Dear Sirs:

My brother, John G. Williams of Philadelphia, has told me of having participated in a special program which you conduct which trains people to be better anglers. I generally understand from him that you have a weekend program and could also make recommendations or arrangements for actual fishing in the United States or Canada thereafter.

If such were possible, I would be most interested in attending your program sometime this summer and then going on to Canada or wherever you would recommend. I am predominately interested in dry fly fishing for trout and looking for a place where you can drop a fly on the surface of the water and observe a three-pound trout gobble it down. Perhaps you can put me on the right track.

Hoping for the favor of an early reply, I am

Sincerely,

Ogden Williams
