

Gary —

These copies you can keep.

After much hassles, this is part of many documents rec'd from Archives.

All I got were Xerox copies of photos. I'm seeing how to get copies made.

Photos taken by CAPTAIN GEORGE BENNETT of 196th Bde who conducted a quick inquiry immediately following attack. These photos used heavily in subsequent investigations.

Happy New Year!

- (1)--A large boulder approximately 100 meters South of the LZ Mary Ann perimeter, the boulder had a hole behind it in which several RPG rounds, an AK-47 with two loaded magazines, CHICOMs, bang-a-lore torpedoes, satchel charges, and a new pair of Chinese made insulated wire cutters. Two blood trails led away from the cache site.
- (2)--Another view of the boulder showing the proximity to the bunker line of Mary Ann.
- (3)--A view from the boulder towards the bunker line. Items found in the cavity are circled in the foreground.
- (4)--Another view from the area of the boulder towards the bunker line.
- (5)--A view of the cavity behind the boulder after a hand grenade was thrown in it to clear any booby traps. One RPG round failed to ignite and remains in the hole.
- (6)--Items that were hidden in the cavity behind the rock. Circled is the pair of new Chinese insulated wire cutters.
- (7)--One of the staging area of sappers. The piece of tin had no other apparent function. (Information according to Lt. Good) Tin may have been over looked or may have been blown there during attack.
- (8)--A claymore that was in the perimeter wire, but sappers cut the wire. Perimeter wire was cut and sand bags used to negotiate the wire. All items mentioned are circled.
- (9)--A close up of the cut wire on the claymore.
- (10)--A view of one of the main points of entry into Mary Ann through the wire. Sappers used bamboo to tie the wire back and make the opening. The ties are circled.
- (11)--Another view of the wire shows a bang-a-lore torpedo which was not detonated and a sandbag used to hold the wire.
