OBJECTIVES: To fund self-help development projects and disaster relief, and also to prepare and distribute educational materials for people in the U.S. on the issue of development and hunger; to campaign to end U.S. trade embargo on Viet Nam.

HISTORY OF INVOLVEMENT IN VIET NAM: Oxfam America made its first assessment visit to Viet Nam in 1982. On that visit staff identified a range of projects focusing on small-scale agriculture, agricultural training, and health. Under the strict embargo on humanitarian assistance in place at the time, however, only the health projects received a license from the U.S. government under the Trading with the Enemy Act. In response to the license denials Oxfam America concentrated its efforts related to Viet Nam over the next five years on changing U.S. government policy which prohibited even small-scale assistance to the critical agricultural sector. With the change in policy in 1987-88 allowing NGO work which meets "basic human needs", Oxfam America reactivated its program in Viet Nam. It is currently working both in northern and southern regions of the country with assistance concentrated on food production, agricultural research, afforestation, and credit for women.

BUDGET: FY 1989: US$ 200-250,000

FUNDING SOURCES: Primarily from private individuals; small amounts from family foundations and corporations.

777 United Nations Plaza
New York, NY 10017
Contact Person: Jake Pfohl

OBJECTIVES: PACT is a consortium of NGO's from the U.S., Africa, Asia and Latin America. It was founded in 1972 to promote NGO collaboration, strengthen field programs, build capabilities of indigenous organizations and provide skill training and technical services to achieve people-centered sustainable development. PACT hopes to assist the NGO's in meeting Viet Nam's humanitarian and developmental needs.

HISTORY OF INVOLVEMENT IN VIET NAM: PACT began exploring ways of assisting NGO's working in Viet Nam after the Stony Point Conference organized by the Interagency Task Force on Vietnam in December 1989. During PACT consultant's visit to Viet Nam in February 1990, PACCOM (People's Aid Coordinating Committee) was identified as the contact point for NGO's desiring to work in Viet Nam. To enhance PACCOM capability in collaborating with international NGO's and in interpreting community needs to these organizations, PACT sponsored the visit of PACCOM Director to the U.S., in September-October 1990. Through meetings at U.S. NGO headquarters PACCOM Director gained greater understanding of the diversity of their objectives and methods of operation.

OBJECTIVES: The Committee, composed of academics, physicians, and scholars from universities, has been one of the principal conduits for contact between American scientific and academic communities and the people of Viet Nam. One of the Committee's priorities has been to support projects and programs that empower people to pursue their own development rather than becoming passively dependent on infusions of financial and material aid from external sources.

HISTORY OF INVOLVEMENT IN VIET NAM: Founded in 1978, the Committee was originally aimed at facilitating exchanges and joint research between U.S. scientists and physicians and their Vietnamese counterparts. Later it expanded its area of focus to include assisting gifted Vietnamese graduate students to obtain additional academic training in the U.S., providing material assistance to scientific laboratories and hospitals, and support for cultural and social programs.

GOALS: To improve understanding between the people of the U.S. and those of Viet Nam, Laos, and Cambodia through academic, cultural and other exchanges. To bring the perspective of non-governmental advocacy into private and public policy discussions. To foster communication and cooperation among American NGOs active in Indochina. To provide a channel for small-scale humanitarian assistance.

HISTORY OF INVOLVEMENT IN VIET NAM: USIRP, organized in 1985, is devolved from peace education work of the American Friends Service Committee (1972-1982). It has sent nine academic exchange delegations to Indochina, hosted the visit of economist Nguyen Xuan Oanh, organized a summer program to study Vietnamese language in Ha Noi and assisted Vietnamese undertaking advanced English and Ph.D. study in the U.S.

A primary purpose of USIRP delegations is to introduce new agencies to Viet Nam and assist them in establishing their own programs of cooperation. Trip participants from the following institutions have undertaken follow-up activities: Social Science Research Council, William Joiner Center, Indochina Arts Project, Volunteers in Asia, Smithsonian Institution, Georgetown University, University of Puget Sound, State University of New York at Buffalo, University of Pittsburgh, Southwest Missouri State University. USIRP also assisted Colby and Calvin Colleges to organize student-faculty study tours.

Humanitarian assistance has been provided to Bach Mai Hospital in Hanoi and the Rehabilitation Center for Undernourished Orphans in Ho Chi Minh City. USIRP publishes Indochina Interchange, a quarterly newsletter covering programs of aid to and exchange with Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.
