Dear Oggie:

Thank you for your letter of March 10, which advises me that provided something interesting could be offered you would be willing to return to Saigon. I am glad to know that at least one of the "old pros" is still interested in this unusual but fascinating situation.

I must ask your indulgence for a week or two while I cast about for something suitable. As you know my primary job at the moment is getting rid of people rather than bringing them in. However, your qualifications are of the highest order and I am definitely interested in trying to find something agreeable to us both. In summary, I can't promise but I am giving it the old college try.

Best regards,
