, etc. Perhaps, as we develop a market for "real" goods, we'll encourage industry to apply modern production methods to the fabrication of such items . . . rather than (as seems to be the case) to the construction of increasingly shoddy, overdecorated and overpowered gimmicks.

(3) Too, we aspire to create a market for "cottage industry" merchandise. Items that individuals, families, co-ops and communes—perhaps even you or your group—can manufacture at home or in your own shop: ruanas, butter molds, wooden toys, etc. It's one thing to wish well the people who yearn to break out of the rut and breathe free on their own terms . . . and quite another to help put the dollars of liberation into the pockets of those folks. We intend to help direct a certain portion of this country's gross national product into a true alternative channel of business and living. If you're already producing quality handcrafted tools or just-for-fun fancies (or know someone who is), send us a sample and copy of the appropriate discount schedule. We may be able to add the goods in question to our catalogue.

(4) Most of all, we hope to generate a profit . . . all of which will be turned over to MOTHER'S Research Center which, as you know, will soon (we anticipate) be established to further wrestle with the problems of ecological living and alternative lifestyles. The center is going to need a lot of dollars to tackle the work it has mapped out and we can't think of a better place for our excess funds to go.

The goods offered in our first 28-page catalogue, we admit, were a far cry from the line of merchandise we envisioned . . . but it was a start and your response has been most kind. We believe the 84-page catalogue you now hold in your hands to be a considerable improvement over our earlier listings of goods and we expect to make similar gains with each new catalogue we publish.

Please do continue to let us know what you think of our undertaking and please do continue to tell us of sources of goods that you'd like to see MOTHER'S General Store carry.

Peace,

Tha Staff of MOTHER'S General Store

FIND YOUR ZONE NUMBER BY CONSULTING CHART AND DIRECTIONS BELOW

To determine which mailing zone you are in, find the first three digits of your zip code in the left hand column of the following chart. The number in the right column opposite your zip code prefix is your zone number. For example, if your zip code is 87603 the first three numbers are included in 874-884 and your zone is 6. Should your zip code prefix not be in the first chart, check the list of locations at the right of the chart to learn your mailing zone.

IMPORTANT AND INDISPENSABLE SHIPPING INFORMATION

DETERMINING POSTAGE

Find your zone number by looking up your zip code on the zone chart which may be found on the back of the order form. Only the first three digits of the zip code are used. When you have determined your zone number and the total shipping weight of your order, use the Parcel Post Rates Chart (also on the back of the order form) to find the postage charge.

WE GUARANTEE SAFE DELIVERY

MOTHER'S General Store does not charge customers for insurance. We insure packages when we think it is necessary, and we guarantee safe delivery of anything we ship.

UNITED PARCEL SERVICE

United Parcel Service now extends from the East Coast through the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Packages sent by UPS are automatically insured and delivery is faster and safer than Parcel Post. If you would like this added service at no extra charge (send the same amount of postage as for Parcel Post), check the UPS box on the order form. Someone must be at home or arrangements made with a neighbor to sign for your parcel. NOTE: Please send your COMPLETE address, and if you live in the country, give clear directions for reaching your house. UPS cannot make deliveries to post office boxes.

BOOKS

Books are mailed postpaid by Parcel Post, Special Book Rate.

DELIVERY BY TRUCK. (Tipis, Stoves, Ranges, Windmills, etc.)

Deliveries by truck are usually made freight collect. Please state your address specifically, including any information which would help the driver find your home. Someone must be there to sign for the order and pay the driver. Include your telephone number if you wish the trucking company to call you before the delivery.

C.O.D.'S

Sorry, the high cost and problems of C.O.D. mailing raise overall prices. For this reason, we cannot accept C.O.D. orders.

CANADIAN AND FOREIGN ORDERS

Canadians please include $1.40 postage for orders weighing up to 2 lbs., plus $.40 for each additional pound or fraction of a pound. If you live outside the North American Continent, add 10% to the total of your order to help offset the extra shipping and bank charges. All payments should be in U.S. funds by certified check or International Money Order. NOTE: Check with your country's custom bureau to determine approximate duty you will be charged when your order arrives. Refunds cannot be made for merchandise refused because of custom charges.

RETURNS POLICY

If you are not completely satisfied with your purchase, you may return the merchandise within 15 days for a full refund or exchange (please refer to your order number). Used merchandise is not returnable unless proved defective.

PRICE CHANGES

Prices are subject to change without notice. This catalogue replaces all previous catalogues and advertisements issued by MOTHER'S General Store.

STOVE DEPARTMENT

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT WOOD-BURNING STOVES

There are roughly three kinds of wood-burning stoves: [1] free-standing fireplaces, [2] enclosed fireboxes and [3] kitchen stoves suitable for both heating and cooking. Cast-iron stoves produce more even heat and are more durable than sheet metal units, although the latter can warm a room quickly. For most efficient and economical heating, there are three important stove-design considerations: [1] A tight firebox with an adjustable draft enables wood to burn slowly and efficiently. [2] Heat is best collected and radiated into a room by a large mass of cast iron. [3] Baffles and heating chambers inside a stove prevent heat loss up the chimney and transfer more warmth to the stove's surfaces.

Installation: Wood stoves and free-standing fireplaces should be placed no closer than 2-1/2 to 3 feet from a combustible wall, and should rest on a brick or stone hearth or asbestos or sheet-iron plate. These heaters may be attached to an existing chimney (check carefully for cracks where sparks could enter into walls or roof) or to a stove-pipe which passes through the wall or ceiling or serves as a liner inside an unsound chimney.

Due to the recent shortage of petroleum products, there has been an increasing demand for wood stoves which cannot be met by American manufacturers. We now have available some imported Jøtul heaters—Norway's best-selling wood stoves—which are famous for their heat emission and fuel economy.

BOX STOVES

The Jøtul Model 118 proved its superior heating efficiency during a study conducted in Canada when outside temperatures ranged from -11° to 23° F. Our Norwegian stove consumed only half as much fuel as the Canadian box heater while maintaining about the same temperature. Model 118 furnished more even heat, burned all night, and did not tend to go out as did the other stove. Here's why: The Jøtul firebox is designed to burn wood slowly and completely, while cast-iron baffles distribute the heat throughout the stove. The draft regulator is especially designed for burning wood and the tight-fitting door (with ground surfaces) prevents leakage of air. Model 602 will heat a medium-sized room. Model 118 will heat large areas and take logs up to 2 ft. long. Both Jøtul box stoves are finished in dark green, easy-to-clean, heat-proof enamel. See specifications chart on next page.

OPEN FIREPLACE NO. 3

The reasonably priced No. 3 model is lined with fireproof brick and has a grate which lets ashes fall into an easy-to-empty ashpan. The fire screen is balanced to remain open while you're adding wood, and a built-in damper in the flue regulates the draft.

FIREPLACE MODEL 6

With the sliding doors open, this unit is a contemporary, free-standing fireplace. Close the doors, and it's a secure wood stove. Model 6 can be used with a top-mounted prefabricated chimney or with an ordinary stovepipe fastened behind. It also features a built-in fire screen and a matte black finish.

COMBI-FIRE NO. 4

The Jøtul Combi-fire No. 4 offers the cozy atmosphere of an open fire, and—for more efficient and economical heating—can be converted to a closed wood stove with an easy pull on a balanced door which hides on iron rails underneath the fireplace. The interior of the firebox is lined with fireproof brick. There is a stovepipe opening in the back, and a top plate connection can be ordered separately. The price includes a built-in fire screen.

THE QUEEN ATLANTIC

For versatility of cooking and heating, this Atlantic range can't be beat. It's made of 100% rust-proof cast iron at the Portland Stove Foundry in Maine, a leader in the manufacture of stoves for decades. Given only a minimum of care it will last a lifetime. Some models are equipped with warming ovens or water heating chambers. An adapter will also readily convert this fine appliance to oil if desired. A stovepipe is required. Your Queen Atlantic will be shipped freight collect from Portland, Maine.

NOTE: Due to the current energy crisis and the resulting sudden demand for woodstoves, there is a three-year waiting period for the Queen Atlantic. If you wish to be added to the list, ask us for a price quote and then send a 20% deposit. We'll put in your order and notify you when your stove is ready to be shipped.

WOODSTOVE

This efficient little Norwegian stove is designed to burn fuel slowly and completely while maintaining an even temperature. It measures 30" high, 24" wide and 18" long. The flue can be connected at the top or rear (diameter of pipe in either case is 5"). The oven is 8" high, 12" wide and 11" from front to back. Chunks of wood up to one foot long can be burned. Shipped freight collect from Portland, Maine (shipping weight is 223 pounds crated).

WOOD-BURNING STOVE

Made especially for burning wood, the smallest and most economical of the Atlantic stoves is only 38-1/2 inches long (49-1/2 inches with reservoir). The oven is 20 X 22 inches with door on each side.

No. 8 Wood Cook Stove $299.00
With reservoir $379.00

NOTE: The waiting period for wood cook stoves and Franklin fireplaces is now about a year. To place your order, send 20% of the current price (subject to change). Deposit is refundable if you wish to cancel later.

This stove is famous the world over for its heating capacity and durable cast-iron construction which will afford a lifetime of family service. It not only combines the beauty and warmth of an open fireplace with the safety of a closed heating stove, but it is easily adapted to many types of installation. By shutting the swinging doors it may be converted to a closed stove. Requires a stovepipe and is usually used with an existing chimney. Three sizes available to suit your needs. Specify top or back opening for pipe.

TUBULAR FIREPLACE GRATE

NOTE: Inside dimensions of fireplace must be at least 22" wide, 25" high and 18" deep. Larger custom models are available for fireplaces over 26" deep or 30" high. The standard model can be cut down at the factory to fit smaller openings.

Here's a way to make your fireplace fuel go twice as far. This sturdy tubular grate fits into any standard-size fireplace. Heat from the fire draws cooler air into the lower openings and forces hot air out the top for twice as much circulating heat as you would normally get from the same amount of fuel. Tubular metal ribs are solidly welded to steel legs and frame. There are no moving parts, nothing to connect. Thermograte is shipped completely assembled, ready to use. Just place it on the hearth.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

Flames keep top of grate hotter than lower openings forcing hot air out cold air in for continuous circulation. Manufacturer guarantees the Thermograte to double heat output with same amount of fuel.

CULINARY SUPPLIES

COFFEE MILL

Coffee beans are readily available in most foodstores and freshly ground coffee has a taste that instant and commercially ground coffee can never approach. Wise homemakers grind their own, and here's a mill that will last through many years of hard service. The grinding assembly is made of heavy cast iron and steel. The wooden case is unfinished just like the mills of yesterday and may be left as is or finished to your taste. The complete mill measures 6" X 6" X 10" and is hopper-loaded through a slide-back cover on top. A decorative and useful kitchen appliance. Shipping weight 6 lb. 8 oz.

CD-5 Coffee Mill

$11.50

COFFEE BOILER

Not a new-fangled percolator with a basket, but an old-time boiler . . . fill the pot with water, throw in some coffee and heat. Has a very coarse strainer in the spout, but you'll probably want to pour your finished coffee through a finer strainer or some filter paper to remove the grounds. This mottled blue-black porcelain enamel beauty makes up to 24 great cups of steaming brew at a time. Shipping weight 2 lbs. 12 oz.

CO-6 Coffee Boiler

$5.95

STEAMARVEL

Save valuable vitamins and minerals by steam-cooking vegetables in this adjustable basket. The Steamarvel allows you to convert an ordinary covered pot, pan or pressure cooker (of practically any size) to a steamer. Made of best quality stainless steel, the basket cleans easily and folds up compactly for storage. Shipping weight 12 oz.

CD-29S Steamarvel

COFFEE MILL

This British-made coffee mill can be screwed to the wall or clamped to a table. The large, adjustable cones grind coffee beans at the rate of one pound in nine minutes. Decorative as well as practical, the cast-iron mill is finished in shiny black enamel (white inside hopper) with gold lettering and a red handle. 11" high. Shipping weight 4 lb. 12 oz.

CD-43 Coffee Mill $14.95

CANNING JAR REPRODUCTIONS

We've had many requests for old-time canning jars with glass lids and wire closures . . . and here they are at last. Although we hesitate to recommend these containers for processing food (can in them at your own risk), they make very attractive storage jars. A strong wire clamp holds the rounded glass top tightly against a removable, replaceable rubber ring in the mouth of the jar, resulting in an airtight seal. These reproduction containers make charming gifts when filled with your homemade goodies . . . or buy them already stuffed (see below).

PENNY CANDY JAR

Every country store used to have jars like this for dispensing penny candy and cookies. Designed for easy access to its contents, the container is just as appealing and useful in today's kitchen. (It also makes an excellent terrarium.) Molded from clear glass, the two-gallon jar has a metal lid with a red knob. Shipping weight 7 lb.

GJ-7 Penny Candy Jar $4.95

Utensils like this have been used for many years for making special kinds of pastries in the Old Country. Constructed of heavy, top-quality cast iron in a leading Norwegian factory, this cookie griddle has been tested in cooperation with Scandinavian housewives, and some of their recipes are included with the iron. Here's one from our own collection.

WAFFLE IRON

MRS. MARTINI'S BELGIUM COOKIES

Ingredients

- 1 lb. butter (or margarine)
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 2/3 cup brown sugar
- 9 eggs, well beaten
- 4 cups flour
- 1 Tbs. vanilla flavoring

Melt butter slowly over hot water, taking care not to brown it, then add to sugar. When butter mixture cools, stir in eggs. Add flour and vanilla and mix well. Heat cookie griddle over large electric burner on medium high heat, turning to heat both sides. Spoon in some dough, close the iron and return to the burner. The first side should brown quickly (about ten seconds). Turn the griddle and cook the second side until golden brown. Trial and error will soon determine the amount of dough to use and the cooking time.

CAST-IRON COOKWARE

Cast iron is practically indestructible. Furthermore, iron cookware conducts heat evenly, does not wear off in food, and is economical, it's as much at home in the fireplace or campfire as in the kitchen. We offer a few pieces which are ground and polished inside and are indicated by the letter "A" in the catalog number . . . the others have a plain finish. All are pre-seasoned for rust protection. Use unsalted shortening to coat the inside before and after the first few times the cooking utensils are used. Thereafter, no special care is necessary . . . just avoid harsh detergents (ordinary dishwashing liquids are acceptable), and never allow cast iron to remain wet.

PRESSURE CANNER

The only safe method of canning low-acid foods is with a pressure cooker. Our Presto cooker-canner is constructed of aluminum alloy with heat-resistant plastic handles. Temperature and pressure are registered by the easy-to-read steam gauge. An automatic air vent seals the canner when the air has been exhausted but will release excess steam if the vent pipe becomes clogged. Another regulator—also equipped with a safety valve—controls the amount of pressure that can build up in the canner. Holds 7 quart or 18 double-decked pint jars. Ship. wt. 16 lb. 2 oz.

ELECTRIC GRAIN MILL

Here's an efficient little electric mill that will stone-grind wheat to any degree of desired fineness right in your own kitchen. It was developed by some Mormon friends (who traditionally keep a large store of grain and other food in the event of an emergency), and it's simple and efficient in design and solid in construction. Measuring a handy 11-1/4" high by 7" wide and 11-3/4" from front to back, this is one grinder which will easily fit into any kitchen. The mill will grind wheat (or any grain) at the rate of about 15 pounds per hour, more or less depending on the coarseness desired. You can merely crack the grain or pulverize it into pastry flour . . . and the stones (which turn at 1,725 rpm's and become warm, but not hot enough to destroy nutrients or to affect flavor) grind the husks or bran much better than do metal burrs. The cabinet is attractively finished in a dark stain, and a colorful print cloth (held on by elastic and easily removed) helps to control dust at the opening where the flour falls from the grinder. Ship. wt. 29 lb.

FOOD SLICER

Early settlers in the mountains of North Carolina used a slicer like this. Its simple design is just as practical today, and it's made of first-quality materials to be every bit as serviceable as those of the 1800's. The wood is carefully selected and left unfinished (it should be oiled lightly before use). The high-quality carbon steel blade can be easily removed for sharpening. A simple adjustment of the cutting board controls the thicknesses of slices . . . you can cut anything from very thin potato chips to thick slabs of tomato. Materials and workmanship are guaranteed for one year. Ship. wt. 2 lb. 4 oz.

BREAD KNIFE

The long, thin blade with its serrated cutting edge slices cleanly through even the largest and freshest loaf of bread. Double rivets hold the pakkawood handle to the blade of vanadium stainless steel (not to be confused with a less expensive knife of the same style but lower quality steel.) Shipping weight 10 oz.

CT-12 Bread Knife $3.25

This handy gadget quickly renews the cutting edges on all your favorite knives, and is especially suited for hollow-ground blades. Knives are sharpened by drawing the cutting edge between the hardened steel wheels. Shipping weight 8 oz.

CD-12 Knife Sharpener $1.39

Used for centuries by the Chinese to conserve cooking space, fuel and time. The rounded bottom ensures even displacement of heat and when the Chinese practice of cutting food into bite-size pieces is followed, the wok cooks quickly, using a small amount of oil or liquid and preserving the natural fresh taste and nutritional value of the food. The utensil is ideal for camping and actually works best over the flame or glowing coals for which it was designed. An adaptor ring is used to support the wok over the burner of a conventional stove.

WOKCRAFT by Charles and Violet Schafer. During his journeys in China, Charles Schafer was greatly influenced by Chinese cooking methods. With the help of his wife, Violet, he has selected and tested a variety of recipes and presented them in terms Americans can easily understand. Included are hints on using a wok and other cooking tools, a list of basic ingredients and suitable substitutes. With this delightfully illustrated (by Win Ng) guide you'll soon become a wok master. 108 pages. $3.95 pp

HOW TO COOK AND EAT IN CHINESE by Buwei Yang Chao. This is the book to read to get a real feeling for Chinese cooking. Mrs. Chao not only tells us what and how to cook but why it's done that way. (She coined the term "stir-fry", now a familiar word to all who cook in Chinese.) Her book covers materials and utensils, methods of reading and lots of recipes interspersed with interesting explanations and insights into the culture of the frugal, ingenious people who have—over the centuries—developed a practical and wonderfully varied cuisine. 249 pages. $1.95pp

ELECTRIC BUTTER CHURN

Developed to meet the requirements of families living on electrified farms or home-steads, this churn will make delicious butter and buttermilk and can handle up to three quarts of heavy cream or whole milk. The powerful, slow-speed motor and new-design dasher prevents stalling when the cream thickens. The motor is housed in white-enameled steel, and the unit comes complete with a four-quart (three-quart churning capacity) replaceable glass jar. Guaranteed for one year.

WINEMAKING

Home winemaking is one of the fastest-growing hobbies in the United States. The complete novice can now make good quality wine right at home from fresh fruit, cider, frozen fruit juices or canned concentrates. Present-day techniques allow the home winemaker to predict how his wine will turn out, to produce favorite recipes easily and to eliminate spoilage.

NOTE: The U.S. Government permits heads of households to produce up to 200 gallons of wine per year as long as it is not intended for resale.

REDI-RESERVE

Low Moisture Foods

THE SENSIBLE WAY TO STORE FOODS ON A LONG-TERM BASIS: SHIPPING AND HANDLING WEIGHT IS REDUCED APPROXIMATELY 90%. BULK STORAGE SPACE IS REDUCED ALMOST 80%. WASTES ARE TOTALLY ELIMINATED. PRACTICAL AND CONVENIENT TO USE. TEN-TO-TWENTY-YEAR SHELF LIFE, AND THE TASTE IS PRETTY DARN GOOD TOO!

As we enter an age of shortages and unrest, it seems only good sense to "invest" in the best "insurance policy" of all . . . a ready supply of nourishing food that can tide an individual or a family over both large and small calamities: loss of income, strikes, fire, flood, breakdowns of distribution, civil disorders, etc.

MOTHER'S General Store is pleased to offer PERMA-PAK's well-known line of REDI-RESERVE survival foods for your consideration if you're ready to make such an investment. These are quality edibles with nearly all the moisture removed. The food is then packed in airtight cans, 98% of the oxygen is evacuated and an inert storage atmosphere introduced. Finally, a solder-seal on each container assures you of a worry-free shelf life of 10 or more years.

4-MONTH REDI-RESERVE PAK

This kit contains enough fruit (two servings/day), vegetables (3/day), protein (2/day), milk (two-thirds quart/day), grain (enough to provide one-half loaf of bread/day) and supplements to feed a family of four for 30 days or a single individual for four months. It provides approximately 2,100 calories per person per day and approximately 86 grams of protein per person per day.

Plastic lids are included so that you may cover cans once they've been opened and each 4-MONTH REDI-RESERVE PAK contains a copy of Culinary Capers, a book of over 235 tested recipes for Low Moisture Foods. A special instruction sheet is also provided to show food allocations in dry measure so that you may properly serve the contents of this REDI-RESERVE PAK over its designated four-month period. Shipping weight 205 pounds (shipped motor freight collect from Hendersonville, North Carolina).

RR-4 4-Month Pak

$219.50

12-MONTH REDI-RESERVE PAK

Two daily servings of fruit, three of vegetables, two of protein, two daily 8-ounce servings of milk supplements and enough wheat to provide one-half loaf of bread daily for each member of a family of four for approximately three months . . . or one adult for one full year. The 12-MONTH REDI-RESERVE PAK is designed to supply about 70 grams of protein and 1,535 calories—plus vitamins and minerals—daily. Plastic lids are included so that cans may be covered once they're opened and each 12-MONTH REDI-RESERVE PAK contains a book of over 235 tested recipes for Low Moisture Foods. A special instruction sheet also shows how to proportion foods so that you may properly serve this PAK's contents over its designated one-year period. Three meals a day for a year for only 47¢ per meal! Shipping weight 477 pounds (shipped motor freight collect from Hendersonville, North Carolina).

SURVIVAL GARDEN

Clyde Robin's Survival Garden consists of ten different varieties of seeds packaged in a vacuum-sealed can to prolong their life and vigor. The garden is designed to produce enough beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, peas, corn, onions, spinach, squash and tomatoes to sustain a good-sized family for four to five months. Store the container in a cool place and—according to its packer—the contents will keep for over 15 years without a significant drop in germination rate. Most of the seeds appear to be untreated.

THE "FREE HEAT" SOLARATOR

At last! A swimming pool heater (or cooler) that really works and doesn't cost an arm and a leg. The SOLARATOR is 24 square feet of high-strength PVC film (the same material used in good swimming pool liners). It has no moving parts and nothing to foul up. Simple as simple can be. Yet users report that a single pass of the sun (in Michigan) will warm a small pool as much as 30° F when this little marvel is in action. The SOLARATOR captures up to 8,840 BTU per hour! Easy to connect into any pool filter circuit. Run your filter pump during the day for heat... or at night "for cool".

PITCHFORKS

Our pitchforks are actually made by a centuries-old method, using green wood and hand tools. Steve Levine is the craftsman, and he turns out a beautiful product. First he fells a tree (white oak, red oak or hickory), then splits the best sections of the trunk with wedges and sledges. The pieces are further split with froe and mallet and carved into pitchfork size on a shaving horse with drawknife and spokeshave. The tines are cut apart and spread with dowels. Then the wood is allowed to dry in a bending frame, "burnt" to strengthen it and to make it keep its bend, sanded, scraped and finished with resins and oils. Made with two to five tines, the forks with fewer tines are used for pitching hay while those with more are suitable for handling finer compost, manure, shavings, etc. Steve prefers that people actually use the forks, but folks have been known to hang them over the fireplace. OILSTONES

GENUINE ARKANSAS OILSTONES

There are two types of oilstones: (1) artificial stones, such as carborundum and aloxite, which are made in electric furnaces and (2) natural oilstones crafted from a rare substance known as "novaculite", a silica deposit found only in the Ouachita Mountains in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The stone is believed to have been formed nearly 400 million years ago and was first discovered by the American Indians whose early efforts to quarry and make arrowheads from the hard silica date back thousands of years. Present mining efforts started in the early 1800's. The superior honing and abrasive qualities of novaculite are equaled only by diamonds (which are used to cut the whetstones).

Sharpening stones are kept wet with oil to prevent the pores from becoming clogged with particles of metal . . . a clogged stone loses much of its cutting ability. A very light machine oil should be used, and stones should be washed and dried before storing. An old oilstone can be restored by soaking in an oil solvent or heating in the oven and wiping clean while still hot. Natural oilstones are expensive, but with proper care they will last a lifetime.

ARKANSAS HONING KIT

A great gift kit containing two genuine Arkansas Oilstones—one hard (2-7/8" x 1-3/16" x 1/4") and one soft (4-5/16" x 1-9/16" x 3/8")—along with a 4-ounce can of honing oil and cleaner all in an attractive plastic storage box. Shipping weight 1 lb. 12 oz.

PURPLE MARTINS

The current popularity of the purple martin is due largely to the research and promotion carried on by the people of Griggsville, Illinois. As a result of their work, Griggsville's Trio Manufacturing Company developed a system of martin housing which virtually eliminates the problems of heat, parasites and competition with other birds that can result in great losses of young martins. Here are the advantages of modern Trio aluminum houses over those made of wood or gourds:

1. Scientific cross ventilation and heat-reflective aluminum construction prevents heat buildup which can cause young birds to suffocate or leave the nest prematurely.
2. Non-porous metal is more resistant to the harboring of parasites.
3. Lightweight aluminum houses can be easily raised and lowered to clean out old nesting material and evict sparrows.
4. Starlings will not nest in the bright, shiny interiors.
5. Guardrails protect young birds from falling.
6. Winter doorstops keep sparrows out until the martins arrive.
7. Individual hinged compartment doors allow for easy cleaning.
8. Entrances are keyhole-shaped, as recommended by naturalists, for attracting purple martins.
9. Green and white baked enamel finish never needs painting.

USE IT JUST ONCE... LASTS 50,000 MILES!

MOTALOY

Actually
METALPLATES
Worn Engine Parts ...
WHILE YOU DRIVE!

THE ONLY PRODUCT OF ITS KIND IN ALL
THE WORLD!

Of all the fuel additives and engine accessories being touted to today's motorists, we've found only one—MOTALOY—that really works.

MOTALOY is a compounded alloy of nine antifriction metals and elements. It's sold in sets of four pellets that are simply dropped—all at once—into the fuel tank of any car, tractor or truck gasoline engine. As the pellets slide around in the tank, microscopic colloidal particles of MOTALOY become suspended in the gasoline and are carried to the vehicle's engine where they're activated by the flash fire of combustion. The activated MOTALOY then works as a catalyst that dissolves the carbon accumulations in the engine's combustion chamber and allows it to pass out the power plant's exhaust.

As the internal chambers and parts of a MOTALOY-treated engine are cleansed, the special alloys in the MOTALOY formulation also begin to plate the working surfaces of the piston rings, cylinder walls, valve seats and other worn parts of the power plant's combustion chamber. This combined cleansing-plating action gradually raises the engine's compression and reduces fuel and oil consumption. Obviously this treatment will not repair major oil leaks or mechanical difficulties . . . but it will give an internal combustion engine a "ring and valve job" inexpensively and easily while the power plant is operating.

MOTALOY'S benefits are most dramatically evident when the pellets are dropped in the fuel tank of the average old "clunker" used car. Within 500 to 1,000 miles, the automobile will begin to run quieter, burn less gasoline and oil, exhibit more "pep" and—in general—feel "five years younger". New cars (which are not as worn or carboned up) will demonstrate the same kind of improvement on a lesser scale after being driven only 200-300 miles with the tablets. In either case, a single MOTALOY treatment is good for up to 50,000 miles.

Yes, but does it really work? Well, we recently had a 1960 Studebaker Lark that was burning oil and so sluggish that we had to shift down to second to get up one particular fairly gentle (but long) hill. One thousand miles after adding the MOTALOY pellets to the car's gas tank, that little Lark was smoking noticeably less and we were breezing right up the same hill in high gear. We'd say that MOTALOY works just fine.

If you've got a tractor, truck or automobile suffering from normal wear (or you want to protect a brand new vehicle from same), you might order out a MOTALOY treatment and see for yourself. It's guaranteed . . . and just might save you a $100 valve and ring job. Shipping weight 4 oz.

HIGH WHEELER BICYCLE

It is our pleasure to offer here the highest grade, best designed, most rigidly constructed high wheeler bicycle on the market. This vehicle is strictly high class... recognized everywhere as being one of the very best made in this country. Its construction is superior in every way. Many of its features are deserving of very careful consideration on your part: The frame is built of 1-1/2" tubing, all wire welded to ensure the greatest strength and wearing qualities at every required point. The front wheel is a splendid 48" in diameter with 72 rustless spokes. The black, baked enamel finish and gray cap rubber tires cannot be excelled. Included in the price is a genuine antique brass horn of the bugle type which gives a deep melodious alarm that can be heard at an extreme distance. Just think of it... this stately velocipede has absolutely maintained its standing since the early days of bicycling. If you want a very fine vehicle—something way out of the ordinary—choose one that has stood the test of time. Send in your order today for a handmade, exact copy of the 1880's Penny-Farthing. It will be sent to you by modern, motor conveyance—freight collect—from Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Some Golden Rules for Bicycle Riders:

"NEVER turn the wheel of the bicycle from you when the machine has a tendency to fall, but always in the direction in which it is falling."

"NEVER ride in the early morning fasting; a little rum and milk, with an egg beaten up in it, is an excellent sustenance."

"NEVER fail if you are in a strange country to ascertain the character of the roads, from natives of the district, before starting."

"NEVER fail to lean well back on your Bicycle in going down hill."

"KNICKERBOCKERS are the best nether garments to ride in, and moderately thick boots are better than thin ones."

No lights, no batteries, no extra gimmicks... just wood and a child's imagination. That's what Bill Muller's playthings are all about. Each of the child-powered toys turned out by skilled craftsmen is made of select pine, birch and maple woods. The sturdy parts are hand assembled and held together with wooden pegs and dowels... even the wheels have a dowel through wheel and axle. There's not a nail, screw, staple or piece of plastic to be found in these rugged toys. Nor is there paint or artificial finish on them because Bill Muller wants his toys to taste as good as they work and look. And they work and look pretty darned good.
