

January 19, 2001

Dear Mr. Col. Metzner:

Thank you for taking time to meet with us on Tuesday January 16, 2001. I found it very interesting to learn more about you and the Vietnam War.

The most exciting thing I learned was that when you are at war there are many different programs to help people around you. It was very thoughtful of you to talk to us about your experience being an advisor during the war. You had a very important job as an advisor and I am glad to say I know more about what advisors were in charge of. I really liked your credentials they show a lot of power and authority, you earned it. If I was in war office for 36 and a half years and was an advisor for 4 tours over a period of 7 years, I would wear my credentials as much as possible. I was especially impressed that you went to WW2 when you were only 17. I am very proud of you and the other soldiers/advisors who risked their lives fighting for our country.

Again thank you for your time, you and many other men have made a difference in the country I live in today.

Sincerely,

Leann Battrouch
