

Ed-

Thank you so much for coming in to talk to my students. As much time as I spend telling students about the war, there is something missing because I wasn't there. The information you presented to the students was very valuable. As your note indicated, the pacification program was, and still is, often forgotten. Since Hollywood is the main instrument of education for students- it was nice for them to hear what was really going on in Vietnam.

It was really generous of you to leave two copies of your book. A couple of students who didn't get a copy wanted to know where to buy a copy.

Thanks again!
