"That's the message you, as one of the Nation's thousands of motorists, will be getting as you throng the highways for this year's New Year's holiday. To help insure that drivers heed the advice, some 10,000 restaurants in every part of the country will be serving free "safety coffee" during peak traffic hours during New Year's holiday. Participating restaurants will display the following hexagonal sign reading, "Stop Here" Free Coffee, Safety break. Most of the restaurants on super highways will be serving free coffee. Stop whenever you see the sign. If you don't see it, stop anyway. The rest will help keep you alert and alive", unquote.

4. A discussion of safety at home for the Holidays was held.

5. Meeting was adjourned at 0940.
