Dear Bill:

I was most surprised and pleased by your letter of July 8. I never expected any acknowledgment beyond the splendid hospitality you provided in Philadelphia. More important, however, I was pleased to learn that your son had escaped unscathed from his ordeal. I can imagine how you feel about that.

Please give my regards to any of our classmates with whom you are in touch, and I look forward to seeing you again one of these days.

All the best.

Sincerely,
