POW/MIA BRACELETS

A note to everyone who wears a POW/MIA bracelet: if you have not already done so, please take the time to write to the Casualty Office and ask for information on the POW or MIA whose bracelet you wear. Writing this letter will have two benefits: you will feel an even closer bond with the person whose name is inscribed on your bracelet, and the government, through the Casualty Office, will know that there are people who care deeply about the POW's and MIA's. Please be sure to mention that you wear the bracelet of the POW/MIA you are inquiring about. The addresses of the Casualty Office are:

SOME GAVE ALL...

*When one American
is not worth the effort
to be found, we as Americans have lost.*

Dudley Farquhar is a Viet Nam veteran with a mission - to involve the citizens of America in the struggle for a complete and accurate accounting of all our Prisoners of War and Missing in Action in Southeast Asia.

While living in Ipswich, Massachusetts in 1981, Dudley learned that another Viet Nam veteran from that same town, Captain Arthur Hardy, had been missing in action in Laos since 1972. With fellow veterans and classmates of Captain Hardy, Dudley joined OPERATION TRIUMPH. What began as an awareness campaign in a small New England town has blossomed into a one-man distributorship of POW/MIA related products across all of America and into Canada. As we enter 1990, OPERATION TRIUMPH has been responsible for flying over 2,000 POW flags all over the United States. Through his association with numerous VFWs, DAVs, American Legion and AMVETS chapters, along with the Massachusetts Vigil Society, Dudley continues to speak out publicly for a UNIFIED effort on behalf of our missing men.

As a not-for-profit corporation, OPERATION TRIUMPH has been able to donate thousands of dollars to the National League of Families, a national, not-for-profit organization of family members who have yet to learn the fate of their loved ones.

Over the years Dudley has designed many different t-shirts, pins and bumper stickers. His latest creation, the 3-FLAG PIN (see enclosed) is a symbol of individual state pride as well as unity for the common cause of POW/MIA. Now available in all 50 state flags, the pin was even made up as a float for a recent POW/MIA awareness parade in Indiana.

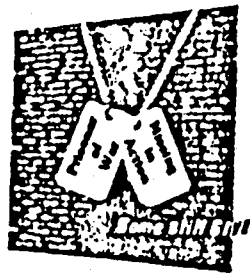

Through public speaking engagements, state fairs, veterans groups' events, and an annual pilgrimage to the "WALL" in Washington D.C. with the Massachusetts Vigil Society, Dudley remains committed to keeping POW/MIA at the forefront of the American conscience.

The remains of Captain Arthur Hardy were respectfully laid to rest in his hometown on November 5, 1983. His family is at peace - over 2,300 more families still wait. . .

OUR UNITED EFFORTS ARE NEEDED NOW - MORE THAN EVER.

THE THREE FLAG PIN

We would like to see each and every state in the Union have their own THREE FLAG PIN. It is a symbol of pride in the men from your state who are still missing or being held prisoner.

If all 50 states had their own THREE FLAG PIN, it would present a very powerful image - that we stand united in our belief and common goal - to bring all the man back home - and bring some peace to families across this land.
The THREE FLAG PIN is also a vehicle by which your state can do some all-important fundraising for your local POW chapters or wherever you determine the money would be used most effectively.

Let us join together - North, South, East and West - to let America know we have not forgotten our POW-MIA's.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

D.B.F.

THE THREE FLAG PIN

In 1986 Dudley Farquhar, a Viet Nam veteran active in the POW/MIA issue, designed the "Three Flag Pin" for his home state of Massachusetts. The pin represents not only national and state pride, but unity for the POW/MIA issue across the country. What better way to show support for the men missing from your state than to have your state represented on its own Three Flag Pin.

SOME GAVE ALL...

*When one American
is not worth the effort
to be found, we as Americans have lost.*

2,304 Americans remain missing or unaccounted for as a result of the conflict in Southeast Asia. A breakdown by country of loss follows: Vietnam (North - 598; South - 1,081) 1,679; Laos - 537; Cambodia - 82; China (territorial waters) - 6.

President Bush has publicly stated his Administration's commitment and pledged to "do all a government can" to resolve the POW/MIA issue. Highest priority is placed on resolving the live prisoner issue which is at the forefront of negotiations and the intelligence effort. Conclusive evidence of the existence of live prisoners has not yet been obtained, but information available precludes ruling out that possibility. The U.S. Government operates under the assumption that some Americans are still held and has pledged to take decisive action should any report prove true. Over 100 firsthand live sighting reports are under continuing priority investigation.

Progress in Vietnam has increased since General John W. Vessey, Jr. (USA-Retired) was named special POW/MIA Emissary to Hanoi by President Reagan in February 1987 and reappointed by President Bush in January 1989. Since September 1988, numerous joint investigations have taken place in Vietnam, and several technical meetings have been held, most recently in mid-January. The Vietnamese have repatriated 230 remains, 98 of which have thus far been identified. Many of the earlier turn-overs included a high percentage of SEA mongoloid remains; however, the percentage of identifiable US remains appears to have increased.

There has been a significant increase in joint US/Lao operations this year, including agreements in early November to increase the level of cooperation. Consultations recently concluded resulted in agreement by the Lao Government to greatly expand joint activities, including for the first time joint investigation of discrepancy cases and joint surveys of reported grave sites as part of the year-round program for 1990.

Only Cambodia has not cooperated. The US Government has made clear to officials in Phnom Penh their willingness to unilaterally send an Air Force plane and repatriation team to pick up any remains in their possession. Thus far, there has been no response.

The US Government is seeking the fullest possible accounting. It is obvious from a review of statistical data that many will unfortunately never be recovered; over 400 individuals were lost over water. Another 450 individual loss locations are unknown. While recognizing these statistical realities, the US Government also recognizes that full and open cooperation from the governments concerned could account for many missing Americans.
