ELMO R. ZUMWALT, JR.,

U.S. Navy, Retired

Elmo R. Zumwalt

Admiral Zumwalt was born in San Francisco in 1920 and grew up in Tulare, Calif. He was valedictorian of his Tulare High School class of 1938, and a cum laude graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy in 1942. He is married to the former Mouza Coutelais-du-Roche of Harbin, Manchuria, and has two sons and two daughters. (His eldest son, Elmo Russell Zumwalt, III, Esq., a naval officer in Vietnam, died of Agent Orange-related cancer in August 1988.)

At age 44, Admiral Zumwalt became the youngest officer ever promoted to rear admiral. At age 49, he became the youngest four-star admiral in U.S. history. He was promoted over 35 senior admirals to become the youngest man ever to serve as Chief of Naval Operations.

Admiral Zumwalt initiated wide-ranging reforms in a dramatic effort to revitalize the Navy. His famous "Z-grams" modernized the Navy and made Navy careers much more attractive. Time hailed Admiral Zumwalt as "the Navy's most popular leader since World War II." As the Navy's senior officer, he increased the fighting capabilities of the dwindling United States fleet by outfitting remaining ships with more sophisticated and efficient weapons.

Admiral Zumwalt was commander of U.S. Naval Forces in Vietnam from 1968-1970. In 1976, he ran as the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate in Virginia.

Admiral Zumwalt was a Governor of the American Stock Exchange from 1979 until 1985 and is the author of two books. On Watch (1976) recounts his Navy career and warns Americans about the Soviet naval threat. My Father, My Son (1986) was co-authored by his late son and is an account of their Vietnam experiences and the tragedy that resulted.

The citation awarding him the Presidential Medal of Freedom states: The President of the United States of America awards this Presidential Medal of Freedom to Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt, Jr., USN, (Ret.). In both wartime and peacetime, Elmo Zumwalt has exemplified the ideal of service to our nation. A distinguished veteran of World War II and Korea, he served as commander of U.S. Naval Forces in Vietnam and rose to become the Navy's youngest Chief of Naval Operations in 1970. As CNO, he worked vigorously to improve our Sailors' quality of life and devoted himself to eliminating discrimination in the Navy. In a life touched by tragedy, he became a great champion of veterans afflicted by ailments related to service in Vietnam. For his dedication, valor, and compassion, we salute Bud Zumwalt.
