Professionals Enhancing the Mission

Air Force Worldwide Multimedia Business Meeting Attendees:

Welcome! The theme - "Professionals Enhancing the Mission" - is appropriate for the multimedia operations manned around the world. Part of the week is filled with discussion/training on marketing the services we offer to meet mission requirements. Professionals from industry will relay ideas for you to enhance marketing your centers products. There will also be sessions on updating the strategic statement which will give us a vision for the upcoming years.

Through your efforts, multimedia information technology is being used to improve mission effectiveness. Robust technical capabilities, multimedia information systems, methods, and components influence every Air Force activity. This technology is a major component of most weapon systems with applications ranging from internal equipment control mechanisms to communicating animated plans and results. Multimedia information technology is integral to our intelligence, command and control, combat readiness, and support functions.

Once again, we welcome you to the 2004 Air Force Worldwide Multimedia Business Meeting. We have an exciting and busy agenda planned with more than thirty vendors. We hope and expect that this meeting will be well worth your time.

Ray

Jeffrey W. White
Executive Director
Defense Media Center

Mr. Jeffrey W. White is the Executive Director of the Defense Media Center (DMC), which delivers stateside commercial radio and television programming services that provide "a touch of home" to U.S. service members and their families serving overseas. The DMC is an essential component to the Department of Defense (DoD) internal communications (IC) mission and reports to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs (Internal Communications).

Mr. White served in the United States Air Force for 30 years in a variety of stateside and overseas assignments, retiring at the rank of Colonel. He has extensive background in managing visual information, combat camera, and public affairs activities providing internal communication services and products in support of the Department of Defense mission.

Mr. White directed public communications projects for the Secretary of the Air Force for Public Affairs and commanded combat camera units at the detachment and squadron levels. He has held visual information jobs at Nellis, Vandenberg, and Norton Air Force bases. While at Norton, he directed the USAF television production program and pioneered the development and implementation of new digital imaging technologies to better support Air Force still and motion media requirements.

He served as Director of the Defense Visual Information Center (DVIC) after being assigned to the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service (AFRTS) Broadcast Center, where he led the team that transitioned AFRTS to an all-digital, multi-channel satellite broadcast network.

Before retiring from the Air Force, Mr. White was assigned as Commander of Pacific Stars and Stripes based in Tokyo, Japan. The organization provided a First Amendment-protected daily newspaper to a readership population of approximately 180,000 military, DoD civilians, and family members in the Asia-Pacific region in support of DoD IC policy goals.

Mr. White holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Cinema and Photography from Southern Illinois University, a Master of Fine Arts degree in Cinema and Television from the University of Southern California, a Master of Arts degree in Communication from the University of Northern Colorado, and an MBA in Finance and Marketing from National University.
