Fire from the Sky: A Navy Helicopter Squadron in Vietnam

RICHARD KNOTT
Adjunct Ramsey Fellow
Aeronautics Division

Wednesday, Jan. 19, 2000
10:00 AM
Director's Conference Room

Capt. Knott, USN (ret.), will discuss the application of rotary-wing air support of U.S. and South Vietnamese river forces in the Mekong Delta—in particular Helicopter Light Attack Squadron 3 (HAL-3), a unit unique to the U.S. Navy. Known as “The Seawolves,” the combat exploits of this squadron are legendary in the annals of U.S. naval aviation history.

All staff members, docents and volunteers are invited to attend. For further information, contact Laurenda Patterson, 786-2110, or Michael Neufeld, 633-9706. Non-Smithsonian visitors wishing to attend please contact Laurenda Patterson to make arrangements for admission.
